New Law Limits Presidential Tenure

Taft Insists Allies Guarantee Army To Defend West Europe Before U. S. Sends Any Troops

Demands American Share In Peacetime Be Subject To Congressional Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Sen. Taft demanded today that the Allies as a whole guarantee an army strong enough to defend Western Europe before the United States sends any troops.

The Ohio Republican also insisted that the American share in peacetime be subject to congressional approval.

Taft sprang his proposals as amendments to the administration's troops-for-Europe resolution which would give advance Senate approval to sending American foot soldiers to join the North Atlantic defense force.

The Senator, testifying before the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees, declared the proportion of U. S. and European divisions in the international force under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower should be settled publicly.

Administration Plan Prepared

The chairmen of the two committees, Sens. Connally (D-Tex) and Russell (D-Ga), have prepared the administration resolution which would call for a constant presidential check on the European contribution to the defense undertaking.

Taft, GOP policy leader in the Senate, gave his views after John Sherman Cooper, Republican adviser to the State Department, had declared Congress should not throw restrictions around the sending of troops. To do so, Cooper said, might kill off the confidence of European nations in their own defense and might lead to "the greatest surrender in history."

Taft declared that the force now in sight for Western Europe—37 divisions "as far as anybody can judge" is inadequate.

Includes Six U. S. Divisions

This includes six American divisions, two of them already in Europe and four more to be sent later.

Taft said that if the United States puts too much effort into supplying ground troops for Europe it will fail to build up its air and sea strength.

"We will fail to defend Alaska—in fact, apparently we are already prepared to surrender the western part of Aslaska—when we should be undertaking, in case of war, to occupy ourselves some portion of the Siberian wilds," he declared.

This was an obvious reference to a Senate committee's assertion that parts of Alaska could not be held in event of all-out war.

Act Unconstitutional, Supreme Court Rules

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — A Wisconsin "public utility anti-strike law" — similar to laws in a number of other states — was declared unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court.

The Wisconsin law, in forbidding strikes on public utilities, required compulsory arbitration of labor-management disputes that threatened to interrupt essential public service. The 6-3 court decision throwing it out held that it encroached on federal law, notably the "national emergency strike" clauses of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Pa. Has Similar Law

The National Labor Relations Act of 1935 (Wagner Act) and the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 (Taft-Hartley) "are the supreme law of the land," the court held.

"This court must take the comprehensive and valid federal legislation as enacted and declare invalid state regulation which impinges on that legislation," it added.

Laws dealing with strikes in public utilities have been enacted by Florida, Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

In other actions today, the court:

Cigaret Tax Law Upheld

Affirmed a decision which upheld a federal law designed to help states collect taxes on out-of-state cigaret purchases. The law requires that when a seller ships cigarets to a buyer in another state, the seller must make a monthly report to the tobacco tax authorities of that state. The idea is to enable state and local authorities to check against taxes claimed to be due.

Shell Explodes, 22 Soldiers Hurt

CAMP ROBERTS, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP) — Twenty-two Camp Roberts soldiers were injured here today when a 60-mm mortar shell was discharged accidentally in the training area.

Nineteen of those injured required hospitalization.

First Lt. Edward F. Stewart, commanding Company "C" of the 1401st Engineer Combat Battalion, said seven soldiers were hurt seriously. Five of these were reported on the critical list.

Stewart described the accident:

"The company was marching in an extended platoon formation through a training area in the East Garrison section of the camp, when one of the men picked up what appeared to be a dud.

"He was warned to put it down and one way or another threw or dropped it on the ground.

"As he did so the shell exploded."

Vlado Clementis Arrested As Spy In Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 27 (AP)—Dr. Vlado Clementis, (above), Communist former foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, was reported by a Prague newspaper early today to be under arrest on spy charges.

Clementis, ousted from the Foreign Ministry last March because he had "lost faith in Stalin," had been missing from his home since late January. He was also missing from his office at the state bank, where he headed the securities department, and there was no official disclosure of his whereabouts.

Mlada, a Prague youth newspaper, early today said Clementis' arrest had been announced last Wednesday at a meeting here of the central committee of the Czechoslovak Communist Party.

Bradley Reveals Over 250,000 Yanks In Korea

Air Force, Navy Not Included In Figure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley disclosed today that well over 250,000 Americans are fighting in Korea "for this nation and our position in world affairs."

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff used 250,000 as a round figure "for security reasons" when he testified before the House Armed Services Committee.

Later he told reporters that it did not include the Air Force fighting over Korea or the Navy fighting off the shores of the peninsula. Recently Navy sources said 90,000 officers and men were engaged in Korean waters. The Air Force has not disclosed its figures, but its strength is known to be considerable.

The committee is working on a universal military training bill, and has tentatively approved induction of youths at 18½ with the understanding that they will not be sent overseas until they are 19 years old.

Bradley was unable to give the committee any assurance that the need for military manpower would decline in the foreseeable future.

"Despite the peace talk going around, we're in just as much of an emergency as we were six months ago," he said. "We musn't be lulled into false security."

The General urged 27 months of active service for inductees. (The committee is thinking in terms of 26 months). He told the committee that of the 21 months now required about eight are taken up with basic training, leave, travel and service processes like induction. Any extension of the 13 months left for training with a unit, he said, would aid materially.

One principal aim now, the General said, was a method of troop rotation to relieve battle-weary fighters in Korea. He added a scheme would be put into effect as soon as manpower requirements are met.

Later in the hearing Gen. Bradley said he was "sorry this question of individual replacements has come up." "Our people in Korea will hear of it and get impatient," he said. "But we hope to start on a replacement plan on a very small scale in the near future."

Possible Discovery Of New "Minor Planet" Announced

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Possible discovery of a new and speedy "minor planet" with unusual characteristics was announced today by a naval astronomer.

Disclosing photographic evidence of a previously-unobserved celestial "object," Dr. William Markowitz said it is tentatively presumed to be an asteroid, or minor planet.

He declared it may be somewhere between 50 and 100 miles in diameter and may have an orbit that would eventually bring it within 245,000 miles of the earth.

He emphasized, however, that at least one more observation of the object — scheduled for tonight — would be necessary to compute the orbit, or pathway.

If it turned out that the orbit would come within 245,000 miles of the earth in its swing around the sun, it would be the first asteroid of appreciable size to come that close, Markowitz said. The previous record is about one million miles.

Nevada 36th State To Okay Amendment

Does Not Apply To President Truman

By TOM WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The 22nd amendment, barring future presidents from serving more than two elective terms or more than 10 years in the White House, became the law of the land last night.

Utah and Nevada—the 35th and 36th states to approve the amendment—voted for ratification last night, Nevada completing action at 7:30 p. m. (EST).

A three-fourths majority, 36 states, was needed to make the amendment effective.

It will not apply to President Truman, who was specifically exempted when Congress submitted the proposed amendment to the states in 1947.

The last amendment to the Constitution—the 21st—repealed prohibition. It became effective Dec. 5, 1933. Utah was the 36th state to ratify that one.

Nevada's lawmakers stood by to grab for their state the distinction of making the 2nd amendment a part of the Constitution.

The Nevada Senate voted 16 to 1 for ratification minutes after learning that Utah had voted to approve.

The proposal to ratify cleared the Nevada Assembly, 29 to 12, early in the afternoon.

The vote in the Utah Senate was 14 to 8. The House already had passed the measure.

The proposed amendment has been kicking around in state legislatures since March, 1947, but only 24 states had voted to ratify until late last month.

Ratification was completed with a rush.

Other states voting to ratify in the last few weeks have been Indiana, Montana, Idaho, New Mexico, Wyoming, Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee, Texas, and North Carolina.

Congress specified the amendment must be ratified by March, 1954, to become effective.

Nevada's quick action nosed out Minnesota, which had hoped to be the 36th state to ratify.

Acting under a suspension of the rules, the Minnesota Legislature had placed a joint resolution to ratify ahead of other bills and scheduled a vote for 4 p. m. (EST) today.

Outside the legal phraseology, here's what the amendment provides:

That a president may serve only two elected terms. A man who served up to two years of another president's unexpired term could still serve an additional eight years.

But a vice persident succeeding to the presidency and serving more than two years before the term expired would be eligible for election only once.

Steelman Enters Railroad Dispute

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The White House took a hand in the deadlocked wage dispute of a million non-operating railroad workers today as another rail union chief accused Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman of trying to "Chisel in" on their settlement.

Steelman invited the negotiators for carriers and 15 non-operating unions to the White House for a series of separate conferences. Press Secretary Joseph H. Short said the move was suggested by the National Mediation Board. It has been trying for three weeks to break the stalemate over wages between the carriers and the non-operating groups, which consists of maintenance men, clerks, etc.

A last-minute request by the carriers that the non-operating unions agree to a moratorium on demanding any changes in rules governing working conditions threw the negotiations into a tailspin Saturday night.

Steelman, who got out of a sickbed, argued vainly with the carriers at their hotel suite last night in an effort to reach a compromise, but he had to resume with both sides at the White House today.

GI Insurance Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — A bill to provide cost-free $10,000 life insurance policies for all individuals on duty with the armed forces since June 27 got Senate approval today.

Passage was by voice vote.

NPA Order Will Slash Use Of Natural Rubber

40,000 Civilian Products Will Be Affected By Cut

Johnston's Formula For Wages Awaited

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The National Production Authority today notified rubber manufacturers that natural rubber will be reduced or banned entirely in 40,000 civilian products on March 1.

The order, due shortly, will limit small-size passenger car tires to 15 per cent natural rubber, larger tires to 22 per cent, baseball centers to 10 per cent and sponge rubber "falsies" to no natural rubber at all.

The purpose is to force upon industry greater usage of synthetic rubber and conserve the natural product for the defense stockpile, military uses and expanding industrial production.

Wage Formula Expected

NPA's announcement stole the show on the mobilization front from Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston. He is expected to issue shortly the "catch-up" formula, breaking the wage freeze and permitting some pay check-fattening for perhaps 40,000,000 workers.

Johnston's aides told reporters he would not take any action tonight. There was talk that he probably would announce his decision tomorrow.

Some officials predicted privately that Johnston might simply sign the 10 per cent pay increase formula voted Feb. 15 by the Wage Stabilization Board.

That decision split the board, 6 to 3, and caused its three dissenting labor members to send resignations to the White House. President Truman has not yet accepted them, but unless the rift is healed, the board may be left virtually powerless.

Reports persisted, therefore, that Johnston might write into the formula, or recommend that the board consider, some modifications to make it more acceptable to labor.

May OK "Escalator" Clauses

One such proposal, it was reported, would be to legalize those wage "escalator" clauses which were written into union contracts before the date of the wage-price freeze on Jan. 26.

NPA's rubber announcement was accompanied by a 32-page listing of specifications covering all manner of rubber goods. The agency said, however, that there will be little effect on quality and little or no change in "appearance, performance or safety." Golf balls and baseballs should travel as far as they do now, officials said.

Auto Plunges Off Bridge

Four Boston skiers escaped serious injuries when their automobile crashed through a railing on the Hinsdale-Brattleboro, Vt., bridge and plunged 25 feet to the ice-covered Connecticut River at Hinsdale. The youths were en route to Montreal for a weekend of skiing.

RFC Probers May Question Democratic Chairman Boyle

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of a committee investigating alleged political influence in the granting of RFC loans, intimated tonight that Willam B. Boyle, Jr., head of the Democratic National Committee, may be called for questioning.

Fulbright told reporters he "wouldn't be surprised" if his Senate Banking Subcommittee decided to ask Boyle to testify. The name of the Democratic National Chairman has been mentioned repeatedly in the inquiry.

Last week Fulbright suggested to E. Merl Young, a central figure in the probe, that Young invite Boyle to make an appearance before the senators.

Young Changes Mind

Young indicated that he might do so, but today, on the advice of his counsel, he told the committee he had dropped the idea. It was then that Fulbright indicated the investigators might call Boyle themselves.

Most of today's session was devoted to testimony about a political feud in the Dallas office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which until this year was headed by L. B. Glidden.

Glidden testified that John B. Skiles, his personnel director in Dallas, "on the basis of his friendship with Donald Dawson and his political powers" caused almost a year of turmoil and intrigue in Dallas and defied Glidden to fire him.

Skiles Testifies

Dawson is one of President Truman's White House aides. With Young he has been accused by the subcommittee of exerting influence on the RFC in connection with loans.

Skiles testified today nobody volunteered to fix a $10,1000,000 RFC loan for the Texmass Corp. He was supporting Young, who has been accused of soliciting an $85,000 fee to help Texmass, a former Texas and Massachusetts oil development company, get the loan.

Ten Women, Two Men On Collazo Jury

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A jury finally was chosen today to decide the life-or-death fate of Oscar Collazo, charged with killing a White House guard during an attempt to assassinate President Truman.

It took almost the whole day—and 180 prospective jurors—to choose the 10 women and two men who will judge the small, 37-year-old Puerto Rican.

Collazo, a member of the Nationalist Party which hates the U. S., sat seemingly unconcerned throughout the proceedings. In a neat brown suit and rimless glasses, he was one of the most inconspicuous persons in the court room.

There was but one dramatic moment.

Collazo was asked to stand, so the prospective jurors could see him.

Then the question was put: Do any of you know this man?

Here Mrs. Collazo, in a blue skirt and a lacy blouse with a sweater over her shoulders, got up. A marshal hurriedly approached, motioning that it was the prospective jurors who were being asked the question.

Mrs. Collazo sat down.

Nobody else indicated they knew the man who, the government contends, joined with Griselio Torresola on Nov. 1 in trying to shoot their way into the Blair House.

Mr. Truman lives at the Blair House while the White House is being repaired. He was home, taking a nap, when the attack was made.

Torresola and a guard, Pvt. Leslie Coffelt, died in the blazing gunfire. Collazo and two other guards were injured.

The two guards who were wounded, Donald Birdzell and Joseph Downs, were in court today—and sat directly behind Mrs. Collazo.

The prospective jurors were weeded out by mass questioning. The largest group, 90, was excused because they work for the government. Prosecuting and defense attorneys agreed that government employes should not serve on the jury.

Quadruple Amputee Thinks U. S. Course In Korea Right

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. &—Pfc. Robert L. Smith, who lost both arms and both legs in Korea, told reporters today:

"I'd sooner fight the battle over there than over here."

That was his reply to a question as to whether the 20-year-old Middleburg, Pa., youngster thought the United States had done the right thing by getting into the fight in Korea.

It was the first news conference for the quadruple amputee since he was brought to the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital for surgery and treatment.

The quiet - mannered, slender, dark-haired youth appeared happy as he chatted with newsmen and photographers. He confidently held a cigaret in one of the artificial hands he has been using almost since he arrived at the hospital in late December.

Right now he's looking forward to a visit home.

"I'll probably get a pass in about a month, so I can spend a day or two at home," he said.

As for plans for his future, he seems optimistic.

"I don't know what I'll do exactly, but I'd like to start my own business," he said. "I think for one thing, I'd like to build my own home. My brother has offered to help in whatever I want to do."

Whatever he decided to do he has some money to help him along. Smith said he has received "something over $13,000" in donations since his plight became known.

Hen Lays Giant Egg, Then Dies

WINDHAM, N. H., Feb. 26. (AP) —The chicken that reputedly laid the nation's biggest egg — an eight and one-half ounce — is dead.

Farm Superintendent Carl McGowan said the bird expired after delivering the giant egg today at the poultry farm of Dr. Henry F. Dearborn of Lawrence, Mass.

The egg measured 10 inches around the long way and eight and one half inches around the middle. It was delivered by a New Hampshire red.

Leathernecks Capture Hills Near Road Hub

Reds Massing For Probable Offensive

TOKYO, Tuesday, Feb. 27 (AP)—Leathernecks of the U. S. First Marine Division today seized hills south of war-wrecked Hoengsong and turned that Central Korean road hub into a no-man's land.

This veteran division, which fought the magnificent withdrawal action last December from Changjin reservoir in Northeast Korea, has been spearheading the present Allied central front push. But until today its' identity was not revealed.

Seven American divisions now have been identified along more than 80 miles of the western and Central fronts extending eastward from Seoul.

The U. S. 25th and Third Divisions were in the western sector between Seoul and Yangpyong. This front follows roughly the south bank of the Han River.

Red Troops Massing

From Yangpyong, 27 miles east of Seoul, the front moves irregularly for about 55 miles to Pangnim. American divisions along that front are: the 24 Infantry, First Cavalry, First Marine, 2nd and 7th Infantry.

Other Allied elements in the drive include the 27th British Brigade, South Koreans, Greek, Turks, French and Canadians.

Chinese Communists buildups behind a maze of trenches and strongpoints 20 to 30 miles south of the 38th parallel gave fresh indications today of preparations for a new do-or-die Red offensive in South Korea.

The Reds fought three, stubborn, rear-guard actions elsewhere on the central front and offered stiffening resistance north and west of an important road junction at Pangnim, 25 miles east of Hoengsong.

Today's Eighth Army communique said air observers estimated an enemy division was dug in three miles northeast of Hoengsong. Planes attacked from 3,000 to 5,000 Reds near Yongdu about 15 miles northwest of Hoengsong.

Gen. MarArthur's 24-hour summary covering operations up to 6 a. m. today reported "determined enemy resistance" west of Hoengsong.

Reds Burn Trestle

Field dispatches said a Korean Communist column with camouflaged tanks was advancing toward an American combat team west of Pangnim.

Twelve miles north, a sizable Red buildup was in progress. The Reds set fire to wooden trestles of a bridge five miles north of the town and piled stones on the roadway to halt American armored columns.

An air strike was called on the Red concentration, estimated at 700 men and undetermined number of tanks.

Another hazard developed when winds of hurricane strength were forecast on the east-central front. Troops along the line were ordered to "buckle down" for rain and winds of 60 miles an hour or more.

In the west, U. S. 25th Division patrols crossed the Han River and probed within two miles southeast of Seoul but were forced back to the south bank by intense artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire.

South Korean troops in rubber boats were unable to cross the Han three miles east of Seoul when they encountered intense fire.

Prince, Reported Missing, Located

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (AP) — Price David Mdivani came home today.

Reported missing since Friday, the last of the fabulous "Marrying Mdivani" brothers drove up to his home after telephoning his wife.

Police, who had broadcast an all-points bulletin for the missing Prince, said the matter is now out of their hands.

Mdivani indicated he had been away on a short trip.

"I guess I should have told my wife I was not coming home over the wekend," he said. "It is most unfortunate."

Earlier the manager of the La Quinta Hotel at Palm Springs told police Mdivani was seen there Saturday and Sunday. Asked about this, Mdivani smiled and replied: "Well, perhaps."

Utah and Nevada—the 35th and 36th states to approve the amendment—voted for ratification last night, Nevada completing action at 7:30 p. m. (EST).

A three-fourths majority, 36 states, was needed to make the amendment effective.

It will not apply to President Truman, who was specifically exempted when Congress submitted the proposed amendment to the states in 1947.

The last amendment to the Constitution—the 21st—repealed prohibition. It became effective Dec. 5, 1933. Utah was the 36th state to ratify that one.

Nevada's lawmakers stood by to grab for their state the distinction of making the 2nd amendment a part of the Constitution.

The Nevada Senate voted 16 to 1 for ratification minutes after learning that Utah had voted to approve.

The proposal to ratify cleared the Nevada Assembly, 29 to 12, early in the afternoon.

The vote in the Utah Senate was 14 to 8. The House already had passed the measure.

The proposed amendment has been kicking around in state legislatures since March, 1947, but only 24 states had voted to ratify until late last month.

Ratification was completed with a rush.

Other states voting to ratify in the last few weeks have been Indiana, Montana, Idaho, New Mexico, Wyoming, Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee, Texas, and North Carolina.

Congress specified the amendment must be ratified by March, 1954, to become effective.

Nevada's quick action nosed out Minnesota, which had hoped to be the 36th state to ratify.

Acting under a suspension of the rules, the Minnesota Legislature had placed a joint resolution to ratify ahead of other bills and scheduled a vote for 4 p. m. (EST) today.

Outside the legal phraseology, here's what the amendment provides:

That a president may serve only two elected terms. A man who served up to two years of another president's unexpired term could still serve an additional eight years.

But a vice persident succeeding to the presidency and serving more than two years before the term expired would be eligible for election only once.

Steelman Enters Railroad Dispute

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The White House took a hand in the deadlocked wage dispute of a million non-operating railroad workers today as another rail union chief accused Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman of trying to "Chisel in" on their settlement.

Steelman invited the negotiators for carriers and 15 non-operating unions to the White House for a series of separate conferences. Press Secretary Joseph H. Short said the move was suggested by the National Mediation Board. It has been trying for three weeks to break the stalemate over wages between the carriers and the non-operating groups, which consists of maintenance men, clerks, etc.

A last-minute request by the carriers that the non-operating unions agree to a moratorium on demanding any changes in rules governing working conditions threw the negotiations into a tailspin Saturday night.

Steelman, who got out of a sickbed, argued vainly with the carriers at their hotel suite last night in an effort to reach a compromise, but he had to resume with both sides at the White House today.

GI Insurance Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — A bill to provide cost-free $10,000 life insurance policies for all individuals on duty with the armed forces since June 27 got Senate approval today.

Passage was by voice vote.

Four Boston skiers escaped serious injuries when their automobile crashed through a railing on the Hinsdale-Brattleboro, Vt., bridge and plunged 25 feet to the ice-covered Connecticut River at Hinsdale. The youths were en route to Montreal for a weekend of skiing.

RFC Probers May Question Democratic Chairman Boyle

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of a committee investigating alleged political influence in the granting of RFC loans, intimated tonight that Willam B. Boyle, Jr., head of the Democratic National Committee, may be called for questioning.

Fulbright told reporters he "wouldn't be surprised" if his Senate Banking Subcommittee decided to ask Boyle to testify. The name of the Democratic National Chairman has been mentioned repeatedly in the inquiry.

Last week Fulbright suggested to E. Merl Young, a central figure in the probe, that Young invite Boyle to make an appearance before the senators.

Young Changes Mind

Young indicated that he might do so, but today, on the advice of his counsel, he told the committee he had dropped the idea. It was then that Fulbright indicated the investigators might call Boyle themselves.

Most of today's session was devoted to testimony about a political feud in the Dallas office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which until this year was headed by L. B. Glidden.

Glidden testified that John B. Skiles, his personnel director in Dallas, "on the basis of his friendship with Donald Dawson and his political powers" caused almost a year of turmoil and intrigue in Dallas and defied Glidden to fire him.

Skiles Testifies

Dawson is one of President Truman's White House aides. With Young he has been accused by the subcommittee of exerting influence on the RFC in connection with loans.

Skiles testified today nobody volunteered to fix a $10,1000,000 RFC loan for the Texmass Corp. He was supporting Young, who has been accused of soliciting an $85,000 fee to help Texmass, a former Texas and Massachusetts oil development company, get the loan.

Ten Women, Two Men On Collazo Jury

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A jury finally was chosen today to decide the life-or-death fate of Oscar Collazo, charged with killing a White House guard during an attempt to assassinate President Truman.

It took almost the whole day—and 180 prospective jurors—to choose the 10 women and two men who will judge the small, 37-year-old Puerto Rican.

Collazo, a member of the Nationalist Party which hates the U. S., sat seemingly unconcerned throughout the proceedings. In a neat brown suit and rimless glasses, he was one of the most inconspicuous persons in the court room.

There was but one dramatic moment.

Collazo was asked to stand, so the prospective jurors could see him.

Then the question was put: Do any of you know this man?

Here Mrs. Collazo, in a blue skirt and a lacy blouse with a sweater over her shoulders, got up. A marshal hurriedly approached, motioning that it was the prospective jurors who were being asked the question.

Mrs. Collazo sat down.

Nobody else indicated they knew the man who, the government contends, joined with Griselio Torresola on Nov. 1 in trying to shoot their way into the Blair House.

Mr. Truman lives at the Blair House while the White House is being repaired. He was home, taking a nap, when the attack was made.

Torresola and a guard, Pvt. Leslie Coffelt, died in the blazing gunfire. Collazo and two other guards were injured.

The two guards who were wounded, Donald Birdzell and Joseph Downs, were in court today—and sat directly behind Mrs. Collazo.

The prospective jurors were weeded out by mass questioning. The largest group, 90, was excused because they work for the government. Prosecuting and defense attorneys agreed that government employes should not serve on the jury.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — After 18 consecutive weeks of price rises, wholesale market prices leveled off during the week ended Feb. 20, the Burgau of Labor Statistics reported today.

40,000 Civilian Products Will Be Affected By Cut

Johnston's Formula For Wages Awaited

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The National Production Authority today notified rubber manufacturers that natural rubber will be reduced or banned entirely in 40,000 civilian products on March 1.

The order, due shortly, will limit small-size passenger car tires to 15 per cent natural rubber, larger tires to 22 per cent, baseball centers to 10 per cent and sponge rubber "falsies" to no natural rubber at all.

The purpose is to force upon industry greater usage of synthetic rubber and conserve the natural product for the defense stockpile, military uses and expanding industrial production.

Wage Formula Expected

NPA's announcement stole the show on the mobilization front from Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston. He is expected to issue shortly the "catch-up" formula, breaking the wage freeze and permitting some pay check-fattening for perhaps 40,000,000 workers.

Johnston's aides told reporters he would not take any action tonight. There was talk that he probably would announce his decision tomorrow.

Some officials predicted privately that Johnston might simply sign the 10 per cent pay increase formula voted Feb. 15 by the Wage Stabilization Board.

That decision split the board, 6 to 3, and caused its three dissenting labor members to send resignations to the White House. President Truman has not yet accepted them, but unless the rift is healed, the board may be left virtually powerless.

Reports persisted, therefore, that Johnston might write into the formula, or recommend that the board consider, some modifications to make it more acceptable to labor.

May OK "Escalator" Clauses

One such proposal, it was reported, would be to legalize those wage "escalator" clauses which were written into union contracts before the date of the wage-price freeze on Jan. 26.

NPA's rubber announcement was accompanied by a 32-page listing of specifications covering all manner of rubber goods. The agency said, however, that there will be little effect on quality and little or no change in "appearance, performance or safety." Golf balls and baseballs should travel as far as they do now, officials said.

Hen Lays Giant Egg, Then Dies

WINDHAM, N. H., Feb. 26. (AP)—The chicken that reputedly laid the nation's biggest egg — an eight and one-half ounce — is dead.

Farm Superintendent Carl McGowan said the bird expired after delivering the giant egg today at the poultry farm of Dr. Henry F. Dearborn of Lawrence, Mass.

The egg measured 10 inches around the long way and eight and one half inches around the middle. It was delivered by a New Hampshire red.

Quadruple Amputee Thinks U. S. Course In Korea Right

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. &—Pfc. Robert L. Smith, who lost both arms and both legs in Korea, told reporters today:

"I'd sooner fight the battle over there than over here."

That was his reply to a question as to whether the 20-year-old Middleburg, Pa., youngster thought the United States had done the right thing by getting into the fight in Korea.

It was the first news conference for the quadruple amputee since he was brought to the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital for surgery and treatment.

The quiet - mannered, slender, dark-haired youth appeared happy as he chatted with newsmen and photographers. He confidently held a cigaret in one of the artificial hands he has been using almost since he arrived at the hospital in late December.

Right now he's looking forward to a visit home.

"I'll probably get a pass in about a month, so I can spend a day or two at home," he said.

As for plans for his future, he seems optimistic.

"I don't know what I'll do exactly, but I'd like to start my own business," he said. "I think for one thing, I'd like to build my own home. My brother has offered to help in whatever I want to do."

Whatever he decided to do he has some money to help him along. Smith said he has received "something over $13,000" in donations since his plight became known.

Leathernecks Capture Hills Near Road Hub

Reds Massing For Probable Offensive

TOKYO, Tuesday, Feb. 27 (AP)—Leathernecks of the U. S. First Marine Division today seized hills south of war-wrecked Hoengsong and turned that Central Korean road hub into a no-man's land.

This veteran division, which fought the magnificent withdrawal action last December from Changjin reservoir in Northeast Korea, has been spearheading the present Allied central front push. But until today its' identity was not revealed.

Seven American divisions now have been identified along more than 80 miles of the western and Central fronts extending eastward from Seoul.

The U. S. 25th and Third Divisions were in the western sector between Seoul and Yangpyong. This front follows roughly the south bank of the Han River.

Red Troops Massing

From Yangpyong, 27 miles east of Seoul, the front moves irregularly for about 55 miles to Pangnim. American divisions along that front are: the 24 Infantry, First Cavalry, First Marine, 2nd and 7th Infantry.

Other Allied elements in the drive include the 27th British Brigade, South Koreans, Greek, Turks, French and Canadians.

Chinese Communists buildups behind a maze of trenches and strongpoints 20 to 30 miles south of the 38th parallel gave fresh indications today of preparations for a new do-or-die Red offensive in South Korea.

The Reds fought three, stubborn, rear-guard actions elsewhere on the central front and offered stiffening resistance north and west of an important road junction at Pangnim, 25 miles east of Hoengsong.

Today's Eighth Army communique said air observers estimated an enemy division was dug in three miles northeast of Hoengsong. Planes attacked from 3,000 to 5,000 Reds near Yongdu about 15 miles northwest of Hoengsong.

Gen. MarArthur's 24-hour summary covering operations up to 6 a. m. today reported "determined enemy resistance" west of Hoengsong.

Reds Burn Trestle

Field dispatches said a Korean Communist column with camouflaged tanks was advancing toward an American combat team west of Pangnim.

Twelve miles north, a sizable Red buildup was in progress. The Reds set fire to wooden trestles of a bridge five miles north of the town and piled stones on the roadway to halt American armored columns.

An air strike was called on the Red concentration, estimated at 700 men and undetermined number of tanks.

Another hazard developed when winds of hurricane strength were forecast on the east-central front. Troops along the line were ordered to "buckle down" for rain and winds of 60 miles an hour or more.

In the west, U. S. 25th Division patrols crossed the Han River and probed within two miles southeast of Seoul but were forced back to the south bank by intense artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire.

South Korean troops in rubber boats were unable to cross the Han three miles east of Seoul when they encountered intense fire.

Prince, Reported Missing, Located

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (AP) — Price David Mdivani came home today.

Reported missing since Friday, the last of the fabulous "Marrying Mdivani" brothers drove up to his home after telephoning his wife.

Police, who had broadcast an all-points bulletin for the missing Prince, said the matter is now out of their hands.

Mdivani indicated he had been away on a short trip.

"I guess I should have told my wife I was not coming home over the wekend," he said. "It is most unfortunate."

Earlier the manager of the La Quinta Hotel at Palm Springs told police Mdivani was seen there Saturday and Sunday. Asked about this, Mdivani smiled and replied: "Well, perhaps."

Youth Held On $500 Bond For Manslaughter

Tasker Reported Still Unconscious

Thomas Whitacre, Jr., 21-year-old Vindex youth, is being held in Garrett County jail on $500 bond following a hearing yesterday before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch in Oakland on a manslaughter charge.

The charge was filed as a result of the death of William Franklin Stewart, 32-year-old Vindex coal miner, who was killed Saturday night in an automobile crash near Swanton on Maryland Route No. 135. Whitacre was the driver of the vehicle.

Sheriff Paul Fisher reported last night Whitacre is being held on bond for trial at a later date pending the outcome of injuries to Mrs. Wanda Harvey Stewart, widow of the fatally injured man, and Leo Tasker, 15-year-old Vindex boy who is reported in "very poor" condition at Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown, W. Va., where he and Mrs. Stewart were taken following the mishap.

busy and with the help of several fellow workers and Harry Morgan, Frostburg gunsmith, necessary parts to recondition the weapon were obtained.

Powder, shot and caps were acquired from business members of the National Muzzleloading Rifle Association, an organization with headquarters in Portsmouth, Ohio, which encourages and promotes the sport of firing flint and caplock guns throughout the United States.

When all accessories were available, Evans and White went to the Fort Hill Rifle Range, located on the O'Neal Farm, near Naves Crossroad.

Three and one-quarter drams of black powder were poured down the 38-inch throat of the 12-gauge followed by several paper wads which were tamped tight with the ramrod. One and one-quarter ounces of No. 6 shot was measured into the bore and an overshot wad run down into place. The hammer was raised, a percussion cap fitted over the firing nipple and the scattergun was prepared for action.

Evans aimed at a quart can on a bush 30 yards away, fired and after the blue smoke and thunder disappeared he saw that the can had been filled with holes and was off the bush.

Muzzle Dated 1845

Evans would like to learn a little more about the history of the gun. The muzzle bears the date 1845, which apparently refers to the year in which it was made. It is believed that the gun, which has been in the Evans family for at least three generations, was made by a Western Pennsylvania gunsmith, probably one in Pittsburgh or Bedford. The letters LF on the muzzle apparently were the initials of the gunsmith, but they are not much of a clue for the gun's owner.

Mahlon Evans, Paul's father, used to fire the gun as a boy. The elder Evans recalls that one day he ran out of shot while hunting rabbits. He put a toy marble in the gun and fired and the force of the marble when it hit the rabbit killed the animal.

Although it might add to the adventure aspects of the story to say that Evans' ancestors used the gun to hunt Indians, this is not considered likely. An expert contends that the gun was too heavy to have been used effectively in any sort of combat. It probably was used exclusively for hunting game.

Now that Evans has one old gun in working condition, he would like to add to the collection. His difficulty is finding guns at prices he can pay.

busy and with the help of several fellow workers and Harry Morgan, Frostburg gunsmith, necessary parts to recondition the weapon were obtained.

Powder, shot and caps were acquired from business members of the National Muzzleloading Rifle Association, an organization with headquarters in Portsmouth, Ohio, which encourages and promotes the sport of firing flint and caplock guns throughout the United States.

When all accessories were available, Evans and White went to the Fort Hill Rifle Range, located on the O'Neal Farm, near Naves Crossroad.

Three and one-quarter drams of black powder were poured down the 38-inch throat of the 12-gauge followed by several paper wads which were tamped tight with the ramrod. One and one-quarter ounces of No. 6 shot was measured into the bore and an overshot wad run down into place. The hammer was raised, a percussion cap fitted over the firing nipple and the scattergun was prepared for action.

Evans aimed at a quart can on a bush 30 yards away, fired and after the blue smoke and thunder disappeared he saw that the can had been filled with holes and was off the bush.

Muzzle Dated 1845

Evans would like to learn a little more about the history of the gun. The muzzle bears the date 1845, which apparently refers to the year in which it was made. It is believed that the gun, which has been in the Evans family for at least three generations, was made by a Western Pennsylvania gunsmith, probably one in Pittsburgh or Bedford. The letters LF on the muzzle apparently were the initials of the gunsmith, but they are not much of a clue for the gun's owner.

Mahlon Evans, Paul's father, used to fire the gun as a boy. The elder Evans recalls that one day he ran out of shot while hunting rabbits. He put a toy marble in the gun and fired and the force of the marble when it hit the rabbit killed the animal.

Although it might add to the adventure aspects of the story to say that Evans' ancestors used the gun to hunt Indians, this is not considered likely. An expert contends that the gun was too heavy to have been used effectively in any sort of combat. It probably was used exclusively for hunting game.

Now that Evans has one old gun in working condition, he would like to add to the collection. His difficulty is finding guns at prices he can pay.

Reply And Invitation

Less than a week ago, Robert S. Webster, president of the St. Johnsbury, Vt., Chamber of Commerce, wrote to The Cumberland News taking issue with statements of Herman E. Basehore, co-chairman of the Somerset County, Pa., Maple Festival, about the merits of Somerset County maple syrup. Today Mr. Basehore replies with a letter to Mr. Webster.

February 26, 1951

Sir:

I just finished reading your letter to the editor of The Cumberland News in Cumberland, Md., in which you made an attempt to confuse Pennsylvanians and Marylanders by telling them that Vermont processors purchase Pennsylvania 100 percent pure maple syrup to use commercially only in tobacco and similar products.

You, of course, are no different than a lot of other red-blooded Americans, and without a doubt all of us must have some Texas spirit in us. Without a question Vermont produces good maple syrup, but if it's the best in the world why contaminate it with 85 percent cane syrup?

As for taking a back seat, Somerset County's 100 percent pure maple producers would not think of riding anywhere but on the front seat.

Personally, I'd very much enjoy a trip to Vermont, but unfortunately as co-chairman for the annual Somerset County Maple Festival here in Meyersdale, I feel my services can be put to better use right here in Somerset County. And, inasmuch as you admit that our festivals may be staged in a much grander manner, I'd like to take this opportunity of personally inviting you to come here and be our guest on April 13 and 14.

I'm positive it will be an experience you'll never forget.

Yours truly,
HERMAN E. BASEHORE

Votes For Minors

(The following letter submitted to The News is a copy of a letter sent to Congressman J. Glenn Beall.)

February 26, 1951

Sir:

If the Administration is to urge upon the Congress enactment of a law requiring our 18-year-old sons to enter the armed forces—and I do not say that the service of boys of such tender years is unnecessary—I think the Republicans in Congress can secure a degree of equity in the law as it may be enacted.

It is trite to recall that a major cause of the Revolutionary War was the attempt of the British to impose taxes upon the Colonies without representation.

Under the anticipated draft law, the Nation will call upon our minor sons to contribute far more than tax money, that is, to donate the most important years of their lives, and maybe their lives per se, to the needs of their country. It is only fitting and proper, therefore, that all minors in the armed forces of the United States shall be endowed with suffrage.

If the minor draftees are to provide our best soldiers, as General Marshall has reportedly stated to the committee of the Congress, then who can fairly say they should not have a voice in their government?

I believe that every such boy in the armed forces, endowed with the right to participate in the selection of his commander-in-chief in 1952, will feel that he is indeed serving a Democratic Government, and may well support the party that secures the franchise for him.

Yours truly,

The Korean campaign has revived stories of fantastic poker games in rest areas, with GIs risking a whole month's salary on a single hand. Typical is the tale of the Missouri farm hand who professed to know nothing of the game. His buddies saw a chance for some easy pickings and enthusiastically urged him to participate.

He lost moderately and unspectacularly for some time, and then came the big hand of the evening. One after another the players raised the limit. The Missourian stayed each time. Finally came the showdown. Player number one had an ace-high straight. Number two had a heart flush. Number three triumphantly produced a king-high full house, and was about to rake in the pot when the boy from Missouri asked quietly, "One minute, mister, I ain't quite sure, but I think I got you beat with these two pair of sevens."

Local Milk Supply On National Honor Roll

Cumberland is one of 160 cities and counties in the United States placed on the honor roll of the U. S. Public Health Service for safe milk, according to Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele, of the USPH.

At the same time, Dr. Scheele announced a tightening of the eligibility requirements for special listing.

"The 'honor roll' communities have been marked for special attention because the total market milk supply sold within their corporate limits rates 90 per cent or more, according to a rating method based on the Grade A sanitary requirements of the USPH's recommended milk ordinance," Dr. Scheele explained.

The RFC Scandal

The Senate subcommittee, headed by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, which has come up with startling charges of how the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been operated, cannot let the investigation drop, now that President Truman has executed a sudden about-face and given in to some of the demands of the committee for changes it deemed necessary in the RFC setup.

The charges the committee made—that persons close to the President were the people to see to get a loan from the RFC—are too serious to be dropped. And it is obvious that the committee has only scratched the surface. Not once, in news stories of the committee's finding, did the name of the man who heads companies which have received nearly one-half of all RFC loans outstanding appear.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, created in 1931 to bolster sagging business, is authorized to lend money to concerns which, for one reason or another, cannot borrow from private institutions. It is run by a five-man board, has 30 regional offices, 4,622 employes and a pool of $1,500,000,000 public funds from which to make loans. In the fiscal year 1950 it granted 5,506 loans totaling $302,000,000.

RFC has been under attack several years for its lending policies. Two years ago the Senate authorized the investigation by the subcommittee headed by Senator Fulbright. Major charges made by the committee are that certain people were unduly influential with officials of the RFC.

Donald S. Dawson, President Truman's personal adviser, was cited as one alleged to have persuaded officials to make loans to friend of the Democratic National Committee. Another was E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, who made $60,000 a year as "expediter" of RFC loans. The committee charged that RFC directors have approved loans "in disregard of established operating policies" of the corporation. It said only drastic action can restore the integrity of the RFC.

President Truman described the committee's findings as "asinine," and said he would call the members to the White House to explain what in the world they were driving at. He defiantly sent the names of all five RFC directors to the Senate, requesting that they be reconfirmed for new terms.

Less than a week later he came out in favor of a one-man management of RFC and approved other concessions obviously intended to mollify the Senate investigators.

Why?

It is now revealed it may be necessary to take nine ships out of mouthballs. The same may be true of statesmen.

The Trapper Trapped

For the first time a Chinese Communist trap in Korea has trapped the trapper. Mass infiltration by night and surprise attack, which almost won the war last November, have not worked this time. The latest Communist counter-offensive has proved a costly failure.

The enemy's desperate effort to stop the losses inflicted upon him daily since the Eighth Army began its "limited offensive" a month ago has come to grief. The attempt has only increased his casualties—to an estimated 100,000. And currently U. S. forces are making good on General Ridgway's boast that "we shall strike back and destroy the bulk of the enemy's forces which we do not capture."

So the news from Korea is heartening, all the more because it has followed a different pattern this time. On other occasions the campaign has plunged so swiftly from triumph to black defeat that most persons feared to hope for the outcome that now seems assured.

General Ridgway's plan of operation has accomplished many things. It has caused the enemy such heavy losses that he was forced to try a counter-stroke. It has made that counter-stroke cost the enemy still more losses. And it has demonstrated that the Chinese Reds no longer have a sure formula for winning battles.

A barrage of occurrences is battering the world, some of them historical, others merely hysterical.

Creditor's Usual Fate

Although the United States is willing to settle Russia's $10,800,000,000 lend - lease account for $800,000,000 — or less than 10 cents on the dollar — the Soviet press continues to insist that Washington is not interested in reaching an agreement and is utilizing the long - drawn - out negotiations "for a further sharpening of the relations" between this country and Russia.

That's the kind of nonsense Moscow has been releasing since the inception of the bolshevik government. It is not difficult to understand why four Presidents—Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover—refused to recognize the Moscow regime.

The goods, military and otherwise — which the Roosevelt Administration sent to the Soviet during World War II and the Truman Administration sent after the shooting stopped were supposed to be paid for some time.

What Washington now proposes to clear the books, is to write the account off by regarding it as close to a gift. All the thanks it gets in return is to have its sincerity questioned by the debtor and to be accused of seeking a deadlock in the negotiations for propaganda purposes.

Tito Makes An Offer

Yugoslavia's dictator, Tito, is a Communist and heads a typical Communist state—except that it doesn't take orders from Moscow. He seems determined to maintain that position. But he once said he was neutral as between the East and West. Later he said Yugoslavia would go to war if directly attacked but not in the "interests of other powers." Now he has gone further.

He has said in a public statement that Yugoslavia will not only defend herself against assault but will resist any aggression in Europe, provided that the aggression elsewhere threatens Yugoslav independence. Of course, Tito can interpret his reservation as he pleases. But his statement seems to mean that any attempt to upset the present balance in Europe, to the detriment of Yugoslavia, will bring him into the struggle.

How far can Tito be trusted to keep his word? That's a question hard to answer because his attitude has grown out of Russian enmity toward him and not out of enthusiasm for the West on his part.

Temper Tantrums

INFANCY and early childhood are not as carefree periods as we first sometimes are led to believe. The first time junior gets his dander up he is angry—a reaction to his helplessness and the inability to cope with the existing circumstances. Episodes of anger reach their height between 1 and 2 years of age and seldom are as severe before or after that age. From this time on the spells become less violent and explosive. This has its drawbacks, however, because feelings of resentment and retaliation are retained for a longer period of time.

Up to the age of 8 years, the average outburst lasts less than five minutes whereas the adult is likely to brood and sulk for hours and days when aroused in a similar fashion. It is little wonder that high blood pressure is so common. In this respect the temper tantrum has some merit. It is a healthy outlet for rage and by crying, screaming, kicking, throwing the arms about, shouting, and calling names, the youngster releases the energy that has been created through indignation. Parents would like their offspring to "work it off" some other way but it is a fact that most boys and girls are as sweet as lambs when the incident is over.

Most incidents of this type occur before lunch and dinner, suggesting that hunger and fatigue play a role. The parents want to eat too and may be just as tired. This produces a tense situation and it is difficult to say who starts the first spark that set off the explosion. Many other factors enter the picture. The more adults in the home, the more different points of view there are to contend with. Children are more touchy when they are constipated or have a slight cold. Even the presence of guests may prove upsetting.

Although the temper tantrum serves its purpose, it is not the ideal solution. Tots who have been subjected to unreasonable demands and discipline are more inclined to such paroxysms; if parents make amendments along this line the child often improves. Furthermore, the lad should be taught to solve his own problems. Anger is not a crime but the energy produced by the sensation should be used to overcome the offending agent in a peaceful and logical manner. This is more easily said than done but children who can be taught to face problems intelligently and to cooperate are well on their way to becoming leaders. Imitation helps, inasmuch as adults who never fly off the handle usually have self-controlled youngsters. Running an orderly household, with confusion kept to a minimum, is conducive to calmness and serenity.

Babies become enraged at simple things such as being bathed, dressed, and fed. As they grow older they may object to going to bed or to the toilet or having the face and hands washed. They resent having their routine disturbed as well as interference when they want to do something by themselves. There also are disagreements over play and sharing toys. Although these circumstances represent a normal part of childhood, some degree of guidance often helps; but the parents should strike a happy medium when the children begin to squabble. Too much assistance discourages the youngster from fighting his own battles and makes him overly dependent on mother and father.

When symptoms occur (they often are absent), the individual who has eaten trichinous pork may develop nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and colic as in other types of food poisoning. Big Four Will Meet In Washington In April; Defense Mobilizer To Crack Down On Five Percenters; John Steelman May Defy Subpoena

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic circles are now convinced the long-anticipated Big Four foreign minister's meeting will not only be held this April but will be held in Washington.

The meeting between Secretary of State Acheson, French Foreign Minister Schuman, British Foreign Minister Bevin and Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky is generally looked upon by the diplomatic corps as the world's last opportunity to reach a peaceful settlement between the East and West.

In the delicate touch-and-go atmosphere of high-level diplomacy, Washington analysts have detected what they interpret as "secret" signals from Moscow indicating that the Kremlin is willing to talk out, rather than shoot out the differences between democracy and communism.

The most important clues are contained in dispatches to U. S. papers from Moscow—dispatches that have to get by tough Moscow censors. These stories have reported that the Kremlin was "delighted" to receive "encouraging responses" to its recent diplomatic notes. Washington experts reason that these stories would be killed by politburo censors unless the Kremlin intended to convey a message to the U. S. through them.

NOTE 1—The U. S. wants the meeting held in Washington for world prestige and domestic political reasons.

Threatening jail for five percenters, Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson promised congressional watchdogs the other day that he would establish a small business office to circumvent influence peddlers and help small firms get government contracts.

He made the offer behind closed doors of the Joint Congressional Committee on Defense Production, at the suggestion of Chairman Burnet Maybank of South Carolina.

"I hate to see five or ten percenters around," snorted Maybank. "You should do something so that a man can come to Washington to find out what is what without paying some fellow $2,000 or $3,000.

"If I find that, the two of them will go to jail," warned Wilson.

He agreed to organize a small-business office "that will be complete to give all help and information that we know how to give to aid small business."

This was a relief to Senator Capehart, Indiana Republican, who complained that "small - business men are worrying every congressman and senator to death with telephone calls and letters, asking how do we get business."

"Senator, I have thousands of letters," sympathized the mobilization boss. "The first week I was down here, I had 26,000 letters. I think the problem is very pressing."

Here are other important highlights of Wilson's closed-door session with the congressional watchdogs:

1. Wilson warned against over-expansion of industry. "We have got to strike a balance on the program for increased facilities, particularly in such things as steel and aluminum," he declared, "because if we just go willy-nilly and permit expansion beyond a certain point, we will handicap ourselves in the production program for military items."

Advocates Trailers

2. Wilson advocated trailers instead of temporary housing to house workers in defense areas. "I would hate to see the taxpayers' money wasted in building short-term houses, because it would be a complete waste," he warned.

3. Wilson was not worried about the copper shortage. "I do not think the copper shortage is quite as serious as it has been made out to be. But we could use more copper," he said. "In my judgment, you can get more copper if you will take the two-cent duty off copper that comes from Chile and other places."

4. Wilson agreed to organize a committee on science and development to develop new production methods, such as manufacturing aluminum from clay.

"In the next three years—and this is the fundamental philosophy in my office—we must really make America mighty from a military standpoint and at the same time keep a sound economy in the country," declared the defense mobilizer. Then he added firmly: "I believe it can be done."

Washington Pipeline

Presidential Assistant John Steelman may try to defy a Senate subpoena. He spurned an invitation from Ray Murdock, chief counsel for the Senate Labor-Management Subcommittee, to testify at the railroad hearing. When Murdock warned that a subpoena might be used, Steelman replied loftily: "When I act, it is the same as the President." . . . Committee members are at odds over prolonging the Senate hearing into "influence and favoritism" in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Subcommittee Chairman Fulbright of Arkansas is satisfied with President Truman's plan to reorganize the RFC and is willing to wind up the hearings. However, the Republicans, led by Senator Capehart of Indiana, hope to drag out the hearings another three months . . . Meanwhile, Fulbright has sounded out the President again on appointing Marriner Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board as the new RFC boss. Truman is sour on Eccles, has already turned down one Fulbright feeler. However, Fulbright has tried, again, pointing out this would be a good way for the President to remove Eccles from the Federal Reserve Board . . . Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson will not return to General Electric after the war. He has told senators that he is through with industry . . . The Army has secretly tested a new, 58-ton supertank, which will beat anything the Russians have. Can't go into details, but we've just okayed a $99,000,000 order . . . There's been a contest in Washington for the best song about the nation's capital. One entry is titled: "Deep in the Heart of Taxes."

The nation faces a critical shortage of public-school teachers next fall, because of increased student enrollments and the fact that many low-paid teachers will seek jobs in defense plants, where they can double their salaries . . . School superintendents report they are having difficulty getting teachers to renew one-year contracts expiring in June—Something Congress should start thinking about.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

WASHINGTON

THERE is a simple test of real importance of the crushing victory of General Ridgway's United Nations forces, which has been received with remarkable indifference in this country. The bloody failure of the Communist offensive in Korea markedly reduces the likelihood of an attack on Indo-China by the Chinese Communist "liberation army," organized for this purpose in South China.

This is not to say that the possibility of such an attack is now ruled out. French General De Lattre de Tassigny, commanding the French and loyal Indo-Chinese forces, has informed his government that he still rates the chances of a Chinese invasion at about even, and he is making his preparations accordingly.

Yet day by day, the Chinese Communists are being weakened in Korea. Day by day, the French and the Nationalist Indo Chinese forces are being strengthened in Indo-China. With every day that passes, the season of the low clouds called the "crachin," which conceals troop movements from air attack, is drawing to its close. In short, for Mao Tse-Tung and his Chinese Communist armies, time is running out.

There can be no serious doubt that an invasion of Indo-China was planned by the Chinese and their Russian senior partners up until very recently, whether or not these plans have now been abandoned. The evidence on this point is overwhelming: the organization of the 250,000-man "liberation Army" on the Indo-Chinese border, under a Sino-Soviet joint staff; the switch in the propaganda line of Indo-Chinese Communist chief Ho Chi Minh, stressing the glories of being "liberated" by the Chinese; the strategy agreed upon at the Peking meeting of Asiatic Communist leaders more than a year ago, calling for the "liberation by armed struggle" first of South Korea, then of Indo-China, then of all Southeast Asia.

While the United Nations forces were reeling back in Korea, this schedule must have seemed wholly practical. Indeed, the Communist delegate, General Wu, virtually announced in the United Nations that Indo-China was next on the list. Yet the schedule cannot seem so practical now, which is undoubtedly the mean reason for Mao Tse-Tung's reported mission to Moscow.

Internal Situation Changed

For one thing, De Lattre de Tassigny has transformed the internal situation. Far more politically astute than his colonial-minded predecessor, General Carpentier, De Lattre has repeated continuously that the French are now in Indo-China as allies rather than masters of the Indo-Chinese; and that French forces will depart as soon as the security of the new state is achieved. As a result, the Nationalist, anti-Communist forces, long dormant, are beginning to quicken into real life. The arming of a Nationalist Indo-Chinese Army is proceeding ahead of schedule.

Moreover, American supplies, including modern tanks and aircraft, are at last beginning to reach Indo-China in important quantities. Partly for this reason, De Lattre's forces have decisively defeated Ho Chi Minh's attempt to capture Hanoi and all north Indo-China. De Lattre now has a firm base in the Red River delta. Ho can continue to harrass the French and Nationalist forces, but he cannot now win decisively. He has almost certainly had his last chance.

Thus the local risk involved in a Chinese invasion of Indo-China is growing daily. So is the global risk. In the demoralized atmosphere pro-

Churchill Missed Point In Navy Command Blast

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Winston Churchill, usually well-informed, simply didn't have the facts when he stirred up in the House of Commons a flag-waving debate bemoaning the appointment of an American admiral to a post which the former British Prime Minister believed was to be a command over all the 12 navies of the North Atlantic Treaty countries.

Actually there is not to be any over-all naval commander at all, either now or in the future. The setup doesn't call for it. The official plan, carefully worked out by committees from the 12 governments during the last several weeks, calls for a supreme allied commander in Europe and that's General Eisenhower. His principal deputy or second in command is British General Montgomery. Whatever naval forces are utilized by General Eisenhower will be under his command along with all air forces and ground forces in Europe.

Will Be Under Eisenhower

There will be subordinate naval commanders in the European area working with General Eisenhower and doubtless a British admiral will command the ships of the British home fleet and any other allied units working in that particular vicinity.

There is as yet to be appointed a naval commander for the Mediterranean and another for the North Sea area. Perhaps two British admirals will command two of these three divisions. But both will be under General Eisenhower, anyway.

The command given to Admiral William M. Fechteler of the United States Navy, which was the subject of the Churchill blast, is to coordinate all naval operations in the Atlantic—that is, between this country and the waters immediately surrounding Europe. The area of this command ranges from our own Atlantic Coast northward along the Canadian Coast to Iceland and across to the Azores and other Portuguese islands. It does not include British home waters.

Admiral Fechteler will not report to or be a part of General Eisenhower's command. His headquarters will be at Norfolk, Va.—a better point than any place in Europe from which to watch Atlantic ocean operations apart from the immediate approaches to Europe. The Fechteler command will have primary responsibility for any anti-submarine campaign and the transport of troops to Europe.

As for the Mediterranean, it is unlikely that the American carrier task forces which are essential to that area's operations would be placed under the command of any British admiral. Unfortunately, Great Britain has not built up her carrier aviation and her commanders do not have the breadth of experience which American naval commanders got in carrier-based aviation during the last war.

Incidentally the professional servicemen of the 12 countries who have been mapping out the details of the various naval commands are working harmoniously together and, until the Churchill outburst, no problems of national pride had arisen to impair the practicability of the decisions made.

When Mr. Churchill asks "where is the British admiral?" he might have been asked in turn "and where are the British ships?" For it is a fact that since 1945 the British Navy has been starved by the labor government and, if he were looking for a basis for political attack, that subject might have been of more pertinent interest to the world than the protest about an over-all command appointment that hasn't been and never will be made. Incidentally, speaking of traditions, Mr. Churchill is a devoted friend of America but in his speech pointing to the "traditions" of the British Navy, he overlooked the fact that the American Navy isn't so lacking in "traditions" either, even going as far back as John Paul Jones, Commodore Perry, James Lawrence and Stephen Decatur.

Surely the British Government which is now relying on the United States Navy to police the seven seas is well aware, though maybe Mr. Churchill forgot it, that where there is power there must be commensurate responsibility. American seapower which today is basically airpower has in technical advancement gone far beyond those achievements of surface, undersea and air warfare which they pursued so gloriously when Mr. Churchill was prime Minister.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Grouping Of Nations

AWAR, such as the general war of 1939-45, does not readily subside. Those who expected peace to come like a rainbow after a storm have only had disappointment for their naive optimism.

The elimination of Japan as the prime power of Asia alone was sufficient to unsettle that continent and to keep it in chaos for a prolonged period. The competition between Soviet China and India for the succession to Japan's position will increase the confusion on that continent beyond anything that is clearly visible at this moment.

The organization of the United Nations in 1945 solved no major problem. The first error in relation to the United Nations was its formation prior to a peace treaty. This alone could be responsible for the failure to write a peace treaty. Also the United Nations charter contains inherent weaknesses, such as the veto, the separation of authorities (of substance and procedure) between the General Assembly and the Security Council. But the most telling error of all is the fact that all nations are not automatically members of the United Nations.

If UN is to be a parliament of nations, upon what just grounds could any nation be omitted?

The absurdity becomes more apparent when we note that Ireland is not a member, but the Ukraine, which is only a province, is a member. If the Ukraine is a member, why not the Turkmen Soviet Socialist Republic? And if the Ukraine, why not Spain?

The fact is that Mr. Roosevelt, who, at Yalta, assisted by Harry Hopkins and Alger Hiss, established the basis for the United Nations conference, never understood the nature of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics or its even broader form, the Third International, alias comintern, alias cominform, alias the Federation of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Therefore, within the United Nations, but even more effectively outside it, are a group of countries that belong to a world union at the head of which stands Soviet Russia and whose central authority is in the Kremlin. These nations include Soviet Russia, Rumania, Poland, Bulgaria, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Eastern Germany, Mongolia, China (including Manchuria), North Korea, Viet Minh, Tibet. This union of states expects to make conquests in Burma this summer.

This is one of the most powerful groupings of states in history, embracing at least 800,000,000 human beings. It is policed by a vast Soviet army which is not only well-equipped but is extraordinarily mobile. It is also policed by an espionage service which includes national Communist parties in every country on earth, but all reporting to the Kremlin.

The Commonwealth of Nations is what remains of the British Empire. This is an amazing institution because it is strictly voluntary, unpoliced, uncoerced. No country need remain in membership in the commonwealth unless it wants to.

In April, 1949, the prime ministers of the Commonwealth countries—United Kingdom, Canada (minister external affairs), Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon — made it possible for India to remain with the Commonwealth and yet be republican, the Indian government stipulating the king as "the symbol of the free association of its independent member nations, and as such the head of the Commonwealth." In a word, India is part of the Commonwealth, but there is no longer an emperor.

This voluntary union of independent countries does hold together in a surprising fashion. Within the United Nations the Commonwealth countries have shown a surprising cohesion — the more astonishing as no one of these countries is bound by the decisions of any other. It is an experiment in voluntary association which may restore the responsibility of the British Empire without the employment of authority.

Another grouping of nations is the Arab League. This is a loose association of Moslem states which has no authority and actually no international existence and yet possesses a moral importance wherever there are Moslems — from the North Coast of Africa, across

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotional

WITH A SINFUL WOMAN

Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more.

John 8:11 (K. J. V.).
Read verses 1-11.

"Grant us the understanding of broken lives and how to heal them." Thus runs a petition of a prayer. There are broken lives and most of us are too clumsy in our efforts to bind them together.

I once had occasion to consult a Salvation Army colonel in regard to the disposition of an illegitimate child. She knew every seamy side of life, the gross sins and the sins of respectability. She said, "I have seen sins far more heinous than the sins of this child's mother. I advised the young mother to take the child with her and face the world." Then with withering scorn, yet not without humor, she called my attention to the twenty-third chapter of Matthew's Gospel. Those who "love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues . . ." "Ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgement, mercy, and faith." Would that the Church and her ministry might learn where Jesus let his judgment fall, and that truth alone is the judge.

Let Us Pray: Forgive us, Lord, for our unkindness, our unholy judgments, and our self - righteousness. Grant us the understanding of broken lives and how to heal them. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The RFC Scandal

The Senate subcommittee, headed by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, which has come up with startling charges of how the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been operated, cannot let the investigation drop, now that President Truman has executed a sudden about-face and given in to some of the demands of the committee for changes it deemed necessary in the RFC setup.

The charges the committee made—that persons close to the President were the people to see to get a loan from the RFC—are too serious to be dropped. And it is obvious that the committee has only scratched the surface. Not once, in news stories of the committee's finding, did the name of the man who heads companies which have received nearly one-half of all RFC loans outstanding appear.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, created in 1931 to bolster sagging business, is authorized to lend money to concerns which, for one reason or another, cannot borrow from private institutions. It is run by a five-man board, has 30 regional offices, 4,622 employes and a pool of $1,500,000,000 public funds from which to make loans. In the fiscal year 1950 it granted 5,506 loans totaling $302,000,000.

RFC has been under attack several years for its lending policies. Two years ago the Senate authorized the investigation by the subcommittee headed by Senator Fulbright. Major charges made by the committee are that certain people were unduly influential with officials of the RFC.

Donald S. Dawson, President Truman's personal adviser, was cited as one alleged to have persuaded officials to make loans to friend of the Democratic National Committee. Another was E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, who made $60,000 a year as "expediter" of RFC loans. The committee charged that RFC directors have approved loans "in disregard of established operating policies" of the corporation. It said only drastic action can restore the integrity of the RFC.

President Truman described the committee's findings as "asinine," and said he would call the members to the White House to explain what in the world they were driving at. He defiantly sent the names of all five RFC directors to the Senate, requesting that they be reconfirmed for new terms.

Less than a week later he came out in favor of a one-man management of RFC and approved other concessions obviously intended to mollify the Senate investigators.

Why?

It is now revealed it may be necessary to take more ships out of mouthballs. The same may be true of statesmen.

The Trapper Trapped

For the first time a Chinese Communist trap in Korea has trapped the trapper. Mass infiltration by night and surprise attack, which almost won the war last November, have not worked this time. The latest Communist counter-offensive has proved a costly failure.

The enemy's desperate effort to stop the losses inflicted upon him daily since the Eighth Army began its "limited offensive" a month ago has come to grief. The attempt has only increased his casualties—to an estimated 100,000. And currently U. S. forces are making good on General Ridgway's boast that "we shall strike back and destroy the bulk of the enemy's forces which we do not capture."

So the news from Korea is heartening, all the more because it has followed a different pattern this time. On other occasions the campaign has plunged so swiftly from triumph to black defeat that most persons feared to hope for the outcome that now seems assured.

PORK-WORM DISEASE

B. H. writes: How can trichinosis be detected?

REPLY

When symptoms occur (they often are absent), the individual who has eaten trichinous pork may develop nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and colic as in other types of food poisoning. Later manifestations include muscular aching, puffiness of the skin, and blood changes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on trichinosis which describes the preventive measures so necessary because we have no treatment for this disease.

Yes, especially after a cold or an alcoholic binge. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on pyelitis (kidney infection).

YOGURT

L. F. writes: Is yogurt more valuable as a food than buttermilk?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge. Both yogurt and buttermilk can be made by adding germ cultures to milk. Yogurt happens to be made from one type of culture and buttermilk from another.

Big Four Will Meet In Washington In April; Defense Mobilizer To Crack Down On Five Percenters; John Steelman May Defy Subpoena

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic circles are now convinced the long-anticipated Big Four foreign minister's meeting will not only be held this April but will be held in Washington.

The meeting between Secretary of State Acheson, French Foreign Minister Schuman, British Foreign Minister Bevin and Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky is generally looked upon by the diplomatic corps as the world's last opportunity to reach a peaceful settlement between the East and West.

In the delicate touch-and-go atmosphere of high-level diplomacy, Washington analysts have detected what they interpret as "secret" signals from Moscow indicating that the Kremlin is willing to talk out, rather than shoot out the differences between democracy and communism.

The most important clues are contained in dispatches to U. S. papers from Moscow—dispatches that have to get by tough Moscow censors. These stories have reported that the Kremlin was "delighted" to receive "encouraging responses" to its recent diplomatic notes. Washington experts reason that these stories would be killed by politburo censors unless the Kremlin intended to convey a message to the U. S. through them.

NOTE 1—The U. S. wants the meeting held in Washington for world prestige and domestic political reasons.

Threatening jail for five percenters, Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson promised congressional watchdogs the other day that he would establish a small business office to circumvent influence peddlers and help small firms get government contracts.

He made the offer behind closed doors of the Joint Congressional Committee on Defense Production, at the suggestion of Chairman Burnet Maybank of South Carolina.

"I hate to see five or ten percenters around," snorted Maybank. "You should do something so that a man can come to Washington to find out what is what without paying some fellow $2,000 or $3,000.

"If I find that, the two of them will go to jail," warned Wilson.

He agreed to organize a small-business office "that will be complete to give all help and information that we know how to give to aid small business."

This was a relief to Senator Capehart, Indiana Republican, who complained that "small - business men are worrying every congressman and senator to death with telephone calls and letters, asking how do we get business."

"Senator, I have thousands of letters," sympathized the mobilization boss. "The first week I was down here, I had 26,000 letters. I think the problem is very pressing."

Here are other important highlights of Wilson's closed-door session with the congressional watchdogs:

1. Wilson warned against over-expansion of industry. "We have got to strike a balance on the program for increased facilities, particularly in such things as steel and aluminum," he declared, "because if we just go willy-nilly and permit expansion beyond a certain point, we will handicap ourselves in the production program for military items."

Advocates Trailers

2. Wilson advocated trailers instead of temporary housing to house workers in defense areas. "I would hate to see the taxpayers' money wasted in building short-term houses, because it would be a complete waste," he warned.

3. Wilson was not worried about the copper shortage. "I do not think the copper shortage is quite as serious as it has been made out to be. But we could use more copper," he said. "In my judgment, you can get more copper if you will take the two-cent duty off copper that comes from Chile and other places."

4. Wilson agreed to organize a committee on science and development to develop new production methods, such as manufacturing aluminum from clay.

"In the next three years—and this is the fundamental philosophy in my office—we must really make America mighty from a military standpoint and at the same time keep a sound economy in the country," declared the defense mobilizer. Then he added firmly: "I believe it can be done."

Washington Pipeline

Presidential Assistant John Steelman may try to defy a Senate subpoena. He spurned an invitation from Ray Murdock, chief counsel for the Senate Labor-Management Subcommittee, to testify at the railroad hearing. When Murdock warned that a subpoena might be used, Steelman replied loftily: "When I act, it is the same as the President." . . . Committee members are at odds over prolonging the Senate hearing into "influence and favoritism" in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Subcommittee Chairman Fulbright of Arkansas is satisfied with President Truman's plan to reorganize the RFC and is willing to wind up the hearings. However, the Republicans, led by Senator Capehart of Indiana, hope to drag out the hearings another three months . . . Meanwhile, Fulbright has sounded out the President again on appointing Marriner Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board as the new RFC boss. Truman is sour on Eccles, has already turned down one Fulbright feeler. However, Fulbright has tried, again, pointing out this would be a good way for the President to remove Eccles from the Federal Reserve Board . . . Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson will not return to General Electric after the war. He has told senators that he is through with industry . . . The Army has secretly tested a new, 58-ton supertank, which will beat anything the Russians have. Can't go into details, but we've just okayed a $99,000,000 order . . . There's been a contest in Washington for the best song about the nation's capital. One entry is titled: "Deep in the Heart of Taxes."

The nation faces a critical shortage of public-school teachers next fall, because of increased student enrollments and the fact that many low-paid teachers will seek jobs in defense plants, where they can double their salaries . . . School superintendents report they are having difficulty getting teachers to renew one-year contracts expiring in June—Something Congress should start thinking about.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

WASHINGTON

THERE is a simple test of real importance of the crushing victory of General Ridgway's United Nations forces, which has been received with remarkable indifference in this country. The bloody failure of the Communist offensive in Korea markedly reduces the likelihood of an attack on Indo-China by the Chinese Communist "liberation army," organized for this purpose in South China.

This is not to say that the possibility of such an attack is now ruled out. French General De Lattre de Tassigny, commanding the French and loyal Indo-Chinese forces, has informed his government that he still rates the chances of a Chinese invasion at about even, and he is making his preparations accordingly.

Yet day by day, the Chinese Communists are being weakened in Korea. Day by day, the French and the Nationalist Indo Chinese forces are being strengthened in Indo-China. With every day that passes, the season of the low clouds called the "crachin," which conceals troop movements from air attack, is drawing to its close. In short, for Mao Tse-Tung and his Chinese Communist armies, time is running out.

There can be no serious doubt that an invasion of Indo-China was planned by the Chinese and their Russian senior partners up until very recently, whether or not these plans have now been abandoned. The evidence on this point is overwhelming: the organization of the 250,000-man "liberation Army" on the Indo-Chinese border, under a Sino-Soviet joint staff; the switch in the propaganda line of Indo-Chinese Communist chief Ho Chi Minh, stressing the glories of being "liberated" by the Chinese; the strategy agreed upon at the Peking meeting of Asiatic Communist leaders more than a year ago, calling for the "liberation by armed struggle" first of South Korea, then of Indo-China, then of all Southeast Asia.

While the United Nations forces were reeling back in Korea, this schedule must have seemed wholly practical. Indeed, the Communist delegate, General Wu, virtually announced in the United Nations that Indo-China was next on the list. Yet the schedule cannot seem so practical now, which is undoubtedly the mean reason for Mao Tse-Tung's reported mission to Moscow.

Internal Situation Changed

For one thing, De Lattre de Tassigny has transformed the internal situation. Far more politically astute than his colonial-minded predecessor, General Carpentier, De Lattre has repeated continuously that the French are now in Indo-China as allies rather than masters of the Indo-Chinese; and that French forces will depart as soon as the security of the new state is achieved. As a result, the Nationalist, anti-Communist forces, long dormant, are beginning to quicken into real life. The arming of a Nationalist Indo-Chinese Army is proceeding ahead of schedule.

Moreover, American supplies, including modern tanks and aircraft, are at last beginning to reach Indo-China in important quantities. Partly for this reason, De Lattre's forces have decisively defeated Ho Chi Minh's attempt to capture Hanoi and all north Indo-China. De Lattre now has a firm base in the Red River delta. Ho can continue to harrass the French and Nationalist forces, but he cannot now win decisively. He has almost certainly had his last chance.

Thus the local risk involved in a Chinese invasion of Indo-China is growing daily. So is the global risk. In the demoralized atmosphere pro-

Churchill Missed Point In Navy Command Blast

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Winston Churchill, usually well-informed, simply didn't have the facts when he stirred up in the House of Commons a flag-waving debate bemoaning the appointment of an American admiral to a post which the former British Prime Minister believed was to be a command over all the 12 navies of the North Atlantic Treaty countries.

Actually there is not to be any over-all naval commander at all, either now or in the future. The setup doesn't call for it. The official plan, carefully worked out by committees from the 12 governments during the last several weeks, calls for a supreme allied commander in Europe and that's General Eisenhower. His principal deputy or second in command is British General Montgomery. Whatever naval forces are utilized by General Eisenhower will be under his command along with all air forces and ground forces in Europe.

Will Be Under Eisenhower

There will be subordinate naval commanders in the European area working with General Eisenhower and doubtless a British admiral will command the ships of the British home fleet and any other allied units working in that particular vicinity.

There is as yet to be appointed a naval commander for the Mediterranean and another for the North Sea area. Perhaps two British admirals will command two of these three divisions. But both will be under General Eisenhower, anyway.

The command given to Admiral William M. Fechteler of the United States Navy, which was the subject of the Churchill blast, is to coordinate all naval operations in the Atlantic—that is, between this country and the waters immediately surrounding Europe. The area of this command ranges from our own Atlantic Coast northward along the Canadian Coast to Iceland and across to the Azores and other Portuguese islands. It does not include British home waters.

Admiral Fechteler will not report to or be a part of General Eisenhower's command. His headquarters will be at Norfolk, Va.—a better point than any place in Europe from which to watch Atlantic ocean operations apart from the immediate approaches to Europe. The Fechteler command will have primary responsibility for any anti-submarine campaign and the transport of troops to Europe.

As for the Mediterranean, it is unlikely that the American carrier task forces which are essential to that area's operations would be placed under the command of any British admiral. Unfortunately, Great Britain has not built up her carrier aviation and her commanders do not have the breadth of experience which American naval commanders got in carrier-based aviation during the last war.

Incidentally the professional servicemen of the 12 countries who have been mapping out the details of the various naval commands are working harmoniously together and, until the Churchill outburst, no problems of national pride had arisen to impair the practicability of the decisions made.

When Mr. Churchill asks "where is the British admiral?" he might have been asked in turn "and where are the British ships?" For it is a fact that since 1945 the British Navy has been starved by the labor government and, if he were looking for a basis for political attack, that subject might have been of more pertinent interest to the world than the protest about an over-all command appointment that hasn't been and never will be made. Incidentally, speaking of traditions, Mr. Churchill is a devoted friend of America but in his speech pointing to the "traditions" of the British Navy, he overlooked the fact that the American Navy isn't so lacking in "traditions" either, even going as far back as John Paul Jones, Commodore Perry, James Lawrence and Stephen Decatur.

Surely the British Government which is now relying on the United States Navy to police the seven seas is well aware, though maybe Mr. Churchill forgot it, that where there is power there must be commensurate responsibility. American seapower which today is basically airpower has in technical advancement gone far beyond those achievements of surface, undersea and air warfare which they pursued so gloriously when Mr. Churchill was prime Minister.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Grouping Of Nations

AWAR, such as the general war of 1939-45, does not readily subside. Those who expected peace to come like a rainbow after a storm have only had disappointment for their naive optimism.

The elimination of Japan as the prime power of Asia alone was sufficient to unsettle that continent and to keep it in chaos for a prolonged period. The competition between Soviet China and India for the succession to Japan's position will increase the confusion on that continent beyond anything that is clearly visible at this moment.

The organization of the United Nations in 1945 solved no major problem. The first error in relation to the United Nations was its formation prior to a peace treaty. This alone could be responsible for the failure to write a peace treaty. Also the United Nations charter contains inherent weaknesses, such as the veto, the separation of authorities (of substance and procedure) between the General Assembly and the Security Council. But the most telling error of all is the fact that all nations are not automatically members of the United Nations.

If UN is to be a parliament of nations, upon what just grounds could any nation be omitted?

The absurdity becomes more apparent when we note that Ireland is not a member, but the Ukraine, which is only a province, is a member. If the Ukraine is a member, why not the Turkmen Soviet Socialist Republic? And if the Ukraine, why not Spain?

The fact is that Mr. Roosevelt, who, at Yalta, assisted by Harry Hopkins and Alger Hiss, established the basis for the United Nations conference, never understood the nature of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics or its even broader form, the Third International, alias comintern, alias cominform, alias the Federation of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Therefore, within the United Nations, but even more effectively outside it, are a group of countries that belong to a world union at the head of which stands Soviet Russia and whose central authority is in the Kremlin. These nations include Soviet Russia, Rumania, Poland, Bulgaria, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Eastern Germany, Mongolia, China (including Manchuria), North Korea, Viet Minh, Tibet. This union of states expects to make conquests in Burma this summer.

This is one of the most powerful groupings of states in history, embracing at least 800,000,000 human beings. It is policed by a vast Soviet army which is not only well-equipped but is extraordinarily mobile. It is also policed by an espionage service which includes national Communist parties in every country on earth, but all reporting to the Kremlin.

The Commonwealth of Nations is what remains of the British Empire. This is an amazing institution because it is strictly voluntary, unpoliced, uncoerced. No country need remain in membership in the commonwealth unless it wants to.

In April, 1949, the prime ministers of the Commonwealth countries —United Kingdom, Canada (minister external affairs), Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon — made it possible for India to remain with the Commonwealth and yet be republican, the Indian government stipulating the king as "the symbol of the free association of its independent member nations, and as such the head of the Commonwealth." In a word, India is part of the Commonwealth, but there is no longer an emperor.

This voluntary union of independent countries does hold together in a surprising fashion. Within the United Nations the Commonwealth countries have shown a surprising cohesion — the more astonishing as no one of these countries is bound by the decisions of any other. It is an experiment in voluntary association which may restore the responsibility of the British Empire without the employment of authority.

Another grouping of nations is the Arab League. This is a loose association of Moslem states which has no authority and actually no international existence and yet possesses a moral importance wherever there are Moslems — from the North Coast of Africa, across

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotional

WITH A SINFUL WOMAN

John 8:11 (K. J. V.).
Read verses 1-11.

"Grant us the understanding of broken lives and how to heal them." Thus runs a petition of a prayer. There are broken lives and most of us are too clumsy in our efforts to bind them together.

I once had occasion to consult a Salvation Army colonel in regard to the disposition of an illegitimate child. She knew every seamy side of life, the gross sins and the sins of respectability. She said, "I have seen sins far more heinous than the sins of this child's mother. I advised the young mother to take the child with her and face the world." Then with withering scorn, yet not without humor, she called my attention to the twenty-third chapter of Matthew's Gospel. Those who "love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues . . ." "Ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgement, mercy, and faith." Would that the Church and her ministry might learn where Jesus let his judgment fall, and that truth alone is the judge.

Let Us Pray: Forgive us, Lord, for our unkindness, our unholy judgments, and our self - righteousness. Grant us the understanding of broken lives and how to heal them. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Md. House Votes Two-Term Limit For Presidents

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 26 (AP)—The House of Delegates voted tonight to ratify a constitutional amendment limiting the president to two elective terms in the White House.

However, the question had become academic less than two hours before, when Nevada became the 36th state to ratify the 22nd amendment, making it a part of the Constitution.

The Maryland House approved the amendment by an 84-27 roll call. It now goes to the State Senate.

During a short debate preceding the vote, Delegate Sklar (D-Balto 4th) in urging defeat of the resolution, declared:

"This third term question should be left to the people to decide by vote, if and when it arises again.

"There may come a time when the country should not be deprived of the services of a man the people might need."

And in arguing for passage, Delegate Pumphrey (D-Prince George's), asserted:

"If and when the United States becomes dependent on the services of one man, you will no longer have a democracy."

It was Pumphrey who broke the news to the delegates that the amendment had already received the approval of three-fourth of the states.

Meanwhile, the Senate was approving a bill to grant 29 state scholarships to the University of Maryland medical school. State senators, with the exception of those in Baltimore and Montgomery Counties, would select the students to receive them. The other two counties would leave it up in the college board of admissions to choose the scholarship students from their subdivisions.

Each student would get free tuition, books and laboratory expenses, plus $500 a year for living expenses.

The bill now goes to the House

With exception of the presidential tenure resolution, the delegates sidestepped all but one other controversial issue on its agenda for the night.

After a short flurry of debate, the delegates killed a bill which would have required the managers of parimutuel departments at the various race tracks to be residents of Maryland.

The vote was 88-25 to uphold the unfavorable report on the bill by the Ways and Means Committee.

If was taken after Delegate Buffington (D-Balto 3rd) announced he will introduce substitute legislation within the next few days.

Committee Approves Rent Law Extension

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A three-month, stopgap extension of the federal rent control law, under which rents on some 7,000,000 homes are controlled, was approved today by the Senate Banking Committee.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), committee chairman, said hearings would be held meanwhile on the question, of what longer term-controls would be needed in view of the defense program.

Existing law provides that federal controls shall expire March 31, except in communities which decide to continue them. Communities so deciding may remain under federal ceilings until June 30.

Louis, Charles Fight Slated For Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 26— (INS) —Joe Louis tonight was reported slated for a second chance to regain the heavyweight championship April 11 at the Chicago Stadium in a 15-round match with Champion Ezzard Charles.

The Chicago Herald-American said that only a few minor details remained to be completed. Louis, Marshall Miles, his manager, and Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club were said to have reached the agreement in a conference today.

Largest Of Quadruplets Taken From Incubator

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26 (AP) —Richard, the largest of the Pappas quadruplets, was taken out of his incubator and given over to his 28-year-old mother for feeding today.

The other three still are being kept in incubators, but the oxygen has been shut off. Dr. Gibson J. Wells of the hospital staff said the incubators are merely being used as cribs "more for convenience than anything else."

All four lost from two to three onces at the daily weigh-in today, but Dr. Wells assuringly said that is perfectly natural, since new babies are never fed for 24 hours after birth.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP) —Mrs. Lawrence Kology is taking down the Christmas tree she had kept on her sun porch since December 25.

She had hoped her thrice wounded son, Pvt. Robert Kology, 18, would get home from Korea to see it and his presents underneath it.

Today she received word from the Army Robert had died of his wounds.

A unit of the Atlantic Fleet, the carrier was temporarily assigned to Task Force 77. She will enter the naval shipyard at Norfolk for repairs in the near future.

Attlee Supports Adm. Fechteler

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee firmly supported today the appointment of U. S. Adm. William N. Fechteler as supreme naval commander for the North Atlantic.

He told the House of Commons a Briton will exercise operational control in the Eastern Atlantic area—the waters of greatest importance to this island nation.

Stung by the questions of Conservatives, the Laborite Prime Minister suggested the outcry raised in Britain over Fechteler's forthcoming appointment was not helping solve the involved command problems of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill made it plain Attlee had not heard the last of this question. Conservative dissatisfaction was not put at rest by Attlee's declaration that the present setup was designed to get quick deployment of naval forces to danger spots in time of war. The speaker ended questioning under a House rule before complete elaboration of the question was made.

Crisis Rocks German Communist Party

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—The worst crisis since the end of the war burst upon the West German Communist Party today.

Three of 11 state party chairmen have been fired. A good sized purification of party ranks is in the offing following a Munich conference of "Bolshevik criticism and self criticism" this week. More heads will roll in the wake of the conferences, Allied intelligence officers said.

The West Germany party's woes are symptomatic of a growing Europe-wide Communist ailment which is causing an apparently continuous purge.

Chubby Women To Reduce For Benefit Of British TV

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A former burlesque girl grown chubby and a housewife with a similar plight will start melting away for the benefit of their waistlines and British television viewers tomorrow.

They'll go on a special diet, 1,000 calories a day, and every two weeks will appear on television to show what progress is being made. The viewers will be able to judge for themselves as the pair stand before photographic cutouts made at the previous showing.

In three months, the former burlesque girl, Averil Ames, hopes to trim down from her present 196 pounds to 136. The housewife, Mrs. Charlotte Black, 49, wants to weigh in at 140 instead of her present 186.

The non-commercial British Broadcasting Corporation thinks the three-month stunt should attract about a million new women viewers from Britain's women with similar desires to reduce. The BBC also expects a few masculine eyes to tune in as the experiment progresses and the subjects acquire more sightly waistlines.

The diet involves no exercise. It just limits dieters to 1,000 calories a day from a special list of foods.

The doctor who selected Miss Ames and Mrs. Black from a list of 200 candidates says the diet simply amounts to "taking in less energy than you use."

Miss Ames, now a musical comedy actress, blames her present figure on Italian food. In an eight-month tour of Italy, she said, she gained 56 pounds.

Mrs. Black, a housewife and mother of four, offered no reason for the shape she's in.

Super-Carrier Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Legislation to authorize the building of the world's largest known aircraft carrier cleared Congress and was sent to the White House today.

The proposed 60,000-ton behemoth would be capable of launching long-range planes carrying atomic bombs.

By a voice vote the Senate concluded Congressional action on a $2,358,000,000 Navy construction bill, which includes the carrier. The bill cleared the House in the same form.

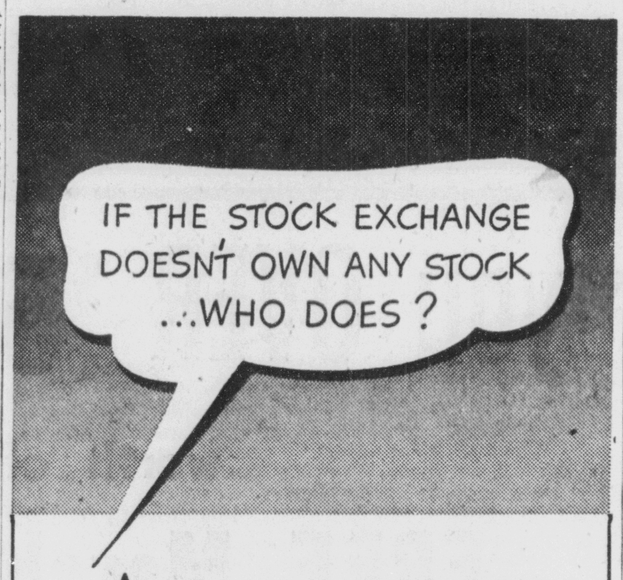
Under terms of the bill, the Navy will build 140 new major vessels and modernize 292 existing ships with the latest type of weapons.

Freak Hen Lays Two Eggs A Day

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 26 (AP) — The state "Chicken of Tomorrow" committee—which aims at better chickens by ordinary means—heard of a hen today who has the same idea.

A Rhode Island red, owned by Mrs. Minnie Wells of West Liberty, has been laying two eggs a day for more than a month. The hen has two egg-laying outlets.

"We're licked," said Committee Member B. P. Sandles.



A long time ago a lot of folks had the idea all stocks were owned by a fistful of rich people.

Maybe that idea was right once.

Today's estimates of how many people own stocks range up to 15,000,000. All kinds of people own stocks. Office workers . . . housewives . . . mechanics . . . school teachers . . . lawyers . . . storekeepers . . . farmers. Everyday people with small incomes and large. Owning stock is owning a "piece of a business"—risking one's money to share in the profits.

You may even own stock indirectly—whether you know it or not. Most companies issuing fire and casualty insurance, as well as many pension funds, invest a part of their resources in the stocks of American industry.

What some people do not know is that the Stock Exchange does not buy or sell stocks. It doesn't put the price tag on them, either. The Exchange does provide a market place where people can buy or sell securities. The Exchange does see that prices are arrived at openly and fairly and published promptly.

The handling of investors' orders to buy or sell a few shares or hundreds is the day-to-day business of member firms of the Exchange. Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, can always be had at their offices, without obligation.

Election Inquiry Resumes Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee resumes hearings Tuesday on the Maryland senatorial campaign with a Baltimore printer as the first witness.

The printer, William Fedder, is expected to testify concerning charges made by former Sen. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, the Fedder was threatened by supporters of Sen. Butler (R-Md).

Tydings, in outlining charges that "lies" and a "faked" photograph were used by Butler campaign workers last year, said Fedder was taken on a midnight ride.

Threats were made, Tydings said, in an effort to recover a letter "in which Butler guaranteed personally the payment of approximately $12,000 of printing bills owed to Fedder."

"It was evident," Tydings said, "that this letter, verifying a breach of the law, was to be recaptured at all hazards."

Tydings charged that both federal and Maryland laws were violated by the Butler forces failing to account for some of the campaign expenses.

Butler, who defeated the veteran Tydings in the November election, has disclaimed responsibility for the circulation of the protested literature and picture.

Counsel for the group announced today after a closed session that full day sessions are planned Tuesday through Thursday for the first batch of witnesses.

One of these witnesses, Miss Jean Kerr, legislative aide to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), has advised the committee she will be unable to appear at this time because of a fractured hip, counsel said.

Altar Boy Fatally Injured By Stone

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26 (AP)—Roland Satterfield, 11-year-old altar boy struck by a stone on his way home from church, died today of an intercranial hemmorhage.

The boy was returning from nearby St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church.

Md. House Votes Two-Term Limit For Presidents

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 26 (AP)—The House of Delegates voted tonight to ratify a constitutional amendment limiting the president to two elective terms in the White House.

However, the question had become academic less than two hours before, when Nevada became the 36th state to ratify the 22nd amendment, making it a part of the Constitution.

The Maryland House approved the amendment by an 84-27 roll call. It now goes to the State Senate.

During a short debate preceding the vote, Delegate Sklar (D-Balto 4th) in urging defeat of the resolution, declared:

"This third term question should be left to the people to decide by vote, if and when it arises again.

"There may come a time when the country should not be deprived of the services of a man the people might need."

And in arguing for passage, Delegate Pumphrey (D-Prince George's), asserted:

"If and when the United States becomes dependent on the services of one man, you will no longer have a democracy."

It was Pumphrey who broke the news to the delegates that the amendment had already received the approval of three-fourth of the states.

Meanwhile, the Senate was approving a bill to grant 29 state scholarships to the University of Maryland medical school. State senators, with the exception of those in Baltimore and Montgomery Counties, would select the students to receive them. The other two counties would leave it up in the college board of admissions to choose the scholarship students from their subdivisions.

Each student would get free tuition, books and laboratory expenses, plus $500 a year for living expenses.

The bill now goes to the House

With exception of the presidential tenure resolution, the delegates sidestepped all but one other controversial issue on its agenda for the night.

After a short flurry of debate, the delegates killed a bill which would have required the managers of parimutuel departments at the various race tracks to be residents of Maryland.

The vote was 88-25 to uphold the unfavorable report on the bill by the Ways and Means Committee.

If was taken after Delegate Buffington (D-Balto 3rd) announced he will introduce substitute legislation within the next few days.

Committee Approves Rent Law Extension

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A three-month, stopgap extension of the federal rent control law, under which rents on some 7,000,000 homes are controlled, was approved today by the Senate Banking Committee.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), committee chairman, said hearings would be held meanwhile on the question of what longer term-controls would be needed in view of the defense program.

Existing law provides that federal controls shall expire March 31, except in communities which decide to continue them. Communities so deciding may remain under federal ceilings until June 30.

Louis, Charles Fight Slated For Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 26— (INS) —Joe Louis tonight was reported slated for a second chance to regain the heavyweight championship April 11 at the Chicago Stadium in a 15-round match with Champion Ezzard Charles.

The Chicago Herald-American said that only a few minor details remained to be completed. Louis, Marshall Miles, his manager, and Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club were said to have reached the agreement in a conference today.

Largest Of Quadruplets Taken From Incubator

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26 (AP) — Richard, the largest of the Pappas quadruplets, was taken out of his incubator and given over to his 28-year-old mother for feeding today.

The other three still are being kept in incubators, but the oxygen has been shut off. Dr. Gibson J. Wells of the hospital staff said the incubators are merely being used as cribs "more for convenience than anything else."

All four lost from two to three onces at the daily weigh-in today, but Dr. Wells assuringly said that is perfectly natural, since new babies are never fed for 24 hours after birth.

Won't See Yule Tree

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP) —Mrs. Lawrence Kology is taking down the Christmas tree she had kept on her sun porch since December 25.

She had hoped her thrice wounded son, Pvt. Robert Kology, 18, would get home from Korea to see it and his presents underneath it.

Today she received word from the Army Robert had died of his wounds.

BIG CARRIER BACK FROM KOREA—With white hats spelling her name on the flight deck, the USS Leyte, 27,000-ton Essex class carrier, returns to Norfolk, Va., after service in waters around Korea. A unit of the Atlantic Fleet, the carrier was temporarily assigned to Task Force 77. She will enter the naval shipyard at Norfolk for repairs in the near future.

Attlee Supports Adm. Fechteler

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee firmly supported today the appointment of U. S. Adm. William N. Fechteler as supreme naval commander for the North Atlantic.

He told the House of Commons a Briton will exercise operational control in the Eastern Atlantic area—the waters of greatest importance to this island nation.

Stung by the questions of Conservatives, the Laborite Prime Minister suggested the outcry raised in Britain over Fechteler's forthcoming appointment was not helping solve the involved command problems of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill made it plain Attlee had not heard the last of this question. Conservative dissatisfaction was not put at rest by Attlee's declaration that the present setup was designed to get quick deployment of naval forces to danger spots in time of war. The speaker ended questioning under a House rule before complete elaboration of the question was made.

Crisis Rocks German Communist Party

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—The worst crisis since the end of the war burst upon the West German Communist Party today.

Three of 11 state party chairmen have been fired. A good sized purification of party ranks is in the offing following a Munich conference of "Bolshevik criticism and self criticism" this week. More heads will roll in the wake of the conferences, Allied intelligence officers said.

The West Germany party's woes are symptomatic of a growing Europe-wide Communist ailment which is causing an apparently continuous purge.

Chubby Women To Reduce For Benefit Of British TV

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A former burlesque girl grown chubby and a housewife with a similar plight will start melting away for the benefit of their waistlines and British television viewers tomorrow.

They'll go on a special diet, 1,000 calories a day, and every two weeks will appear on television to show what progress is being made. The viewers will be able to judge for themselves as the pair stand before photographic cutouts made at the previous showing.

In three months, the former burlesque girl, Averil Ames, hopes to trim down from her present 196 pounds to 136. The housewife, Mrs. Charlotte Black, 49, wants to weigh in at 140 instead of her present 186.

The non-commercial British Broadcasting Corporation thinks the three-month stunt should attract about a million new women viewers from Britain's women with similar desires to reduce. The BBC also expects a few masculine eyes to tune in as the experiment progresses and the subjects acquire more sightly waistlines.

The diet involves no exercise. It just limits dieters to 1,000 calories a day from a special list of foods.

The doctor who selected Miss Ames and Mrs. Black from a list of 200 candidates says the diet simply amounts to "taking in less energy than you use."

Miss Ames, now a musical comedy actress, blames her present figure on Italian food. In an eight-month tour of Italy, she said, she gained 56 pounds.

Mrs. Black, a housewife and mother of four, offered no reason for the shape she's in.

Super-Carrier Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Legislation to authorize the building of the world's largest known aircraft carrier cleared Congress and was sent to the White House today.

The proposed 60,000-ton behemoth would be capable of launching long-range planes carrying atomic bombs.

By a voice vote the Senate concluded Congressional action on a $2,358,000,000 Navy construction bill, which includes the carrier. The bill cleared the House in the same form.

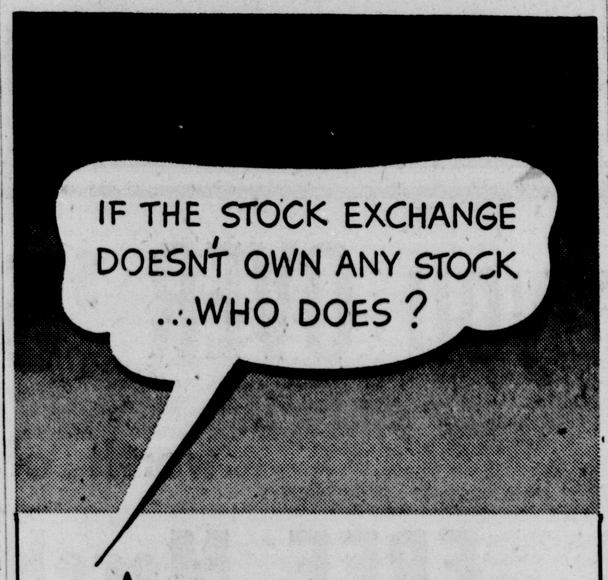
Under terms of the bill, the Navy will build 140 new major vessels and modernize 292 existing ships with the latest type of weapons.

Freak Hen Lays Two Eggs A Day

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 26 (AP) — The state "Chicken of Tomorrow" committee—which aims at better chickens by ordinary means—heard of a hen today who has the same idea.

A Rhode Island red, owned by Mrs. Minnie Wells of West Liberty, has been laying two eggs a day for more than a month. The hen has two egg-laying outlets.

"We're licked," said Committee Member B. P. Sandles.



A long time ago a lot of folks had the idea all stocks were owned by a fistful of rich people.

Maybe that idea was right once.

Today's estimates of how many people own stocks range up to 15,000,000. All kinds of people own stocks. Office workers . . . housewives . . . mechanics . . . school teachers . . . lawyers . . . storekeepers . . . farmers. Everyday people with small incomes and large. Owning stock is owning a "piece of a business"—risking one's money to share in the profits.

You may even own stock indirectly—whether you know it or not. Most companies issuing fire and casualty insurance, as well as many pension funds, invest a part of their resources in the stocks of American industry.

What some people do not know is that the Stock Exchange does not buy or sell stocks. It doesn't put the price tag on them, either. The Exchange does provide a market place where people can buy or sell securities. The Exchange does see that prices are arrived at openly and fairly and published promptly.

The handling of investors' orders to buy or sell a few shares or hundreds is the day-to-day business of member firms of the Exchange. Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, can always be had at their offices, without obligation.

Election Inquiry Resumes Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee resumes hearings Tuesday on the Maryland senatorial campaign with a Baltimore printer as the first witness.

The printer, William Fedder, is expected to testify concerning charges made by former Sen. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, the Fedder was threatened by supporters of Sen. Butler (R-Md).

Tydings, in outlining charges that "lies" and a "faked" photograph were used by Butler campaign workers last year, said Fedder was taken on a midnight ride.

Threats were made, Tydings said, in an effort to recover a letter "in which Butler guaranteed personally the payment of approximately $12,000 of printing bills owed to Fedder."

"It was evident," Tydings said, "that this letter, verifying a breach of the law, was to be recaptured at all hazards."

Tydings charged that both federal and Maryland laws were violated by the Butler forces failing to account for some of the campaign expenses.

Butler, who defeated the veteran Tydings in the November election, has disclaimed responsibility for the circulation of the protested literature and picture.

Counsel for the group announced today after a closed session that full day sessions are planned Tuesday through Thursday for the first batch of witnesses.

One of these witnesses, Miss Jean Kerr, legislative aide to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), has advised the committee she will be unable to appear at this time because of a fractured hip, counsel said.

High Court Upholds State Railroad Tax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld a Maryland tax on money earned in that state by railroads in transporting exported and imported goods.

The Western Maryland Railway Company and the Canton Railroad Company contested the levy. Canton operates a marine terminal and connecting rail lines in Baltimore.

Justice Douglas delivered the 7-0 ruling. Chief Justice Vinson took no part. Justice Jackson reserved his decision, saying he fears the majority ruling may be found to be "untenable."

Altar Boy Fatally Injured By Stone

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26 (AP)—Roland Satterfield, 11-year-old altar boy struck by a stone on his way home from church, died today of an intercranial hemmorhage.

Police said he was an innocent victim of a neighborhood pitched battle involving several other boys. Roland suffered a head injury while passing a northeast Baltimore public square where the fight was in progress last night, they said.

The boy was returning from nearby St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church.

Rogers Explains His Vote On Tax

KEYSER, W. Va.—John I. Rogers, Mineral County's Republican member of the West Virginia House of Delegates, voted against the bill to impose an excise tax upon the sale, use, handling or distribution of bottled soft drinks and soft drink syrup.

Rogers refused to vote for the bill because he said it was pushed as a vehicle with which to raise funds for the building of a medical school in the state.

"The Medical School," he said in his explanation of his vote in the House, "has been a foremost topic in West Virginia for better than two years. The Legislature failed to establish the school in 1949, when the money was then available in a huge waiting surplus. x x x To me it is a folly to impose a new tax on an already heavily burdened people for any purpose when the objective of that purpose has not been established.

"I know that the funds realized from the tax would be earmarked for the Medical School." But let's not forget Barboursville and Old Sweet Springs. If this session should fail to establish the Medical School, the 1953 session could then legally do as it saw fit with the funds. The chances, under this procedure are very great for selling the people of West Virginia short.

"Good faith and mutual trust would have first established the Medical School and then imposed the necessary tax."

Rogers Explains His Vote On Tax

KEYSER, W. Va.—John I. Rogers, Mineral County's Republican member of the West Virginia House of Delegates, voted against the bill to impose an excise tax upon the sale, use, handling or distribution of bottled soft drinks and soft drink syrup.

Rogers refused to vote for the bill because he said it was pushed as a vehicle with which to raise funds for the building of a medical school in the state.

"The Medical School," he said in his explanation of his vote in the House, "has been a foremost topic in West Virginia for better than two years. The Legislature failed to establish the school in 1949, when the money was then available in a huge waiting surplus. x x x To me it is a folly to impose a new tax on an already heavily burdened people for any purpose when the objective of that purpose has not been established.

"I know that the funds realized from the tax would be earmarked for the Medical School." But let's not forget Barboursville and Old Sweet Springs. If this session should fail to establish the Medical School, the 1953 session could then legally do as it saw fit with the funds. The chances, under this procedure are very great for selling the people of West Virginia short.

"Good faith and mutual trust would have first established the Medical School and then imposed the necessary tax."

Korean War Dead To Be Added To City Honor Roll

Names of Allegany county soldiers making the supreme sacrifice in Korea will be placed on a special section to the war memorial honor roll in City Hall, Thomas F. Conlon, chairman, said yesterday morning.

Conlon said a meeting of the committee will be called soon to arrange for the special section.

The local committee, as well as similar groups in other towns, had been faced with the question of what to do about the honor roll since this country is not, officially, at war in Korea.

It appears that only the names of those killed will be placed on the honor roll. No plans have been made to put the names of draftees, enlistees or Reservists called to duty on the roll.

Available, unofficial records here list 15 men killed in service from the county.

Conlon urged that families send names of soldiers killed in Korea to him at the Post Office. He said letters may be addressed "Postmaster, Cumberland, Md."

Sharp Drop Shown In January Building

February building expenditures took a sharp drop—especially in new construction, the city engineer's office reported yesterday.

Records for the month show only four permits granted. One for $100 to erect a billboard, was the only new construction listed. The other three were for additions and improvements totalling $45,550 or an overall $45,650 for the period.

This compares with $130,535 in February a year ago when ten permits were issued for new construction and 12 for additions and improvements. New construction a year ago was $71,850.

The February report also dropped far below that of January this year when the expenditure estimates totaled $96,760. This included six permits for new construction at estimated costs of $75,200.

Five applications for occupancy permits were filed at the office this month. Three were granted outright and two referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals. They are pending.

Three Suspended Officers Are Discharged From Force

Three probationary members of the Cumberland Police Department have been notified by mail that they have been discharged for "conduct unbecoming an officer."

The three men, Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller, were indefinitely suspended from the force January 30 as a result of an incident at the Midway Inn on McMullen Highway early the morning of Sunday, January 28.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn sent out the letters of discharge after granting the men time to apply to the Civil Service Commission for a hearing in the case. Upon expiration of the time limit and the failure of the men to ask for a hearing they were ordered discharged formally.

The three men were at the inn and as the result of a fracas involving William Shumaker, 322 Henderson Avenue, a warrant was sworn out against Frankfort. At a hearing in Trial Magistrates' Court, Frankfort was found guilty of assaulting Shumaker and given 30 days in the county jail. He appealed the sentence.

Shumaker, who said he was struck with a blackjack, was treated at Memorial Hospital for head lacerations. The three probationary officers were off duty at the time of the alleged blackjacking.

Frankfort joined the Police Department September 21, 1950. Browning became a probationary officer August 16, 1950, and Miller was accepted July 3, 1950.

Barons Seek A-A Berth

By C. V. BURNS

The playoff game on Thursday night at Beall High School between Barton and Fort Hill for the W.M.I. League championship is the 7th in the circuit's 31-year history.

There was a playoff for the crown the first year the league functioned (1921) and it was a three-cornered affair with Beall High winning out over Allegany and Barton.

Allegany eliminated LaSalle in 1931, the Campers put Penn Avenue out of the running in 1934, Central of Lonaconing kayoed Allegany in 1943 and Fort Hill whipped Allegany in 1948.

AHS has won 17 W.M.I. League titles, Fort Hill has bagged four, Barton three (1923, 1925 and 1926), Beall and Penn Avenue, two each, LaSalle and Central, one each.

John Thomas, coach of Barton High School, is a son of Carson Thomas, and a nephew of Dave Thomas, one of the smartest all-around athletes developed at Barton High in the days when Benny Artigiani turned out winning soccer teams and Art Slocum mentored the championship basketball teams.

Dave, incidentally, was a forward on the last Barton team that won a W.M.I. League championship in 1926. Other members of that squad 25 years ago were Dave Smith, Ernie Schramm, Karl Schramm, Harrison Schramm, Vernon O'Neill, Charley Logdson and Bradley.

Wonder what's become of Bob Smith, who used to diagram the plays on a mirror in his barber shop for the Barton High teams of a quarter of a century ago? He was the best pepper-upper and cheer leader Barton ever had.

He'd betcha every time the old champs went to the post.

Almost unnoticed was the stellar performance of Johnny Bender on Sunday, February 18, when he spilled 606 pins in the afternoon and 715 at night in a pair of City Duckpin League matches.

The 715 is the second highest set ever recorded in the city circuit. Lou Bell's 738 of two years ago is tops.

Bender's 715 came in a match that saw Spa Bar sweep three games from the Savoy.

That was quite a coincidence Saturday when a story appeared in this paper about Elmer Daily keeping the Middle Atlantic League together — then Johnstown dropped out of the circuit the same evening.

Johnstown has been the backbone of the circuit for many years and it looks like the league's shot now.

Johnstown, Wheeling, Fairmont, Clarksburg and Cumberland were the league's five charter members in 1925. Scottdale became the 6th team in July.

Holly Mims, Washington, D. C. middleweight, who won a split decision over Marion Klingensmith, the Brownsville (Pa.) cop, in a show promoted here by Vic Ricker on April 25, 1949, is matched with Sugar Robinson in a non-title scrap in Miami, Fla., March 8.

Mims and Klingensmith appeared on the card here headed by Herbie "Biff" Jones and Al Gaultiere.

The 23-year-old capital city negro has lost only four in 48 professional matches.

Ed White, manager and coach of the Wilkes-Barre Club, formerly of the American Basketball League, would like to get into the All-American League next year and he is certain several other clubs in the anthracite coal region will follow suit.

White informs us that he is going to contact Mike Valan and talk over the matter with him.

Wilkes-Barre has a population of 76,638 and is a basketball hotbed.

Erie is the largest city in the A-A now with a population of 130,125 followed by Altoona 76,844, Wheeling 58,447, Cumberland 37,632 and Beaver Falls 17,335.

The only thing that would work against the admission of Wilkes-Barre to the circuit is the milage and the long trip involved in going to and from the home of the Coal Barons.

James J. O'Connor, former police magistrate, and co-owner of the Wheeling Baseball Club when it was first organized in the Middle Atlantic League in 1925, died last week at his home in Pittsburgh.

Mr. O'Connor was an associate of Richard "Dick" Guy in the Middle Atlantic League days at Wheeling and two of his five sons—Jimmie and Regis—played on the Wheeling team with such well known stars as Art and Dan Rooney (now Father Silas, director of athletics at St. Bonaventure College, New York), Pete Kilday, Jack Cummings Harold King and "Dutch" Carpenter. Dan Rooney later played with the Cumberland Colts—the 1926 team that Pat Ragan managed.

Surviving Mr. O'Connor are five sons, three daughters, two brothers and two sisters.

Walter E. Woodson, Jr., better known in the sporting world as "Woody" Woodson, is to wed next month. The lucky bride-elect is Patricia Jean Burkett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burkett, this city.

"Woody" was the ace pitcher of the Westvaco baseball team last season and has been coaching Bruce High basketball, soccer and baseball teams since 1949.

He's one of the nicest fellows we know in the high school coaching profession.

Pep was scheduled to meet Marvin Ford of Charlotte, N. C., in the 10-round main event at Legion Coliseum but Ford could not make the weight. Hogan, who hails from New Orleans, La., was substituted in a last-minute switch.

Hogan weighed 134 pounds and Pep, 128½.

Bradley Tops Aggies

Kentucky Holds Firmly To Lead In College Poll

Illinois Jumps From Tenth To 6th Place

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Illinois, battling for the Big Ten championship, made the largest stride this week in the Associated Press basketball poll which is still dominated by mighty Kentucky.

The Illini, who took over the Big Ten lead with a 71-65 victory over Indiana last Monday, jumped from tenth place to sixth, replacing St. Louis, which fell four notches.

Kentucky, loser of only one game in 25, held firm to the No. 1 position, followed again by Oklahoma A. and M. (25-1) and Columbia (19-0), the only major unbeaten team in the country.

Then in order came Kansas State (18-3), Bradley (26-4), Illinois (17-3), Indiana (16-3), North Carolina State (25-4), St. Johns (20-3) and St. Louis (20-6).

The final poll will be conducted next week, when most of the regular season schedules are completed. Bradley was No. 1 in the final poll last year.

Get 75 First Places

Kentucky, which has clinched a spot in the NCAA tournament opening March 20 by taking the Southeastern Conference crown, drew 75 first place votes from the 165 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the latest poll.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats amassed a total of 1,221 points, which are awarded on the basis of ten for a first place vote, nine for second and so forth.

The Oklahoma Aggies, who can clinch a tie for the Missouri Valley championship with one more victory, drew 28 first place votes and total of 954 points.

Columbia is riding herd in the Ivy League and needs to beat only Pennsylvania March 3 or Princeton March 7 to gain the league title and automatic entrance to the national tournament, where its deportment will be watched with interest.

Bradley Cagers Gain

Kansas State, leader of the Big Seven Conference, moved up one notch from last week. Bradley climbed two, apparently on the strength of its 97-65 walloping of St. Louis last Tuesday.

Indiana fell from fourth to seventh. North Carolina State, top favorite in the Southern Conference tournament at Raleigh, N. C., this week-end, moved up a peg from ninth, swapping places with St. Johns.

St. Louis has clung doggedly to the top ten despite six defeats. Voters still remember that it was St. Louis which gave Kentucky its only setback—a 43-42 overtime defeat at New Orleans' Sugar Bowl back in December.

Here are the leaders with first place votes and season's records through Sunday night games in parenthese (points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first vote, nine for second, etc.) :

Sugar Robinson To Defend Crown At Paris In May

French Cancer Society To Get $25,000 Purse

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Ray Robinson, the boxing idol of Europe, today announced he will defend his newly won crown in Paris this May with his entire purse of about $25,000 going to the Cancer Society of France.

The 30-year-old Harlem Dandy said he will receive one franc (about ¼ American cent) for meeting Kid Marcel, 34-year-old French middleweight champion, in a 15-rounder in the Palace of Sports sometime between May 14 and 20.

Manager George Gainford said Sugar Ray was asked to appear by Madame Vincent Auriol, wife of the French president. Madame Auriol is head of the French Cancer Society.

"Ray is very happy to oblige," said Gainford. "Ray will get just one franc plus one way transportation for four. But that's all. We will pay our own way back. We may take several other fights over there as long as we're there."

Asked how this would affect his contracted return bout with Jake LaMotta, who lost his middleweight crown to Robinson in Chicago Feb. 14, Gainford said "Robinson will fight LaMotta any time.

"He'll get the return bout if he wants," added the broadbeamed manager.

Fighting for nothing is not new with Robinson. He put his welterweight title on the line last August for $1 when he defeated Charlie Fusari in Jersey City. The champ's purse of over $25,000 was donated to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Robinson and his party will sail on April 25, said Gainford.

The clever negro, rated as one of the all-time greats in boxing, is tremendously popular in Europe. Continental and English sports writers used all of their superlatives to describe his conquests of five fighters in a month's tour last November and December.

Hyndman Retains Interstate Berth

Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hyndman, Pa., has voted to retain its franchises in the Interstate Baseball League which will function with six teams this year.

The other clubs holding franchise in the circuit headed by John J. Long are Centerville, 1950 champions, Romney, Moorefield, Cumberland Moose and Cumberland Black Sox.

Announcement of Hyndman remaining in the league was made by Roy Crites, league secretary.

NBA To Regard Fusari-Bratton Victor As Champ

Fight Set March 14 In Chicago Stadium

HAGERSTOWN, Ind., Feb. 26 (AP)—The aspirants to the vacant welterweight boxing title began to queue up today and there was some shoving by one in the rear.

Arch Hindman of Hagerstown president of the National Boxing Association, announced the NBA, with some strings attached, would recognize the winner of the forthcoming Johnny Bratton - Charley Fusari bout as the welterweight champ.

The Bratton-Fusari bout at 15 rounds is set for the Chicago Stadium March 14.

Hindman said the NBA would give recognition to the winner provided that he box Kid Gavilan of Cuba within 45 days on equal financial terms and post "a substantial part of the purse" as a guarantee to defend the title against the Cuban.

The NBA also will require, Hindman said, that the winner of the bout with Gavilan guarantee to box Eddie Thomas, the European welterweight champion, within three months.

The NBA last Dec. 26 ranked the outstanding welterweights in this order: Robinson, then the champion; Gavilan, Billy Graham, Fusari and Thomas. But a month later at Indianapolis it moved Bratton into the picture.

Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said there should be a series of elimination bouts to select a new welter champion and he assured Graham he would have to be included in the elimination tourney.

Hindman, however, said Graham has been dropped in the NBA rankings because of defeats by both Gavilan and Thomas.

Ninth Player Is Seized In Basketball Scandal

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced tonight the arrest of another former Long Island University basketball player, the ninth player to be seized in the growing basketball bribe scandal.

The District Attorney said he was Nathan "Natie" Miller, 25, of Brooklyn, who was graduated from LIU in 1948.

7th Playoff For Title

The playoff game on Thursday night at Beall High School between Barton and Fort Hill for the W.M.I. League championship is the 7th in the circuit's 31-year history.

There was a playoff for the crown the first year the league functioned (1921) and it was a three-cornered affair with Beall High winning out over Allegany and Barton.

Allegany eliminated LaSalle in 1931, the Campers put Penn Avenue out of the running in 1934, Central of Lonaconing kayoed Allegany in 1943 and Fort Hill whipped Allegany in 1948.

AHS has won 17 W.M.I. League titles, Fort Hill has bagged four, Barton three (1923, 1925 and 1926), Beall and Penn Avenue, two each, LaSalle and Central, one each.

Barons Seek A-A Berth

John Thomas, coach of Barton High School, is a son of Carson Thomas, and a nephew of Dave Thomas, one of the smartest all-around athletes developed at Barton High in the days when Benny Artigiani turned out winning soccer teams and Art Slocum mentored the championship basketball teams.

Dave, incidentally, was a forward on the last Barton team that won a W.M.I. League championship in 1926. Other members of that squad 25 years ago were Dave Smith, Ernie Schramm, Karl Schramm, Harrison Schramm, Vernon O'Neill, Charley Logdson and Bradley.

Wonder what's become of Bob Smith, who used to diagram the plays on a mirror in his barber shop for the Barton High teams of a quarter of a century ago? He was the best pepper-upper and cheer leader Barton ever had.

He'd betcha every time the old champs went to the post.

Almost unnoticed was the stellar performance of Johnny Bender on Sunday, February 18, when he spilled 606 pins in the afternoon and 715 at night in a pair of City Duckpin League matches.

The 715 is the second highest set ever recorded in the city circuit. Lou Bell's 738 of two years ago is tops.

Bender's 715 came in a match that saw Spa Bar sweep three games from the Savoy.

That was quite a coincidence Saturday when a story appeared in this paper about Elmer Daily keeping the Middle Atlantic League together — then Johnstown dropped out of the circuit the same evening.

Johnstown has been the backbone of the circuit for many years and it looks like the league's shot now.

Johnstown, Wheeling, Fairmont, Clarksburg and Cumberland were the league's five charter members in 1925. Scottdale became the 6th team in July.

Holly Mims, Washington, D. C. middleweight, who won a split decision over Marion Klingensmith, the Brownsville (Pa.) cop, in a show promoted here by Vic Ricker on April 25, 1949, is matched with Sugar Robinson in a non-title scrap in Miami, Fla., March 8.

The 23-year-old capital city negro has lost only four in 48 professional matches.

Ed White, manager and coach of the Wilkes-Barre Club, formerly of the American Basketball League, would like to get into the All-American League next year and he is certain several other clubs in the anthracite coal region will follow suit.

White informs us that he is going to contact Mike Valan and talk over the matter with him.

Wilkes-Barre has a population of 76,638 and is a basketball hotbed.

Erie is the largest city in the A-A now with a population of 130,125 followed by Altoona 76,844, Wheeling 58,447, Cumberland 37,632 and Beaver Falls 17,335.

The only thing that would work against the admission of Wilkes-Barre to the circuit is the milage and the long trip involved in going to and from the home of the Coal Barons.

James J. O'Connor, former police magistrate, and co-owner of the Wheeling Baseball Club when it was first organized in the Middle Atlantic League in 1925, died last week at his home in Pittsburgh.

Mr. O'Connor was an associate of Richard "Dick" Guy in the Middle Atlantic League days at Wheeling and two of his five sons—Jimmie and Regis—played on the Wheeling team with such well known stars as Art and Dan Rooney (now Father Silas, director of athletics at St. Bonaventure College, New York), Pete Kilday, Jack Cummings Harold King and "Dutch" Carpenter. Dan Rooney later played with the Cumberland Colts—the 1926 team that Pat Ragan managed.

Surviving Mr. O'Connor are five sons, three daughters, two brothers and two sisters.

Walter E. Woodson, Jr., better known in the sporting world as "Woody" Woodson, is to wed next month. The lucky bride-elect is Patricia Jean Burkett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burkett, this city.

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 26—Keyser High School lowered the curtain on its regular 21-game schedule tonight by defeating the Davis High Wildcats by the score of 64-52 in a Potomac Valley Conference game.

Pep Knocks Out Hogan In Second

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 26—(INS)—Former world's featherweight champion Willie Pep showed he is still one of the best in the business tonight when he knocked out Billy Hogan in one-minute and five seconds of the second round at Sarasota.

Pep was scheduled to meet Marvin Ford of Charlotte, N. C., in the 10-round main event at Legion Coliseum but Ford could not make the weight. Hogan, who hails from New Orleans, La., was substituted in a last-minute switch.

Hogan weighed 134 pounds and Pep, 128½.

Bradley Tops Aggies

Kentucky Holds Firmly To Lead In College Poll

Illinois Jumps From Tenth To 6th Place

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Illinois, battling for the Big Ten championship, made the largest stride this week in the Associated Press basketball poll which is still dominated by mighty Kentucky.

The Illini, who took over the Big Ten lead with a 71-65 victory over Indiana last Monday, jumped from tenth place to sixth, replacing St. Louis, which fell four notches.

Kentucky, loser of only one game in 25, held firm to the No. 1 position, followed again by Oklahoma A. and M. (25-1) and Columbia (19-0), the only major unbeaten team in the country.

Then in order came Kansas State (18-3), Bradley (26-4), Illinois (17-3), Indiana (16-3), North Carolina State (25-4), St. Johns (20-3) and St. Louis (20-6).

The final poll will be conducted next week, when most of the regular season schedules are completed. Bradley was No. 1 in the final poll last year.

Get 75 First Places

Kentucky, which has clinched a spot in the NCAA tournament opening March 20 by taking the Southeastern Conference crown, drew 75 first place votes from the 165 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the latest poll.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats amassed a total of 1,221 points, which are awarded on the basis of ten for a first place vote, nine for second and so forth.

The Oklahoma Aggies, who can clinch a tie for the Missouri Valley championship with one more victory, drew 28 first place votes and total of 954 points.

Columbia is riding herd in the Ivy League and needs to beat only Pennsylvania March 3 or Princeton March 7 to gain the league title and automatic entrance to the national tournament, where its deportment will be watched with interest.

Bradley Cagers Gain

Kansas State, leader of the Big notch from last week. Bradley Seven Conference, moved up one climbed two, apparently on the strength of its 97-65 walloping of St. Louis last Tuesday.

Indiana fell from fourth to seventh. North Carolina State, top favorite in the Southern Conference tournament at Raleigh, N. C., this week-end, moved up a peg from ninth, swapping places with St. Johns.

St. Louis has clung doggedly to the top ten despite six defeats. Voters still remember that it was St. Louis which gave Kentucky its only setback—a 43-42 overtime defeat at New Orleans' Sugar Bowl back in December.

Here are the leaders with first place votes and season's records through Sunday night games in parenthese (points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first vote, nine for second, etc.) :

1. Kentucky	(75) (24-1)	1,221

French Cancer Society To Get $25,000 Purse

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Ray Robinson, the boxing idol of Europe, today announced he will defend his newly won crown in Paris this May with his entire purse of about $25,000 going to the Cancer Society of France.

The 30-year-old Harlem Dandy said he will receive one franc (about ¼ American cent) for meeting Kid Marcel, 34-year-old French middleweight champion, in a 15-rounder in the Palace of Sports sometime between May 14 and 20.

Manager George Gainford said Sugar Ray was asked to appear by Madame Vincent Auriol, wife of the French president. Madame Auriol is head of the French Cancer Society.

"Ray is very happy to oblige," said Gainford. "Ray will get just one franc plus one way transportation for four. But that's all. We will pay our own way back. We may take several other fights over there as long as we're there."

Asked how this would affect his contracted return bout with Jake LaMotta, who lost his middleweight crown to Robinson in Chicago Feb. 14, Gainford said "Robinson will fight LaMotta any time.

"He'll get the return bout if he wants," added the broadbeamed manager.

Fighting for nothing is not new with Robinson. He put his welterweight title on the line last August for $1 when he defeated Charlie Fusari in Jersey City. The champ's purse of over $25,000 was donated to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Robinson and his party will sail on April 25, said Gainford.

The clever negro, rated as one of the all-time greats in boxing, is tremendously popular in Europe. Continental and English sports writers used all of their superlatives to describe his conquests of five fighters in a month's tour last November and December.

Hyndman Retains Interstate Berth

Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hyndman, Pa., has voted to retain its franchises in the Interstate Baseball League which will function with six teams this year.

The other clubs holding franchise in the circuit headed by John J. Long are Centerville, 1950 champions, Romney, Moorefield, Cumberland Moose and Cumberland Black Sox.

Announcement of Hyndman remaining in the league was made by Roy Crites, league secretary.

NBA To Regard Fusari-Bratton Victor As Champ

Fight Set March 14 In Chicago Stadium

HAGERSTOWN, Ind., Feb. 26 (AP)—The aspirants to the vacant welterweight boxing title began to queue up today and there was some shoving by one in the rear.

Arch Hindman of Hagerstown president of the National Boxing Association, announced the NBA, with some strings attached, would recognize the winner of the forthcoming Johnny Bratton - Charley Fusari bout as the welterweight champ.

The Bratton-Fusari bout at 15 rounds is set for the Chicago Stadium March 14.

Hindman said the NBA would give recognition to the winner provided that he box Kid Gavilan of Cuba within 45 days on equal financial terms and post "a substantial part of the purse" as a guarantee to defend the title against the Cuban.

The NBA also will require, Hindman said, that the winner of the bout with Gavilan guarantee to box Eddie Thomas, the European welterweight champion, within three months.

The NBA last Dec. 26 ranked the outstanding welterweights in this order: Robinson, then the champion; Gavilan, Billy Graham, Fusari and Thomas. But a month later at Indianapolis it moved Bratton into the picture.

Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said there should be a series of elimination bouts to select a new welter champion and he assured Graham he would have to be included in the elimination tourney.

Hindman, however, said Graham has been dropped in the NBA rankings because of defeats by both Gavilan and Thomas.

Yildiz Defeats Royal Mustang In Miami Race

Becomes New Threat In Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Yildiz, going over a distance for the first time, won the Causeways Purse at Hialeah Park today with speed to spare, and he readily became a new threat for Saturday's renewal of the $50,000 Flamingo Stakes.

The son of Mahmoud-Ace Card, which had been beaten at seven furlongs by Alerted and Teaneck Flash a week or so ago, went over the nine panels this time as if he enjoyed route-running, finishing 4½ lengths before Sam E. Wilson, Jr's Royal Mustang.

Mrs. W. Gilroy's Timely Reward was third, a half-length away, while Irish Game and Elixir completed the small field of sophomores.

All of the starters are in the Flamingo except Elixir. That one might think of the chances of such as Royal Mustang after he again fizzled in the Causeways is conjectural. At any rate, he further lessened his Flamingo status.

Yildiz, ridden by Warren Mehrtens, paid $16.90 straight and completed the Flamingo distance on a fast track in the good time of 1.49 2-5. This was the Colt's second win in four starts here. He had taken only one of five in 1950.

Grandview Stables' consistent Razzmatazz gamely annexed the Marathon Purse, secondary feature, coming on in an inspiring rally to drub Lambent by a short length. Lambent was in front entering the stretch, then suddenly weakened Air Attack was third.

Kinsman, the short-priced choice, showing nothing in a dismal performance. Razzmatazz, ridden by Sam Boulmetis, paid $11.20. He now has won four of his starts at the meeting.

The attendance was 18,203.

WHO COULD BE FINER THAN KINER AT FIRST BASE FOR THE BUCS?

By TROY GORDON
Central Press Correspondent

PITTSBURGH—Ralph Kiner, the one man who seemed to be sure of his position with the Pittsburgh Pirates, may not be in left field after all when the 1951 season opens in April.

It isn't that the big California slugger will be riding the bench. But serious consideration is being given to the idea of moving Kiner to first base.

Both General Manager Branch Rickey and Manager Bil Meyer admit the switch—which first was received as ridiculous by most of the Pittsburgh fans—would have a lot of merit.

It would fill one of the infield posts admirably, if Kiner is able to field the position.

"Kiner has sure hands," Manager Meyer points out. "He holds everything he can get his glove on."

The shift also would enable Meyer to get a left-handed outfielder into the line-up. The Pirates are more blessed with outfielders than infielders. With Wally Westlake, Gus Bell and Tom Saffell back from last year, the Buccos added the veteran Pete Reiser from the Boston Braves and George Metkovich from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league.

On the other hand, the chief candidates for first base are Jack Phillips, who shared the job with Johnny Hopp last year, and Dick Long, a rookie up from Binghamton. Neither is likely to set the league on fire.

Kiner is willing to go along with the experiment. He said at his Alhambra, Cal., home before spring training season opened:

"I know I could play first, but the question is—could I play it according to major league standards?"

There are many angles to the proposed shift. Rickey had tremendous success at Brooklyn when Catcher Gil Hodges moved down to first base and became just about the best in the National league.

But Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals—another man who should know—doesn't think much of going from the outfield to first base. In his one full season at the latter position, Musial hit only .312, his lowest average since he came to the majors.

Musial says it's easy to understand why his batting average slipped so drastically. On first, he explains, you're constantly getting ankle twists, bruises and other slight injuries which don't make much difference individually but collectively are murder.

Should Kiner have that trouble, the wolves would howl for they love to watch the major leagues' leading home run producer lose that baseball.

Kiner has blasted 215 home runs in his five seasons with the Pirates, and at the age of 28 apparently can count on at least five more good years.

He started with 23 as a rookie, went to 51 the next year, slumped to 40 in 1948, hit his personal high of 54 the following season, and wound up with 47 last year.

Knier also has led his team in runs-batted-in all five years, and has had better than 100 RBIs in each of the last four seasons. His 127 in 1949 led the league.

The many walks given him and the defensive shift used by opponents have kept his batting average comparatively low for such a heavy hitter. But no one will argue that he isn't a perpetual threat at the plate.

And he is conscientious. Instead of resting on his laurels as a slugger, Kiner has practiced constantly to improve his play in the outfield. And he has succeeded.

Now he may have to make a difficult move to first base. If so, he will have the best available teacher.

George Sisler, one of the game's all-time first basemen, has joined the Pirates and will be trying to teach Kiner how to handle that corner.

If he can't do it, no one can.

Nothing finer than Kiner

Training Camp Notes

Hodges Is Delayed

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Gil Hodges, all-star first baseman, today notified Brooklyn club officials that he will not be able to leave New York tomorrow, as per schedule, in order to start work with the regulars March 1.

Mrs. Hodges is expecting another baby and Gil said that he probably would stick around for the big event. Last spring Hodges was 17 days late waiting for Gil Jr., to arrive and did not report until St. Patrick's Day.

The Brooklyn club also heard from Wayne Belardi, the former bonus first baseman whom they believed was headed for military service. Belardi has written that he has been re-classified and is motoring from California.

Berra "Staying Put"

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26 (AP)—Although he has missed six days of spring training, holdout Larry (Yogi) Berra said today he is "staying put" here until the New York Yankees agree to his 1951 contract demand.

The 25-year-old catcher said he has heard nothing further from club officials since he returned two contracts.

The first contract he received provided for a $3,000 boost. Berra refused to comment on the second contract he turned down. Nor would he say how much of a raise he is seeking.

Estimates of his 1950 salary run from $17,000 to $22,500.

Dodgers Have Flu

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Brooklyn manager Charley Dressen's temperature dropped to 99 today and his condition was reported as "greatly improved." The Brook pilot's temperature was 101 yesterday.

Pitchers Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe, who were stricken by the same flu bug, missed practice for the third straight day. Both were much better, however, and they may be able to resume workouts tomorrow.

Bucs Sign Restelli

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates today announced signing of Dino Restelli, 26-year-old San Francisco Seals' outfielder.

Restelli, optioned by the Bucs to Indianapolis and transferred to the Seals early last season, batted .341 for the Pacific Coast League club. The agreement reached with Restelli leaves eight Pirates still unsigned

Miceli Is Inducted

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Joe Miceli, 22-year-old welterweight contender, was sworn into the army today.

"This is one fight we can't afford to lose," said the crack New York boxer.

BOLD BEING READIED FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

BY FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla.—It may be a bit bold to talk about the Kentucky Derby at this stage of the season but remember Bold.

Before this gets confusing Bold is a pretty good racehorse and he's being readied at beautiful Hialeah for the Kentucky Derby.

Bold is a brown By Jimminy-Little Rebel colt. His connections include the elite of racing. He races in the blue and white colors of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable. (She won the 1934 Derby when her Cavalcade beat Discovery.) Brookmeade led all stables in money won in 1950.

Bold's trainer is the veteran Preston M. Burch. The colt's jockey is Joe Culmone, the 19-year-old Sicilian boy who tied for riding honors last year with 388 winners.

More important, Burch believes Bold is excellent Derby material, and Burch seldom goes out on a limb.

"We haven't raced him very much," says Burch, "because he was troubled with all the usual ailments of youngsters—bucked shins and colds. However, he showed that he could run a little bit in his three starts last fall and we're going to give him a chance to prove it."

Bold won his maiden effort at Jamaica by seven lengths and then moved to Pimlico where he finished second to Big Stretch after leading to the home lane in the mile and sixteenth fixture. In Bold's third start he finished first in the Endurance Handicap, a test of one mile and 70 yards at Bewie. However, he was disqualified and placed second to Bob Considine, the horse.

Culmone, Brookmeade's contract rider, still insists Bold didn't swerve and bother Bob Considine as the stewards ruled.

"We were in front all the way," says Culmone, "and as we were driving down the stretch Bold shied when we passed the starting gate which was standing near the sixteenth pole. Bold drifted out for about 10 strides and carried Bob Considine a little wide. But I don't think we bothered him.

"Bold looks like he's going to be a good one. I've been exercising him here at Hialeah and he's just about ready for a race. First the Flamingo and then the Derby.

The Flamingo, 3-year-old feature of winter racing here, will be run Saturday (March 3).

Handicapper John B. Campbell of the Jockey Club gives the Brookmeade-bred colt a high rating in his Experimental Free Handicap weights. The colt is down to carry 115 pounds, which ranks him 11th among the weight carriers.

Burch never has trained a Derby winner, nor has Culmone ridden one. And Mrs. Sloane has been trying for her second Derby winner ever since Cavalcade's great victory 16 years ago. She may have a bold contender in Bold.

West Virginia Tech Wins Over Generals

MONTGOMERY, W. Va., Feb. 26 (AP)—West Virginia Tech built up a 32-13 lead in the first quarter tonight and led by a wide margin the rest of the way in downing Washington and Lee 98-69.

Washington and Lee's Jay Handlan, top pointmaker in the Southern Conference this season, sank 30 points to take scoring honors.

But three Tech men in the 20's more than offset Handlan's performance. They were Eddie Solomon with 26, George Swyers with 22, and George Booth with 20.

For Tech, champion of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference, it was the 22nd victory against only one loss this season.

Yildiz Defeats Royal Mustang In Miami Race

Becomes New Threat In Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Yildiz, going over a distance for the first time, won the Causeways Purse at Hialeah Park today with speed to spare, and he readily became a new threat for Saturday's renewal of the $50,000 Flamingo Stakes.

The son of Mahmoud-Ace Card, which had been beaten at seven furlongs by Alerted and Teaneck Flash a week or so ago, went over the nine panels this time as if he enjoyed route-running, finishing 4½ lengths before Sam E. Wilson, Jr's Royal Mustang.

Mrs. W. Gilroy's Timely Reward was third, a half-length away, while Irish Game and Elixir completed the small field of sophomores.

All of the starters are in the Flamingo except Elixir. That one might think of the chances of such as Royal Mustang after he again fizzled in the Causeways is conjectural. At any rate, he further lessened his Flamingo status.

Yildiz, ridden by Warren Mehrtens, paid $16.90 straight and completed the Flamingo distance on a fast track in the good time of 1.49 2-5. This was the Colt's second win in four starts here. He had taken only one of five in 1950.

Grandview Stables' consistent Razzmatazz gamely annexed the Marathon Purse, secondary feature, coming on in an inspiring rally to drub Lambent by a short length. Lambent was in front entering the stretch, then suddenly weakened Air Attack was third.

Kinsman, the short-priced choice, showing nothing in a dismal performance. Razzmatazz, ridden by Sam Boulmetis, paid $11.20. He now has won four of his starts at the meeting.

The attendance was 18,203.

WHO COULD BE FINER THAN KINER AT FIRST BASE FOR THE BUCS?

By TROY GORDON
Central Press Correspondent

PITTSBURGH—Ralph Kiner, the one man who seemed to be sure of his position with the Pittsburgh Pirates, may not be in left field after all when the 1951 season opens in April.

It isn't that the big California slugger will be riding the bench. But serious consideration is being given to the idea of moving Kiner to first base.

Both General Manager Branch Rickey and Manager Bil Meyer admit the switch—which first was received as ridiculous by most of the Pittsburgh fans—would have a lot of merit.

It would fill one of the infield posts admirably, if Kiner is able to field the position.

"Kiner has sure hands," Manager Meyer points out. "He holds everything he can get his glove on."

The shift also would enable Meyer to get a left-handed outfielder into the line-up. The Pirates are more blessed with outfielders than infielders. With Wally Westlake, Gus Bell and Tom Saffell back from last year, the Buccos added the veteran Pete Reiser from the Boston Braves and George Metkovich from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league.

On the other hand, the chief candidates for first base are Jack Phillips, who shared the job with Johnny Hopp last year, and Dick Long, a rookie up from Binghamton. Neither is likely to set the league on fire.

Kiner is willing to go along with the experiment. He said at his Alhambra, Cal., home before spring training season opened:

"I know I could play first, but the question is—could I play it according to major league standards?"

There are many angles to the proposed shift. Rickey had tremendous success at Brooklyn when Catcher Gil Hodges moved down to first base and became just about the best in the National league.

But Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals—another man who should know—doesn't think much of going from the outfield to first base. In his one full season at the latter position, Musial hit only .312, his lowest average since he came to the majors.

Musial says it's easy to understand why his batting average slipped so drastically. On first, he explains, you're constantly getting ankle twists, bruises and other slight injuries which don't make much difference individually but collectively are murder.

Should Kiner have that trouble, the wolves would howl for they love to watch the major leagues' leading home run producer lose that baseball.

Kiner has blasted 215 home runs in his five seasons with the Pirates, and at the age of 28 apparently can count on at least five more good years.

He started with 23 as a rookie, went to 51 the next year, slumped to 40 in 1948, hit his personal high of 54 the following season, and wound up with 47 last year.

Knier also has led his team in runs-batted-in all five years, and has had better than 100 RBIs in each of the last four seasons. His 127 in 1949 led the league.

The many walks given him and the defensive shift used by opponents have kept his batting average comparatively low for such a heavy hitter. But no one will argue that he isn't a perpetual threat at the plate.

And he is conscientious. Instead of resting on his laurels as a slugger, Kiner has practiced constantly to improve his play in the outfield. And he has succeeded.

Now he may have to make a difficult move to first base. If so, he will have the best available teacher.

George Sisler, one of the game's all-time first basemen, has joined the Pirates and will be trying to teach Kiner how to handle that corner.

If he can't do it, no one can.

Nothing finer than Kiner

Training Camp Notes

Hodges Is Delayed

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Gil Hodges, all-star first baseman, today notified Brooklyn club officials that he will not be able to leave New York tomorrow, as per schedule, in order to start work with the regulars March 1.

Mrs. Hodges is expecting another baby and Gil said that he probably would stick around for the big event. Last spring Hodges was 17 days late waiting for Gil Jr., to arrive and did not report until St. Patrick's Day.

The Brooklyn club also heard from Wayne Belardi, the former bonus first baseman whom they believed was headed for military service. Belardi has written that he has been re-classified and is motoring from California.

Berra "Staying Put"

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26 (AP)—Although he has missed six days of spring training, holdout Larry (Yogi) Berra said today he is "staying put" here until the New York Yankees agree to his 1951 contract demand.

The 25-year-old catcher said he has heard nothing further from club officials since he returned two contracts.

The first contract he received provided for a $3,000 boost. Berra refused to comment on the second contract he turned down. Nor would he say how much of a raise he is seeking.

Estimates of his 1950 salary run from $17,000 to $22,500.

Dodgers Have Flu

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Brooklyn manager Charley Dressen's temperature dropped to 99 today and his condition was reported as "greatly improved." The Brook pilot's temperature was 101 yesterday.

Pitchers Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe, who were stricken by the same flu bug, missed practice for the third straight day. Both were much better, however, and they may be able to resume workouts tomorrow.

Bucs Sign Restelli

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates today announced signing of Dino Restelli, 26-year-old San Francisco Seals' outfielder.

Restelli, optioned by the Bucs to Indianapolis and transferred to the Seals early last season, batted .341 for the Pacific Coast League club. The agreement reached with Restelli leaves eight Pirates still unsigned

Miceli Is Inducted

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Joe Miceli, 22-year-old welterweight contender, was sworn into the army today.

"This is one fight we can't afford to lose," said the crack New York boxer.

BOLD BEING READIED FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

BY FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla.—It may be a bit bold to talk about the Kentucky Derby at this stage of the season but remember Bold.

Before this gets confusing Bold is a pretty good racehorse and he's being readied at beautiful Hialeah for the Kentucky Derby.

Bold is a brown By Jimminy-Little Rebel colt. His connections include the elite of racing. He races in the blue and white colors of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable. (She won the 1934 Derby when her Cavalcade beat Discovery.) Brookmeade led all stables in money won in 1950.

Bold's trainer is the veteran Preston M. Burch. The colt's jockey is Joe Culmone, the 19-year-old Sicilian boy who tied for riding honors last year with 388 winners.

More important, Burch believes Bold is excellent Derby material, and Burch seldom goes out on a limb.

"We haven't raced him very much," says Burch, "because he was troubled with all the usual ailments of youngsters—bucked shins and colds. However, he showed that he could run a little bit in his three starts last fall and we're going to give him a chance to prove it."

Bold won his maiden effort at Jamaica by seven lengths and then moved to Pimlico where he finished second to Big Stretch after leading to the home lane in the mile and sixteenth fixture. In Bold's third start he finished first in the Endurance Handicap, a test of one mile and 70 yards at Bowie. However, he was disqualified and placed second to Bob Considine, the horse.

Culmone, Brookmeade's contract rider, still insists Bold didn't swerve and bother Bob Considine as the stewards ruled.

"We were in front all the way," says Culmone, "and as we were driving down the stretch Bold shied when we passed the starting gate which was standing near the sixteenth pole. Bold drifted out for about 10 strides and carried Bob Considine a little wide. But I don't think we bothered him.

"Bold looks like he's going to be a good one. I've been exercising him here at Hialeah and he's just about ready for a race. First the Flamingo and then the Derby.

The Flamingo, 3-year-old feature of winter racing here, will be run Saturday (March 3).

Handicapper John B. Campbell of the Jockey Club gives the Brookmeade-bred colt a high rating in his Experimental Free Handicap weights. The colt is down to carry 115 pounds, which ranks him 11th among the weight carriers.

Burch never has trained a Derby winner, nor has Culmone ridden one. And Mrs. Sloane has been trying for her second Derby winner ever since Cavalcade's great victory 16 years ago. She may have a bold contender in Bold.

West Virginia Tech Wins Over Generals

MONTGOMERY, W. Va., Feb. 26 (AP)—West Virginia Tech built up a 32-13 lead in the first quarter tonight and led by a wide margin the rest of the way in downing Washington and Lee 98-69.

Washington and Lee's Jay Handlan, top pointmaker in the Southern Conference this season, sank 30 points to take scoring honors.

But three Tech men in the 20's more than offset Handlan's performance. They were Eddie Solomon with 26, George Swyers with 22, and George Booth with 20.

For Tech, champion of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference, it was the 22nd victory against only one loss this season.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26 (INS)—What's all this about Hedy La Marr retiring? I just received word from Rome saying that Hedy is planning to star in two independent film productions: "The Marquis of Grillo" and "Little Prince" by Saint Exupery.

Heddy La Marr

Well, I can tell my friend in Rome that no one took Hedy's announcement seriously. On top of this she is dickering with Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht for their anti-Communist play "The Great Lie," which is being produced by Billy Rose. Billy has already approached the subject to La Marr.

Oh, yes, she's also already at work on "My Favorite Spy" with Bob Hope.

With money in the till Arch Oboler is going into independent production full blast. His startling movie, "Five"—and believe me it is startling—has been bought by Columbia.

His new picture will make use of some exciting African footage which Arch shot in color during his 40,000-mile trip in 1949.

Mercedes McCambridge, who made 350 radio shows with Oboler in Chicago and New York, is the gal he wants for his movie. Well, everyone wants Mercedes, so there's nothing new in that.

Many professional dancers feel that Gene Kelly's and Vera-Ellen's "Slaughter On 10th Ave" dance routine in "Words And Music" is one of the greatest ever put on the screen.

The high hopes of another such show-stopper, M-G-M is re-teaming them in "Ghost Of A Chance"—a highly dramatic musical with accent on the drama. It's about a young crook who learns to hoof from a pal in jail and becomes a star on Broadway before his prison record catches up with him.

Joe Pasternak, the producer, says this story by Karl Tunberg and Leonard Spiegelgass is a melodrama set to music.

Judy Holliday will have one of the nicest compliments paid her—or any young actress—when she wins an award from the Hollywood foreign correspondents tomorrow night.

Ethel Barrymore, queen of the screen and stage, will accept the golden globe award for Judy. Judy is in New York and it is impossible for her to be here. So Ethel, who was shown the first rough cut of "Born Yesterday," consentend to accept for her.

Ethel said, when she saw Judy on the screen, "that's a girl with real magic. She has a lovely face combined with fine acting ability."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Alan Nixon telephoned my office to get Lynn Bari's telephone number. Didn't know why until I heard they had dinner at the King's restaurant.

Pat Dorian, of the M-G-M production staff, and Sharman Douglas with Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger a foursome at the Sportsmen's Lodge. Pat's escorting Sharman around quite a lot.

Reports from Dallas tell of trouble between Gussie Moran and Bobby Riggs. It is whispered Bobby has asked for a replacement. Maybe, however, their troubles will be settled by the time this is in print.

Gloria Swanson's old house—and what a charming place—will be torn down to make way for two houses on the same lot.

Robert Newman, much beloved and close friend of the late Mayor James J. Walker, has been named general manager of Sam Goldwyn Studio after six years with Republic.

Douglas Fairbanks is having an Aylesbury duck flown from England to tour with 'Mr. Drake's Duck," his picture. The poor bird had better be careful he isn't eaten up like a trick bird was some years ago when the late Sid Grauman sent it to the train as a gag to Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Mary Pickford.

Jack Skirball and Bruce Manning have bought Irving Stone's "Desert Padre," about the Catholic priest who was instrumental in bringing water to Los Angeles through Owens Valley.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)

THIS COUNTRY is fixing to take its first "walk" in U. N. We're fed up with the way things have become snarled and warped in the Economic and Social Council, which was tossed the job of drafting what it calls a convention on freedom of information.

In our wonderful sucker way we set out a couple of years ago to try to tell the rest of the U. N. world, excepting Britain, that it needed our American type of freedom of the press. Say anything, more or less, about anybody who gets out of line with the populace's ethics, philosophy, traditions, precepts, etc. That's how we operate, and figured the others should.

Well, it has turned out to be an eye-opening experience. One that has put grayer hairs into the head of Carroll Binder, an editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune who is our chief spokesman on the 15-nation committee selected to put our press freedom ideas into what amounts to international law.

The countries on the committee who regard the newspaper and radio as tolls to whitewash the despotism of gangsters who happen to have seized control of those countries have cooked up a draft convention to which this country can never subscribe.

Yet in certain respects we may have to accept the restrictions which the boys—who have not the remotest concept of freedom of speech — have inserted into the draft, if it is adopted. Worse, we have only a 1/15th voice in what goes on.

With the aid of other Arab countries on the committee (imagine an Arab country's being considered an authority of freedom of speech!) Egypt has been able to thwart the original intention of the draft. Something that the U. N. boys call the "Farouk amendment" is a part of it at the present.

In effect it would empower U. N. to take steps against a reporter (or a country of which he is a national) who speaks ill of Farouk, the night clubs he owns in Cairo, or the various babes in his life.

But that's just one limb of the Frankenstein we conceived by suggesting that the peoples of the world would be happier if they express themselves, through militantly independent reporters, on the air and in the journals of their lands.

In the convention, in its present form, are such strait-jackets as (1) U. N. would be permitted to try to do something—including make war, presumably—against nations with newspapers which "injure the national feelings of peoples"; (2) those which by "false or distorted reports undermine friendly relations between peoples or states," and (3) those which point out that certain governments have been guilty of racial, national or religious discrimination.

The Russians, of course, are on the 15-nation committee. That is a bitter laugh in itself. Yet they have equal voice—and they are not reluctant to use it in trying to shape international freedom by speech into their own disfigured effigy of it.

They would make the reporters of the Olympian future world deputies to combat "fascism," "warmongering," and the like. Presumably, any writer or speaker who lashed out against an ideology named Communism whose excesses, if possible, transcend even those of the vile practices of Hitler, would be called up on U. N.'s mat.

We're fortunate in having a fellow like Binder in there talking tough for us. He has given the others (including India, France, the Netherlands, Cuba, Ecuador, Russia, Egypt, etc.) fair warning that we'll never stand still for the kind of document which is in the process of being rammed down the throat of U. N.

But, under U. N.'s charter, there is a fair chance that this mockery of what we started out to do will become a part of U. N.'s announced state of mind, as applicable in emergencies as, say, the section of the charter which produced 50,000 American casualties in Korea and the expenditure of nobody-knows-how-many billions.

U. S. Foreign correspondents would be bound by any such preposterous code. It is possible that this would mean the end of honestly intrepid foreign correspondence as we have come to know it, and even our proposed "walk" would be in vain.

COMMANDER of the First Marine Division Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith (above) has been named temporary commander of the U. S. 9th Corps in Korea. He replaces Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore who died shortly after his helicopter crashed in the Han River sector. (International)

How often do you pay for ease and convenience—and gain a pound you'd pay far more to lose?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

IT'S a sad fact that elevators, automobile and all manner of labor-saving devices which provide comfort and ease are also a threat to beauty. Those who use them are deprived of normal, beauty-building exercise.

The inner thigh muscles especially suffer from lack of a daily workout, and even when thigh measurements are nearly perfect, the muscle tone is apt to be deficient. That is when unattractive bulges are sure to appear under slim, spring skirts and completely ruin the legline revealed by summer's brief play clothes.

Toning Thigh Muscles

But with just a little timely foresight, you can avoid or eliminate any beauty-destroying thigh bulge. Toning the muscles of the inner thigh is as simple as this:

Stand with your right side turned to a wall and about an arm's length away from it. Rest one hand on the wall for support. Swing your left leg across your right leg as far as you can, keeping the left knee straight but not rigid. Then swing your left leg outward (away from your body) as far as it will go. Try to keep your body erect and motionless throughout so that it does not sway as your leg swings. Repeat five times and reverse your position so that you can give your right leg the same workout.

Reducing Inner Thigh

To whittle down excess flesh at the inner thigh, repeat the following routine fifty to a hundred times daily: Sit on the floor with your legs straight and your hands resting on the floor behind your hips. Bend you knee slightly, keeping your left heel on the floor. Now, straighten your left leg out a bit as you bend your right knee up as the left is bent.

Alternate this knee bending and straightening as vigorously and quickly as you can so that the inner thighs brush. Under no circumstances let your calves slap the floor unless you also wish to reduce them.

Need I add that you should walk, stretch and stoop at every opportunity?

How often do you pay for ease and convenience—and gain a pound you'd pay far more to lose?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

IT'S a sad fact that elevators, automobile and all manner of labor-saving devices which provide comfort and ease are also a threat to beauty. Those who use them are deprived of normal, beauty-building exercise.

The inner thigh muscles especially suffer from lack of a daily workout, and even when thigh measurements are nearly perfect, the muscle tone is apt to be deficient. That is when unattractive bulges are sure to appear under slim, spring skirts and completely ruin the legline revealed by summer's brief play clothes.

Toning Thigh Muscles

But with just a little timely foresight, you can avoid or eliminate any beauty-destroying thigh bulge. Toning the muscles of the inner thigh is as simple as this:

Stand with your right side turned to a wall and about an arm's length away from it. Rest one hand on the wall for support. Swing your left leg across your right leg as far as you can, keeping the left knee straight but not rigid. Then swing your left leg outward (away from your body) as far as it will go. Try to keep your body erect and motionless throughout so that it does not sway as your leg swings. Repeat five times and reverse your position so that you can give your right leg the same workout.

Reducing Inner Thigh

To whittle down excess flesh at the inner thigh, repeat the following routine fifty to a hundred times daily: Sit on the floor with your legs straight and your hands resting on the floor behind your hips. Bend you knee slightly, keeping your left heel on the floor. Now, straighten your left leg out a bit as you bend your right knee up as the left is bent.

Alternate this knee bending and straightening as vigorously and quickly as you can so that the inner thighs brush. Under no circumstances let your calves slap the floor unless you also wish to reduce them.

Need I add that you should walk, stretch and stoop at every opportunity?

In Memoriam

ANDERSON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Margaret, who passed away February 27, 1947.
Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of our heart, we miss you so.
Often, mother dear, our tears will flow,
Dimming your picture before our eyes.
But the depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
Her devoted children

ANDERSON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Margaret, who passed away February 27, 1947.

Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of our heart, we miss you so.
Often, mother dear, our tears will flow,
Dimming your picture before our eyes.
But the depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.

German Exchange Students Contend U. S. No Paradise

By HENRY DECKER

FREDERICK, Md.—(AP) — "When you listen to the Voice of America broadcast, you think the United States is a paradise. It is very, very nice, but it is not a paradise."

So contend two German exchange students rounding out a year of studies at Frederick High School. Both, Willi Erl, 17, Schweinfurt, and Hans Karl Herbolsheimer, 19, Wurtzburg, are undeniably homesick for families and friends in Western Germany, and despite their less glamorous existence, want "to go home."

Willi, an idealist, according to Rev. Paul L. Althouse, local Reformed Church minister with whom he lives, sums up his opinion of the United States by saying "if you do not expect too much, you will not be disappointed."

Hans Karl, who works on a farm near Mt. Airy, is up at 4 o'clock each morning to complete chores before taking a bus to school. He returns to his chores when he arrives home after classes. He is paid $10 monthly by his employer, who will also advance him $200 for his transportatoin home next June.

Willi is given $10 "spending money" each month by the Church of the Brethren, which is sponsoring his visit to this country.

Both Willi and Hans Karl were members of the Hitler Youth Movement. As small boys, they loved "to play soldier," to wear the uniforms and the badges and to march proudly in unison.

Beyond that, the organization had little significance for the boys for it disbanded when they were still quite young.

Hans Karl and Willi are going home with some definite impressions of life in America.

Says Willi: "Your boys and girls, they have no respect for their elders. Why in Frederick High School, some of the students call their teachers by nicknames. We would not dream of doing that at home. We show deference and respect to those who have earned it.

"I think, maybe, it is because in this country, you respect the individual, whether he is a coal miner, a teacher or a banker. At home, we still have remnants of the caste system. There is too much formality at home, too little here."

Rearmament in Western Germany? Their answers are mixed with both fear and suspicion.

Suspicion that the United States will use Germany only as a tool in event of another war. Fear that the Russians will carry out their threat of taking no prisoners in the next war, but killing all Germans in the western zone.

"When you live only 30 minutes from the iron curtain as I do," said Willi, "you have to live with that fear. Rearmament would mean more jobs for the great numbers of unemployed in Germany, but still we feel rearming would only precipitate another war."

Reconstruction in Germany has proceeded rapidly and there is plenty of food and clothing if you have money to buy it. In contrast the boys marvel at the standard of living in the United States, but add that because of it the average American has relaxed, or as Americans say, "has gone soft."

"It is reflected even in your music," says Hans Karl and Willi, "which is 'hot' and has no lasting quality."

Matter Of Fact

duced by a decisive defeat of the United Nations forces in Korea, the invasion of Indo-China could have been undertaken under grave danger of general war. That is no longer the case.

When the Chinese invaded Korea Secretary of State Dean Acheson proposed a form of "limited war" on China, but he was vetoed by the British and French. If Indo-China is invaded, however, the French are wholly committed to fight. With Malaya and Hong Kong at stake, British hesitations would disappear. Limited war would almost certainly result, involving crippling air attacks on roads, railroads and canals which are all that hold China together; overt support of the anti-Communist guerrillas, and probably a Chinese Nationalist foray against the Chinese mainland.

The Chinese could invoke the Sino-Soviet treaty. If the Russians honored the treaty, general war at least in Asia would result. Open Russian support would be poor consolation for the price the Chinese Communists would have to pay at home. The Chinese may yet attack, simply because it will soon be too late. It was the knowledge that it would soon be too late that led Ho Chi Minh to launche the assault which has now failed. Moreover, the failure in Korea may even lead Mao Tse-Tung to attack in Indo-China, to restore his waning prestige in Asia.

On balance, however, the likelihood of a Chinese adventure in Indo-China is decreasing daily, thanks largely to the United Nations victory in Korea. The fact is that in Asia as everywhere, nothing succeeds like success.

These Days

Central Asia to Pakistan and the Chinese Moslems.

While Moslems fail to show any great capacity in this period either for organization or warfare, they cannot be ignored because of their huge manpower, their geographic position, the resources of their countries and their political potentials.

The significance of all this is in the groupings of nations that are bringing the world into some kind of order. And among these trends is the association of the nations of the American contingents under the leadership of the United States.

Demand For Few Favorites Props Indifferent Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Buying demand for a few favorites propped a somewhat wobbly stock market today.

Gains for the favorites ranged to more than $2 a share. Their leadership was of high quality, including American Telephone and Chrysler. Both these stocks were among the 15 most active of the day.

Total sales volume for the full session amounted to only 1,650,000 shares, just about the level maintained late last week. Last Friday's transfers were 1,540,000 shares.

Gains and losses among the leaders just about balanced, with the Associated Press 60-stock average unchanged on the day at 95.7. The utility average climbed .1 of a point to a new 1950-51 high of 49.2; rails dropped .3 of a point and industrials were unchanged.

American Telephone, benefitted by announcement of record 1950 earnings, had a fairly steady rise and closed 1¾ points higher at 157⅞, an unusual advance for this "blue chip" issue. The report showing Bell System earnings applicable to A.T. & T. stock at $12.58 a share against $9.70 in 1949 attracted especial note, since the average number of outstanding shares was some 3,500,000 higher during the latest period.

Chrysler was the second most active stock and topped the automotive list with a gain of 2½ at 79½, and Studebaker finished the day up ⅜ at 34½. Among the aircrafts, Boeing was ahead ¾ at 53¾ and Consolidated Vultee up ⅛ at 20⅞.

International Telephone, the day's most active issue, climbed a point at 17 and American Cable & Radio, which it controls, was up ⅝ at 7⅜, ranking third in volume. Among the radio-TV issues, fractional gainers were Radio Corp., Admiral, Emerson and Philco. Up a point or so elsewhere were J. I. Case, Johns-Manville and Goodyear.

"The Authority on Authorities"

A FOUR-HORSE TEAM

PLAYING at a No Trump contract is like driving a four-horse team. Any oldster who has ever tried that will tell you that every one of the four horses must do his part. If any one of them fails to, the entire team is jammed up. It is just like that with the poor No Trump declarer who lacks the ability to stop some one of the four suits. The defenders are able to run that one against him, thereby rendering valueless all of his trick-taking ability in the others if they eke out more tricks than he can afford to lose.

♠ J 7 3 ♥ Q 10 7 4 3 ♦ 9 6 5 ♣ 10 6	N W E S	♠ 10 9 4 2 ♥ A K 6 5 ♦ 10 2 ♣ J 5 2

After West had led the heart 4 and his side ripped off five tricks in the suit, South unbraided North for having raised the 2-No Trumps to game while holding a singleton in the unbid hearts.

"With that situation and a rebiddable diamond suit, your hand was not adapted to No Trump play," he concluded, "so you should have rebid your diamonds. I then would have raised you and we could not have failed to reach the slam which was in the cards at your suit."

Before North could get in his rejoinder, East, a much more experienced player, took up the cudgels for him.

"It was you," he said to South, "who made the mistake. North had bid two of the four suits, you had bid a third one, and it should have been clear to both of you that neither should then bid No Trumps unless he had the fourth suit satisfactorily stopped. A mere three to the jack, such as you had in hearts, can not qualify as a stopper unless you could deduce from North's bidding that he probably had some heart honor as high as the queen or better. You should have bid 3-Diamonds instead of 2-No Trumps."

East then pointed out that shortage in North's hand was an advantage opposite a sound No Trump bid by South, since only by shortage somewhere could the No Trumper's partner furnish the appreviable suit-lengths which a declarer likes to run.

By what sequence of play can South assure his 4-Hearts if the club A wins the 7 lead and the 4 is returned?

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are a man's tears a sign of weakness?

Answer: A man's shedding tears may mean one of three things: That he is emotionally unstable; that he is suffering in mind or body to a degree that would break down anybody's self-control, or that he is relatively independent of conventions and so can express his feelings naturally and spontaneously. The average man's fear of display or "softness" is an outgrowth of the civilized male's secret doubt of his own masculinity. In ancient times, the most celebrated heroes wept for joy as well as sorrow and were not ashamed to be seen doing so.

Are twins prone to suicide?

Answer: No more so that anyone else, report members of the staff of the Psychiatric Institute, New York. Though investigators found twenty-seven cases in which one member of a pair of twins committed suicide, there were none in which both did so. Again, suicide is no more frequent in twins than in the population as a whole. The psychiatrists conclude that even if both of a pair of twins should take their lives, it would reflect chance rather than any hereditary predisposition. In fact, it is doubtful whether such a predisposition could exist.

Will "doing nothing" rest you?

Answer: Probably not unless you are asleep or seriously ill. Otherwise the only time when mind and body can remain inactive is when two opposing impulses conflict—when you want to do two different things and try to escape from choosing between them by doing neither of them. As long as you live, you will be driven by your natural impulses to seek pleasures or satisfactions and if your interest in one form of activity is exhausted, the thing to do is to find another. Trying to do nothing will merely create nervous tension and frustration.

German Exchange Students Contend U. S. No Paradise

By HENRY DECKER

FREDERICK, Md.—(AP) — "When you listen to the Voice of America broadcast, you think the United States is a paradise. It is very, very nice, but it is not a paradise."

So contend two German exchange students rounding out a year of studies at Frederick High School. Both, Willi Erl, 17, Schweinfurt, and Hans Karl Herbolsheimer, 19, Wurtzburg, are undeniably homesick for families and friends in Western Germany, and despite their less glamorous existence, want "to go home."

Willi, an idealist, according to Rev. Paul L. Althouse, local Reformed Church minister with whom he lives, sums up his opinion of the United States by saying "If you do not expect too much, you will not be disappointed."

Hans Karl, who works on a farm near Mt. Airy, is up at 4 o'clock each morning to complete chores before taking a bus to school. He returns to his chores when he arrives home after classes. He is paid $10 monthly by his employer, who will also advance him $200 for his transportatoin home next June.

Willi is given $10 "spending money" each month by the Church of the Brethren, which is sponsoring his visit to this country.

Both Willi and Hans Karl were members of the Hitler Youth Movement. As small boys, they loved "to play soldier," to wear the uniforms and the badges and to march proudly in unison.

Beyond that, the organization had little significance for the boys for it disbanded when they were still quite young.

Hans Karl and Willi are going home with some definite impressions of life in America.

Says Willi: "Your boys and girls, they have no respect for their elders. Why in Frederick High School, some of the students call their teachers by nicknames. We would not dream of doing that at home. We show deference and respect to those who have earned it.

"I think, maybe, it is because in this country, you respect the individual, whether he is a coal miner, a teacher or a banker. At home, we still have remnants of the caste system. There is too much formality at home, too little here."

Rearmament in Western Germany? Their answers are mixed with both fear and suspicion.

Suspicion that the United States will use Germany only as a tool in event of another war. Fear that the Russians will carry out their threat of taking no prisoners in the next war, but killing all Germans in the western zone.

"When you live only 30 minutes from the iron curtain as I do," said Willi, "you have to live with that fear. Rearmament would mean more jobs for the great numbers of unemployed in Germany, but still we feel rearming would only precipitate another war."

Reconstruction in Germany has proceeded rapidly and there is plenty of food and clothing if you have money to buy it. In contrast the boys marvel at the standard of living in the United States, but add that because of it the average American has relaxed, or as Americans say, "has gone soft."

"It is reflected even in your music," says Hans Karl and Willi, "which is 'hot' and has no lasting quality."

Demand For Few Favorites Props Indifferent Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Buying demand for a few favorites propped a somewhat wobbly stock market today.

Gains for the favorites ranged to more than $2 a share. Their leadership was of high quality, including American Telephone and Chrysler. Both these stocks were among the 15 most active of the day.

Total sales volume for the full session amounted to only 1,650,000 shares, just about the level maintained late last week. Last Friday's transfers were 1,540,000 shares.

Gains and losses among the leaders just about balanced, with the Associated Press 60-stock average unchanged on the day at 95.7. The utility average climbed .1 of a point to a new 1950-51 high of 49.2; rails dropped .3 of a point and industrials were unchanged.

American Telephone, benefitted by announcement of record 1950 earnings, had a fairly steady rise and closed 1¾ points higher at 157⅞, an unusual advance for this "blue chip" issue. The report showing Bell System earnings applicable to A.T. & T. stock at $12.58 a share against $9.70 in 1949 attracted especial note, since the average number of outstanding shares was some 3,500,000 higher during the latest period.

Chrysler was the second most active stock and topped the automotive list with a gain of 2½ at 79½, and Studebaker finished the day up ⅜ at 34½. Among the aircrafts, Boeing was ahead ¾ at 53¾ and Consolidated Vultee up ⅛ at 20⅞.

International Telephone, the day's most active issue, climbed a point at 17 and American Cable & Radio, which it controls, was up ⅝ at 7⅜, ranking third in volume. Among the radio-TV issues, fractional gainers were Radio Corp., Admiral, Emerson and Philco. Up a point or so elsewhere were J. I. Case, Johns-Manville and Goodyear.

"The Authority on Authorities"

A FOUR-HORSE TEAM

PLAYING at a No Trump contract is like driving a four-horse team. Any oldster who has ever tried that will tell you that every one of the four horses must do his part. If any one of them fails to, the entire team is jammed up. It is just like that with the poor No Trump declarer who lacks the ability to stop some one of the four suits. The defenders are able to run that one against him, thereby rendering valueless all of his trick-taking ability in the others if they eke out more tricks than he can afford to lose.

After West had led the heart 4 and his side ripped off five tricks in the suit, South unbraided North for having raised the 2-No Trumps to game while holding a singleton in the unbid hearts.

"With that situation and a re-biddable diamond suit, your hand was not adapted to No Trump play," he concluded, "so you should have rebid your diamonds. I then would have raised you and we could not have failed to reach the slam which was in the cards at your suit."

Before North could get in his rejoinder, East, a much more experienced player, took up the cudgels for him.

"It was you," he said to South, "who made the mistake. North had bid two of the four suits, you had bid a third one, and it should have been clear to both of you that neither should then bid No Trumps unless he had the fourth suit satisfactorily stopped. A mere three to the jack, such as you had in hearts, can not qualify as a stopper unless you could deduce from North's bidding that he probably had some heart honor as high as the queen or better. You should have bid 3-Diamonds instead of 2-No Trumps."

East then pointed out that shortage in North's hand was an advantage opposite a sound No Trump bid by South, since only by shortage somewhere could the No Trumper's partner furnish the appreviable suit-lengths which a declarer likes to run.

Matter Of Fact

duced by a decisive defeat of the United Nations forces in Korea, the invasion of Indo-China could have been undertaken under grave danger of general war. That is no longer the case.

When the Chinese invaded Korea Secretary of State Dean Acheson proposed a form of "limited war" on China, but he was vetoed by the British and French. If Indo-China is invaded, however, the French are wholly committed to fight. With Malaya and Hong Kong at stake, British hesitations would disappear. Limited war would almost certainly result, involving crippling air attacks on roads, railroads and canals which are all that hold China together; overt support of the anti-Communist guerrillas, and probably a Chinese Nationalist foray against the Chinese mainland.

The Chinese could invoke the Sino-Soviet treaty. If the Russians honored the treaty, general war at least in Asia would result. Open Russian support would be poor consolation for the price the Chinese Communists would have to pay at home. The Chinese may yet attack, simply because it will soon be too late. It was the knowledge that it would soon be too late that led Ho Chi Minh to launche the assault which has now failed. Moreover, the failure in Korea may even lead Mao Tse-Tung to attack in Indo-China, to restore his waning prestige in Asia.

On balance, however, the likelihood of a Chinese adventure in Indo-China is decreasing daily, thanks largely to the United Nations victory in Korea. The fact is that in Asia as everywhere, nothing succeeds like success.

Central Asia to Pakistan and the Chinese Moslems.

While Moslems fail to show any great capacity in this period either for organization or warfare, they cannot be ignored because of their huge manpower, their geographic position, the resources of their countries and their political potentials.

The significance of all this is in the groupings of nations that are bringing the world into some kind of order. And among these trends is the association of the nations of the American contingents under the leadership of the United States.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE COULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are a man's tears a sign of weakness?

Answer: A man's shedding tears may mean one of three things: That he is emotionally unstable; that he is suffering in mind or body to a degree that would break down anybody's self-control, or that he is relatively independent of conventions and so can express his feelings naturally and spontaneously. The average man's fear of display or "softness" is an outgrowth of the civilized male's secret doubt of his own masculinity. In ancient times, the most celebrated heroes wept for joy as well as sorrow and were not ashamed to be seen doing so.

Are twins prone to suicide?

Answer: No more so that anyone else, report members of the staff of the Psychiatric Institute, New York. Though investigators found twenty-seven cases in which one member of a pair of twins committed suicide, there were none in which both did so. Again, suicide is no more frequent in twins than in the population as a whole. The psychiatrists conclude that even if both of a pair of twins should take their lives, it would reflect chance rather than any hereditary predisposition. In fact, it is doubtful whether such a predisposition could exist.

Will "doing nothing" rest you?

Answer: Probably not unless you are asleep or seriously ill. Otherwise the only time when mind and body can remain inactive is when two opposing impulses conflict—when you want to do two different things and try to escape from choosing between them by doing neither of them. As long as you live, you will be driven by your natural impulses to seek pleasures or satisfactions and if your interest in one form of activity is exhausted, the thing to do is to find another. Trying to do nothing will merely create nervous tension and frustration.

Fraley Election Confirmed By State Senate

Gonder Recount Move Is Denied

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 26 (AP) — Neil C. Fraley's election as senator from Garrett County was confirmed tonight by the State Senate.

The Republican's election was contested by his Democratic opponent, former Senator Bernard I. Goner. Fraley was credited with 3,080 votes and Gonder with 3,079.

The Senate adopted by unanimous voice vote the report of its elections committee which denied Gonder's request for a recount. It also adopted the committee resolution that Fraley "is entitled" to the four-year-term.

Fraley was seated conditionally at opening of the General Assembly to await action on the contest.

"I want to express my thanks to the fair, impartial and non-partisan manner in which the committee approached this problem," Senator Fraley said.

Cite Sketchy Facts

Addressing himself to the other senators, he said "for each of you, the election was over last November. For me, it was not over until a few seconds ago."

In reporting unfavorably on Gonder's petition for a recount, the committee "was of the unanimous opinion that the facts alleged are so sketchy and ephemeral that it is bound under the law to recommend a denial . . . "

The facts presented by Gonder with the committee reactions were listed as follows:

1. That one ballot with an erasure on it was counted. However, it appeared that the witnesses did not know for whom such ballot was voted.

Reject Hearsay

2. That in two precincts it appeared that the general public was permitted to be present during counting of the ballots. There is no evidence in the depositing that persons who went in and out of the polling places were not watchers, challengers or other people legally entitled to be present.

3. That one of the officials left the polling place at Mountain Lane Park during the counting. There is some hearsay to the effect that no substitute was appointed, but the committee feels that hearsay should no be considered in a matter of this importance.

4. That in one precinct a man and a woman were observed in the ballot booth together. There is no evidence as to why they were there, as to whether or not one was an official assisting a handicapped voter to mark a ballot, or, in fact, as to whether or not either of these persons was then voting.

City Offers $50 Reward To Stop Airport Thefts

Action Taken After Vandalism Reported

The Mayor and Council last night voted to take steps to halt vandalism at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

It voted to offer a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person found guilty of wilful damage at the airport in Wiley Ford, W. Va.

Heller Reports Thefts

The action was taken after Charles Heller, maintenance superintendent, reported extensive damage to the port over the weekend.

Several wires were cut on the north end of the port, Heller said, by intruders who then drove a vehicle, probably a pickup truck, across the field to take two drums of cables which would be worth up to $100 at a junk yard.

He said the vandalism has been reported to Ridgeley, W. Va., and Cumberland authorities.

Cites Other Cases

Heller recounted a number of other cases of the constant vandalism which is taking place at the airport, citing the fact that the area is too large for one person to successfully patrol. The damage, he added, has not taken place while the port watchman is on duty.

He pointed out that trespassing on the airport is a hazard both to the planes that use the field and to any unauthorized person or vehicle which might be upon it when planes land or take off.

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz suggested the installation of an electrically charged fence around the field might stop such trespassing, saying he believed such a plan would be legal in West Virginia, where the port is located.

Has No Authority

Heller pointed out that he does not have authority to make arrests or carry arms on the airport.

Referred to the Street Commission was a complaint of C. B. Freshour, 217 Central Avenue, on a dangerous spot on the sidewalk of that street.

He said two poles had been removed from the street, that material used to cover the holes had cracked and asked that the city repair the damage.

Reporting on a request for a storm sewer on Utah and Gleason Street, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said the department has recommended the project but that no answer is forthcoming at present on the cost or date of installation.

Water consumption last week averaged 12,624,000 gallons. At Lake Gordon, water was five inches above the crest and at Lake Koon, three inches above the crest.

Shades Of 1845

Paul Evans, Hyndman, Pa., who is a clerk in the Potomac Edison Company power plant on Kelly Boulevard, is shown with his prized muzzle-loading shotgun, which was made in 1845. Evans and friends repaired the gun last fall so he now can fire it just as the original owner did more than a cenutry ago. It is believed the weapon was made by a gunsmith in Western Pennsylvania although Evans is not certain.

Hyndman Man Possesses OldMuzzle-LoadingShotgun

By ALBERT D. DARBY

A 106-year old muzzle-loading shotgun which for many years lay idle and unused in a nearby Pennsylvania farm house is providing pleasure and the beginning of a hobby for Paul Evans, 28-year old clerk at Potomac Edison Company's power plant on Kelly Boulevard.

Evans, whose home is in Hyndman, Pa., discovered the shotgun back in 1940 when he was meandering through the second floor of an unoccupied house on the farm which his family then owned on the road to Fairhope, about a mile north of Hyndman.

That year Evans was a senior and he carried the weapon in a Daniel Boone role in a school play at Hyndman High School.

For 10 years after the high school episode the gun was allowed to deteriorate even more.

Rebuilt Weapon

Then, last fall, Evans and Norman White, 121 Springdale Street, another PE clerk, decided it would be fun to repair the gun so that it could be fired again. They got

Metal Polish Users Warned Of Poisoning

The City Health Department yesterday issued a warning to housewives and users of silver metal polish against the buying of silver cleaning preparations containing cyanide.

Several hundred jars of a cleaning compound were sold in the immediate area before the product was withdrawn from the market, health officials said.

Cyanide is not a usual ingredient in metal polish but sometimes is used to give the polish a high lustre and hold it together more compactly. Since cyanide is very poisonous the use of this type of cleaning compound on eating or cooking utensils and other household products could result in serious illness.

Persons who are doubtful about metal polish in their possession are urged to call the Health Department, Phone 717, for further information.

In Spring A Young Man's Fancy Lightly Turns . . . .

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

Deciding that the weather was ideal for an afternoon jaunt and reason for strolling around the town, little Richard Lease about 3 years old who resides on Henderson Avenue took a walk—all by himself.

Police Officer Frederick O. Daum picked up the young traveller at 12:45 yesterday afternoon on the Queen City walk near Harrison Street and put him in the patrol wagon.

Mrs. Vivian Turley, records clerk at the police station said that at first the young man was frightened and wouldn't "talk". A shiny red apple and a cold bottle of soft drink loosened his tongue. He volunteered valuable information. He had two sandwiches with him and evidently was determined to make an afternoon of it.

Described as "very cute" by the clerk, Richard was clad in a tan snowsuit and wore boots. She said he was highly inquisitive about the workings of the police department and a sociable chat was had by all.

The big policeman who took the youngster to the station in the patrol wagon and the officer who purchased Richard the bottle of tonic will surely be among the friends he made yesterday.

The lads escapade came to an end at about 2:30 p. m. when his father reported to the police station for his wandering boy.

Dr. John Crigler, instructor in pediatrics at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Nurses Home at Memorial Hospital.

He will discuss the physiological principles in the use of Acth and Cortisone in clinical medicine.

Dr. Crigler is at present engaged in studying the effect of Acth and Corthisone in the endocrine problems of children.

He is expected to discuss his own work, plus findings of other researchers, in observing the action of these endocrine preparations.

An informal round table discussion will be held on the suject following Dr. Crigler's address.

Refreshments will be served at the end of the meeting.

Pupils Of St. Mary's School Hold An "Atomic Raid" Drill

Pupils of St. Mary's Parochial School, Oldtown Road, participated in a preliminary "atomic raid" drill yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It lasted for about 15 minutes.

Sister Edmund, principal, said last night that the pupils were given instruction in the classroom in the past weeks prior to the drill. The signal, one long ring on the school sound system located near the first grade sent the pupils to the basement and those unable to fit in the basement assembled in the hallway on the first floor.

Two doors are in the hallway and a transom over each door is the only place where light can enter the building. The signal differs from the regular fire drill of three short rings twice in succession.

Information for the "atomic raid" was gathered from an issue of the New York Times of several weeks ago as well as from a pamphlet issued by the United States Government entitled "Survival Under Atomic Attacks". Six survival secrets are included.

School authorities were well pleased with the results of yesterday's drill. Similar drills were carried on during World War II. St. Mary's has an enrollment of 335 in the graded schools and 51 in high school.

City Agreeable To Referendum On Sewage Plan

Delegation Will Reconsider Bill

City officials reported last night they are agreeable to a referendum vote on the issue of sewage disposal bonds for the city.

HB218, which is being considered by the House, calls for the issuance of $1,500,000 of revenue producing bonds to finance a sewage disposal and treatment system here.

The bill, HB218, which was slated for its third reading in the House last night, was recalled to the Allegany County Delegation for further consideration.

The action was taken by Delegate Charles M. See, at the request of other members of the delegation.

Introduced by Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., yesterday was HB407—to specify that the town of Westernport shall be liable for damage suits for injury only if notice in writing is given to the Mayor and Council within 30 days after injury is suffered (Delegation).

The Mayor and Council will be among the large delegation expected to attend two hearings in Annapolis Wednesday.

Slated for 3 p. m. before the House Judiciary Committee is a hearing on home rule for Cumberland.

Delegate See, chairman of the Delegation, said it is urgent that all persons interested in the legislation appear.

The Delegation will hold a hearing at 7:30 p. m. at the State House on bills calling for wage increases for city and firemen in Cumberland and for increasing vacation and sick leave allowances.

Introduced yesterday was HB406—by Garrett Delegation—to make it a misdemeanor for any person to collect bounties on foxes or weasels killed outside the state, and to specify that the Game and Inland Fish Commission shall match all bounties paid in the various counties for the killing of foxes and weasels (Agriculture and Natural Resources).

Preston County Mine Pickets Hearings Open

Hearings for 28 men arrested in the Preston County mine picketing were started yesterday afternoon and continued last night. Sheriff J. H. Benson said that no new information has been obtained in the investigation of a dynamite blast which damaged a small tipple Sunday night.

State Police said the tipple located near Tunnelton, W. Va., was used by the Joe Marrara concern. It was used by a non-union mine and about $200 will be required to put it back into operation.

Sheriff Benson said last night that about 35 or 40 carloads of pickets were out yesterday morning but no violence was reported.

The Independent Producers Association, a non-union organization in Preston County notified school authorities yesterday to serve hot lunches to all needy children in schools whether they were children of miners or not.

Raymond Hartman, president of the Independent Producers said the United Mine Workers had promised to put such a program into effect several weeks ago but did not carry it through.

Cab Drivers Ask Contract Changes

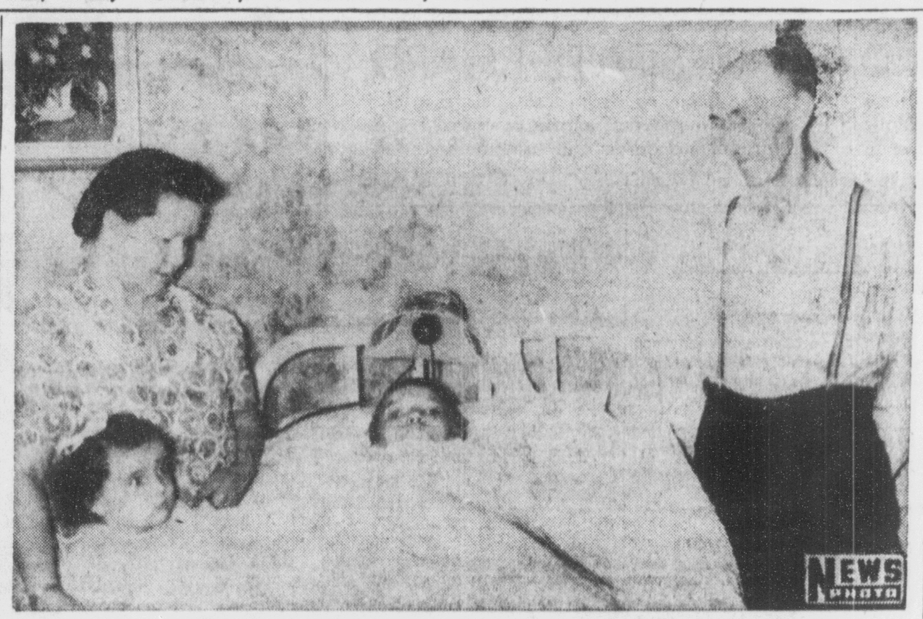
Officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), will meet with heads of the Astor and Yellow Top taxicab companies soon to present contract proposals of drivers.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said the some 60 drivers, at a meeting Sunday, decided to ask the following changes:

That the qualifying rate for 45 per cent commissions be dropped from $100 to $90 and that drivers be eligible for the advanced commission after six months service instead of one year. Such a rate is already in effect during June through September, the slower months.

That the "starting rate" of 35 per cent of fares for the first eight weeks of service of new drivers be applicable only to inexperienced drivers.

At present, Stutzman said, drivers get 35 per cent of commissions for their first eight weeks, and then 40 per cent for the first year.



Mother Praises Heart Group

Lying helpless in bed where she has been confined a hopeless paralytic for more than a year with rheumatic fever Mrs. Deloris Foreman is tenderly and patiently cared for by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. The family has been outspoken in its praise for the work of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association in caring for persons crippled by the dread diseases.

Young Bayard, W. Va. Mother, Rheumatic Fever Victim, Urges Support Of Local Heart Campaign

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

"My wish is that I would love to do something to help so that no other husband or father and mother would have to go through with what we have in the past couple of years."

That is the poignant expression of the mother of a hopelessly paralyzed rheumatic fever victim in Bayard, W. Va., who wrote the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association recently praising the wonderful work it is doing to help the invalid and sick from these dread cripplers.

Bedridden A Year

Mrs. Wilbur L. Cosner noted the local group was making a drive this month to raise $7,000 for its campaign to aid fever and heart victims and related the story of her 19-year-old daughter, Deloris, who has been bedridden for over a year.

The crippled girl is completely paralyzed with the exception of her head and arms and has been getting excellent care at her mother's home, Heart Association officials who visited the family reported.

Mother of a two-year-old girl, the stricken woman has been ill with rheumatic fever for several years and when complications set in, including heart disease, she became bedfast January 20, 1950.

Husband Unemployed

The girl's husband, Willard Eugene Foreman, is presently unemployed and seeking work in Washington while her parents care for her and the baby girl, Sandra.

Mrs. Betty Kirk, visiting nurse of the local Heart Association, reported Deloris was receiving the very best of care from her parents and gave the family some instructions for the comfort and additional care of the patient.

The father, an employe of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company in Bayard, is expecting to retire soon.

Senate Passes Daylight Saving Bill For City

Albert S. Paye Appointed City's Building Engineer

Albert S. Paye, city liaison engineer for the Cumberland-Ridgeley, W. Va., Flood Control Project, was named temporary building engineer by action of the Mayor and Council last night.

His appointment will become effective today.

Paye, a former resident of Keyser, W. Va., came here several years ago as a member of the Small-Paye Engineering Company. He has been a civil engineer since 1932.

He served for some time as county engineer and later resigned that post to accept the position of liaison engineer on the flood control project after the Small-Paye firm was dissolved.

The action was taken after William L. Marean, who was named building inspector by the Mayor and Council February 12, asked that the appointment be revoked.

Marean, who is special assistant to City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, said in a letter to the Mayor and Council that on several occasions prior to the February 12 meeting, the Mayor and members of the council had been informed he would not accept the position and he had given his reasons for refusing the job offer.

"I am unwilling at this time," Marean said, "to accept the position and respectfully request that the order be revoked."

He added he had not started the performance of the duties of building engineer and has worked continuously as assistant to the City Engineer.

Following the reading of Marean's letter, Mayor Post asserted that the communication was not entirely correct since city officials were under the impression that Marean would accept the job if he were appointed.

Grayson Wilson Is Found Dead

Grayson Dade Wilson, 63, was found dead yesterday morning at 9:40 o'clock in a rocking chair in his room over the fire hall at Flintstone. Deputy Medical Examiner for Allegany County Dr. H. V. Deming attributed death to a heart attack.

Lester Kolb, a fireman, stopped at the fire hall on his way to work and noticing there was no heat in the building, went in search of Wilson. He found the elderly man sitting in a rocking chair with a magazine on his lap. Kolb telephoned the sheriff's office and Sheriff Edward R. Muir accompanied by Dr. Deming, investigated. Dr. Deming estimated time of death at about 8 p. m. Sunday.

Wilson is survived by one sister, Mrs. James G. Walters, Youngstown, Ohio. He was formerly employed by a tree trimming firm and suffered a broken leg at work about two years ago. He was unable to regain use of the leg and was awarded 75 per cent disability by the state. He became financial secretary for the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Department about two years ago and had lived at the fire hall for about 3 years.

Born in Pennsylvania near here he was a son of the late Enos Robinette and Hannah Lashley Wilson. The body will remain at Hafer Funeral Home where a service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. Rev. R. Eugene May, pastor of Flintstone Methodist Church will officiate and burial will be in Murley's Branch Cemetery.

Drainage Ditch Repairs Sought For Mapleside

Group Asks City To Supply Pipe

A delegation of Mapleside residents requested the city to furnish pipe to repair drainage ditches at the entrance of Turner Street last night, at the Mayor and City Council meeting.

Spokesman for the group was Arthur Amtower, 3 Turner Street, who reported a large hole measuring 1½ feet by 18 feet had been caused by draining water at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Turner Street.

Driving a car across this large rupture was extremely hazardous, Amtower said, and reported damage to his automobile while attempting to enter Turner Street yesterday on his way home from work. The car was damaged to the extent of $9.12 he said when the "knee action" was broken as he crossed the ditch. Amtower told the council he was billing them for the repairs.

Offering to place the pipe himself if the city would furnish it, Amtower reported he had approached the council some 22 months ago in regard to the same situation.

City officials reported after the meeting that the city had to be notified in writing of a hazardous situation at least 24 hours prior to an accident before damages would be paid by the city.

The complaint was referred to the Street Department for recommendation and action.

Other members of the Turner Street delegation were Richard Mills, Amil Gano and George Cunningham.

"Miss Cumberland" Pageant Heads To Be Named Tonight

Plans for the annual "Miss Cumberland" pageant will be discussed at a meeting of the Junior Association of Commerce this evening at 8 p. m. in its office in the Liberty Trust Building.

Donald R. Coomber, director of the pageant said yesterday various committee chairmen will be appointed. He presented the plan for the 1951 affair to members of the association at a recent meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Coomber added that numerous valuable awards will be given to the city finalist.

This is the fifth year that such an affair has been conducted in Cumberland. The winner of the local pageant will go to the state finals. The state finalist will be named "Miss Maryland" and vie for national honors at Atlantic City, N. J., during the summer. Awards up to $25,000 in scholarships are offered each year to Miss America Pageant winners.

Two contestants from Cumberland have represented the state in Atlantic City. Miss Jean Dixon travelled to the finals in 1947. Mrs. Juanita Lookabaugh Bucy won the state competition in 1948. Mrs. Nadine Atkinson Gurley represented Cumberland at the state wide contest in 1949 and Miss Barbara Lee Fulton in 1950.

DONALD R. COOMBER

Coomber said the annual pageant offers many valuable awards and much incentive for the young ladies of Cumberland, and also serves as an excellent media of publicity for the city and state.

City To Urge Continuous Registration

Council Endorses Proposed Plan

Continuous registration, to be asked in connection with a city sponsored bill to change election dates to conform to the present fiscal year, will mean a considerable savings to the City of Cumberland.

The Mayor and Council recently voted, upon the recommendation of Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, to seek legislation providing for the change in election dates.

In connection with that legislation, it would have been necessary to also seek a change in the dates of registration. Instead, the city will seek to incorporate a plan for continuous registration.

Under the plan, applicants could register at any time with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Proof that savings under the plan would be considerable is that the cost of registration days in March, 1950, totaled $1,638.60.

The election bill would call for primary elections to be held the first Tuesday in June, general elections on the third Tuesday in June with successful candidates taking office in July.

$40,000 Damage Suit Is Filed In Court Here

Two Other Actions Placed On Docket

A $40,000 suit for damages, resulting from an automobile accident on McMullen Highway last May 8, was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

This suit was filed for Columbus Beeman by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, against William McComas Lee.

Beeman said in his declaration that the motor on his automobile stalled and the lights went out as he was driving out his driveway onto McMullen Highway. The plaintiff said he pushed the car while his wife guided the steering wheel.

The right side of the automobile was on the right edge of the highway, headed toward Cumberland, when Lee approached, driving the automobile of Durward Anderson, Radford, Va. The automobile struck Beeman, severely fracturing his leg and injuring other parts of his body, and then hit Beeman's car, according to the declaration. Beeman contends he has been permanently crippled and unable to pursue his occupation as a stone mason.

Woman Sues Father

In another suit filed in the court here, Mrs. Bertha I. Clopper seeks $5,000 damages from her father, Charles J. Iser.

Attorney Thomas N. Berry, who filed the suit for Mrs. Clopper, sets forth in the declaration that the plaintiff was violently assaulted by her father on or about January 29, kicked and painfully injured. This occurred on property on Christie Road, about a half mile east of Cumberland. Iser lives in a house there and Mrs. Clopper rents an apartment over a garage a short distance from the Iser residence.

Sues For Overtime

In a third suit filed in Allegany County Circuit Court, Bruce Shrout, through his attorney, William H. Geppert, seeks $2,500, from George and Lynch, Inc.

Shrout contends in his declaration that he worked for George and Lynch, Inc., as a concrete foreman on the flood control project in Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., from January, 1950, to December 1, 1950.

The plaintiff claims he was paid $1.65 per hour for his work. He argues that because he worked in both Maryland and West Virginia, he was employed in Interstate Commerce, and is entitled to time and one-half pay for overtime work. In at least two weeks, the plaintiff says, he worked as many as 90 hours and was paid a flat $1.65 per hour.

Woman Receives $1,000 Verdict

Mrs. Ethel Short, 930 Gay Street, was awarded a verdict of $1,000 by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court which deliberated about 45 minutes yesterday afternoon after hearing the evidence in her suit for $3,000.

The woman, through her attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., filed suit against the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

In her declaration, Mrs. Short contended that she bought a can of tomatoes from the A. & P. store on or about February 28, 1950. She added that she ate the tomatoes March 4, 1950, and became ill, charging that the can contained some harmful ingredient.

Attorneys for the defendant were Thomas B. Finan and John P Mackey.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital announces the following births:

Fraley Election Confirmed By State Senate

Gonder Recount Move Is Denied

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 26 (AP) — Neil C. Fraley's election as senator from Garrett County was confirmed tonight by the State Senate.

The Republican's election was contested by his Democratic opponent, former Senator Bernard I. Goner. Fraley was credited with 3,080 votes and Gonder with 3,079.

The Senate adopted by unanimous voice vote the report of its elections committee which denied Gonder's request for a recount. It also adopted the committee resolution that Fraley "is entitled" to the four-year-term.

Fraley was seated conditionally at opening of the General Assembly to await action on the contest.

"I want to express my thanks to the fair, impartial and non-partisan manner in which the committee approached this problem," Senator Fraley said.

Cite Sketchy Facts

Addressing himself to the other senators, he said "for each of you, the election was over last November. For me, it was not over until a few seconds ago."

In reporting unfavorably on Gonder's petition for a recount, the committee "was of the unanimous opinion that the facts alleged are so sketchy and ephemeral that it is bound under the law to recommend a denial . . . "

The facts presented by Gonder with the committee reactions were listed as follows:

1. That one ballot with an erasure on it was counted. However, it appeared that the witnesses did not know for whom such ballot was voted.

Reject Hearsay

2. That in two precincts it appeared that the general public was permitted to be present during counting of the ballots. There is no evidence in the depositing that persons who went in and out of the polling places were not watchers, challengers or other people legally entitled to be present.

3. That one of the officials left the polling place at Mountain Lane Park during the counting. There is some hearsay to the effect that no substitute was appointed, but the committee feels that hearsay should no be considered in a matter of this importance.

4. That in one precinct a man and a woman were observed in the ballot booth together. There is no evidence as to why they were there, as to whether or not one was an official assisting a handicapped voter to mark a ballot, or, in fact, as to whether or not either of these persons was then voting.

City Offers $50 Reward To Stop Airport Thefts

Action Taken After Vandalism Reported

The Mayor and Council last night voted to take steps to halt vandalism at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

It voted to offer a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person found guilty of wilful damage at the airport in Wiley Ford, W. Va.

Heller Reports Thefts

The action was taken after Charles Heller, maintenance superintendent, reported extensive damage to the port over the weekend.

Several wires were cut on the north end of the port, Heller said, by intruders who then drove a vehicle, probably a pickup truck, across the field to take two drums of cables which would be worth up to $100 at a junk yard.

He said the vandalism has been reported to Ridgeley, W. Va., and Cumberland authorities.

Cites Other Cases

Heller recounted a number of other cases of the constant vandalism which is taking place at the airport, citing the fact that the area is too large for one person to successfully patrol. The damage, he added, has not taken place while the port watchman is on duty.

He pointed out that trespassing on the airport is a hazard both to the planes that use the field and to any unauthorized person or vehicle which might be upon it when planes land or take off.

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz suggested the installation of an electrically charged fence around the field might stop such trespassing, saying he believed such a plan would be legal in West Virginia, where the port is located.

Has No Authority

Heller pointed out that he does not have authority to make arrests or carry arms on the airport.

Referred to the Street Commission was a complaint of C. B. Freshour, 217 Central Avenue, on a dangerous spot on the sidewalk of that street.

He said two poles had been removed from the street, that material used to cover the holes had cracked and asked that the city repair the damage.

Reporting on a request for a storm sewer on Utah and Gleason Street, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said the department has recommended the project but that no answer is forthcoming at present on the cost or date of installation.

Water consumption last week averaged 12,624,000 gallons. At Lake Gordon, water was five inches above the crest and at Lake Koon, three inches above the crest.

Shades Of 1845

Paul Evans, Hyndman, Pa., who is a clerk in the Potomac Edison Company power plant on Kelly Boulevard, is shown with his prized muzzle-loading shotgun, which was made in 1845. Evans and friends repaired the gun last fall so he now can fire it just as the original owner did more than a cenutry ago. It is believed the weapon was made by a gunsmith in Western Pennsylvania although Evans is not certain.

Hyndman Man Possesses OldMuzzle-LoadingShotgun

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

A 106-year old muzzle-loading shotgun which for many years lay idle and unused in a nearby Pennsylvania farm house is providing pleasure and the beginning of a hobby for Paul Evans, 28-year old clerk at Potomac Edison Company's power plant on Kelly Boulevard.

Evans, whose home is in Hyndman, Pa., discovered the shotgun back in 1940 when he was meandering through the second floor of an unoccupied house on the farm which his family then owned on the road to Fairhope, about a mile north of Hyndman.

That year Evans was a senior and he carried the weapon in a Daniel Boone role in a school play at Hyndman High School.

For 10 years after the high school episode the gun was allowed to deteriorate even more.

Rebuilt Weapon

Then, last fall, Evans and Norman White, 121 Springdale Street, another PE clerk, decided it would be fun to repair the gun so that it could be fired again. They got

Metal Polish Users Warned Of Poisoning

The City Health Department yesterday issued a warning to housewives and users of silver metal polish against the buying of silver cleaning preparations containing cyanide.

Several hundred jars of a cleaning compound were sold in the immediate area before the product was withdrawn from the market, health officials said.

Cyanide is not a usual ingredient in metal polish but sometimes is used to give the polish a high lustre and hold it together more compactly. Since cyanide is very poisonous the use of this type of cleaning compound on eating or cooking utensils and other household products could result in serious illness.

Persons who are doubtful about metal polish in their possession are urged to call the Health Department, Phone 717, for further information.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said the some 60 drivers, at a meeting Sunday, decided to ask the following changes:

That the qualifying rate for 45 per cent commissions be dropped from $100 to $90 and that drivers be eligible for the advanced commission after six months service instead of one year. Such a rate is already in effect during June through September, the slower months.

That the "starting rate" of 35 per cent of fares for the first eight weeks of service of new drivers be applicable only to inexperienced drivers.

At present, Stutzman said, drivers get 35 per cent of commissions for their first eight weeks, and then 40 per cent for the first year.

Mother Praises Heart Group

Lying helpless in bed where she has been confined a hopeless paralytic for more than a year with rheumatic fever Mrs. Deloris Foreman is tenderly and patiently cared for by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Cosner, and her two-year-old daughter, Sandra, in their modest Bayard, W. Va., home. The family has been outspoken in its praise for the work of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association in caring for persons crippled by the dread diseases.

Young Bayard, W. Va. Mother, Rheumatic Fever Victim, Urges Support Of Local Heart Campaign

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

"My wish is that I would love to do something to help so that no other husband or father and mother would have to go through with what we have in the past couple of years."

That is the poignant expression of the mother of a hopelessly paralyzed rheumatic fever victim in Bayard, W. Va., who wrote the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association recently praising the wonderful work it is doing to help the invalid and sick from these dread cripplers.

Bedridden A Year

Mrs. Wilbur L. Cosner noted the local group was making a drive this month to raise $7,000 for its campaign to aid fever and heart victims and related the story of her 19-year-old daughter, Deloris, who has been bedridden for over a year.

The crippled girl is completely paralyzed with the exception of her head and arms and has been getting excellent care at her mother's home, Heart Association officials who visited the family reported.

Mother of a two-year-old girl, the stricken woman has been ill with rheumatic fever for several years and when complications set in, including heart disease, she became bedfast January 20, 1950.

Husband Unemployed

The girl's husband, Willard Eugene Foreman, is presently unemployed and seeking work in Washington while her parents care for her and the baby girl, Sandra.

Mrs. Betty Kirk, visiting nurse of the local Heart Association, reported Deloris was receiving the very best of care from her parents and gave the family some instructions for the comfort and additional care of the patient.

The father, an employe of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company in Bayard, is expecting to retire soon.

Senate Passes Daylight Saving Bill For City

The Senate last night passed a bill authorizing the Mayor and Council of Cumberland to adopt a Daylight Savings Time ordinance.

The bill, introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble, makes it mandatory that any such ordinance shall be submitted to the residents of the city in a referendum.

Albert S. Paye Appointed City's Building Engineer

Albert S. Paye, city liaison engineer for the Cumberland-Ridgeley, W. Va., Flood Control Project, was named temporary building engineer by action of the Mayor and Council last night.

His appointment will become effective today.

Paye, a former resident of Keyser, W. Va., came here several years ago as a member of the Small-Paye Engineering Company. He has been a civil engineer since 1932.

He served for some time as county engineer and later resigned that post to accept the position of liaison engineer on the flood control project after the Small-Paye firm was dissolved.

The action was taken after William L. Marean, who was named building inspector by the Mayor and Council February 12, asked that the appointment be revoked.

Marean, who is special assistant to City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, said in a letter to the Mayor and Council that on several occasions prior to the February 12 meeting, the Mayor and members of the council had been informed he would not accept the position and he had given his reasons for refusing the job offer.

"I am unwilling at this time," Marean said, "to accept the position and respectfully request that the order be revoked."

He added he had not started the performance of the duties of building engineer and has worked continuously as assistant to the City Engineer.

Following the reading of Marean's letter, Mayor Post asserted that the communication was not entirely correct since city officials were under the impression that Marean would accept the job if he were appointed.

Malin Applies For Parking Lot License

Mayor and City Council referred an application for parking lot license at 137 South Liberty Street by Harold S. Malin to Police and Fire Departments and Building Engineer's Department at their weekly meeting last night.

Malin made the application to the council subject to the appointment of a new building engineer.

Grayson Wilson Is Found Dead

Grayson Dade Wilson, 63, was found dead yesterday morning at 9:40 o'clock in a rocking chair in his room over the fire hall at Flintstone. Deputy Medical Examiner for Allegany County Dr. H. V. Deming attributed death to a heart attack.

Lester Kolb, a fireman, stopped at the fire hall on his way to work and noticing there was no heat in the building, went in search of Wilson. He found the elderly man sitting in a rocking chair with a magazine on his lap. Kolb telephoned the sheriff's office and Sheriff Edward R. Muir accompanied by Dr. Deming, investigated. Dr. Deming estimated time of death at about 8 p. m. Sunday.

Wilson is survived by one sister, Mrs. James G. Walters, Youngstown, Ohio. He was formerly employed by a tree trimming firm and suffered a broken leg at work about two years ago. He was unable to regain use of the leg and was awarded 75 per cent disability by the state. He became financial secretary for the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Department about two years ago and had lived at the fire hall for about 3 years.

Born in Pennsylvania near here he was a son of the late Enos Robinette and Hannah Lashley Wilson. The body will remain at Hafer Funeral Home where a service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. Rev. R. Eugene May, pastor of Flintstone Methodist Church will officiate and burial will be in Murley's Branch Cemetery.

Drainage Ditch Repairs Sought For Mapleside

Group Asks City To Supply Pipe

A delegation of Mapleside residents requested the city to furnish pipe to repair drainage ditches at the entrance of Turner Street last night, at the Mayor and City Council meeting.

Spokesman for the group was Arthur Amtower, 3 Turner Street, who reported a large hole measuring 1½ feet by 18 feet had been caused by draining water at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Turner Street.

Driving a car across this large rupture was extremely hazardous, Amtower said, and reported damage to his automobile while attempting to enter Turner Street yesterday on his way home from work. The car was damaged to the extent of $9.12 he said when the "knee action" was broken as he crossed the ditch. Amtower told the council he was billing them for the repairs.

Offering to place the pipe himself if the city would furnish it, Amtower reported he had approached the council some 22 months ago in regard to the same situation.

City officials reported after the meeting that the city had to be notified in writing of a hazardous situation at least 24 hours prior to an accident before damages would be paid by the city.

The complaint was referred to the Street Department for recommendation and action.

Other members of the Turner Street delegation were Richard Mills, Amil Gano and George Cunningham.

"Miss Cumberland" Pageant Heads To Be Named Tonight

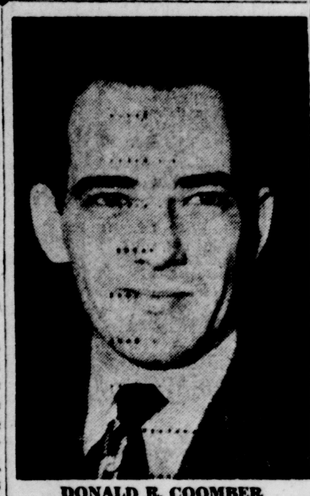
Plans for the annual "Miss Cumberland" pageant will be discussed at a meeting of the Junior Association of Commerce this evening at 8 p. m. in its office in the Liberty Trust Building.

Donald R. Coomber, director of the pageant said yesterday various committee chairmen will be appointed. He presented the plan for the 1951 affair to members of the association at a recent meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Coomber added that numerous valuable awards will be given to the city finalist.

This is the fifth year that such an affair has been conducted in Cumberland. The winner of the local pageant will go to the state finals. The state finalist will be named "Miss Maryland" and vie for national honors at Atlantic City, N. J., during the summer. Awards up to $25,000 in scholarships are offered each year to Miss America Pageant winners.

Two contestants from Cumberland have represented the state in Atlantic City. Miss Jean Dixon travelled to the finals in 1947. Mrs. Juanita Lookabaugh Bucy won the state competition in 1948. Mrs. Nadine Atkinson Gurley represented Cumberland at the state wide contest in 1949 and Miss Barbara Lee Fulton in 1950.



DONALD R. COOMBER

Coomber said the annual pageant offers many valuable awards and much incentive for the young ladies of Cumberland, and also serves as an excellent media of publicity for the city and state.

City To Urge Continuous Registration

Council Endorses Proposed Plan

Continuous registration, to be asked in connection with a city sponsored bill to change election dates to conform to the present fiscal year, will mean a considerable savings to the City of Cumberland.

The Mayor and Council recently voted, upon the recommendation of Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, to seek legislation providing for the change in election dates.

In connection with that legislation, it would have been necessary to also seek a change in the dates of registration. Instead, the city will seek to incorporate a plan for continuous registration.

Under the plan, applicants could register at any time with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Proof that savings under the plan would be considerable is that the cost of registration days in March, 1950, totaled $1,638.60.

The election bill would call for primary elections to be held the first Tuesday in June, general elections on the third Tuesday in June with successful candidates taking office in July.

$40,000 Damage Suit Is Eiled In Court Here

Two Other Actions Placed On Docket

A $40,000 suit for damages, resulting from an automobile accident on McMullen Highway last May 8, was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

This suit was filed for Columbus Beeman by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, against William McComas Lee.

Beeman said in his declaration that the motor on his automobile stalled and the lights went out as he was driving out his driveway onto McMullen Highway. The plaintiff said he pushed the car while his wife guided the steering wheel.

The right side of the automobile was on the right edge of the highway, headed toward Cumberland, when Lee approached, driving the automobile of Durward Anderson, Radford, Va. The automobile struck Beeman, severely fracturing his leg and injuring other parts of his body, and then hit Beeman's car, according to the declaration. Beeman contends he has been permanently crippled and unable to pursue his occupation as a stone mason.

Woman Sues Father

In another suit filed in the court here, Mrs. Bertha I. Clopper seeks $5,000 damages from her father, Charles J. Iser.

Attorney Thomas N. Berry, who filed the suit for Mrs. Clopper, sets forth in the declaration that the plaintiff was violently assaulted by her father on or about January 29, kicked and painfully injured. This occurred on property on Christie Road, about a half mile east of Cumberland. Iser lives in a house there and Mrs. Clopper rents an apartment over a garage a short distance from the Iser residence.

Sues For Overtime

In a third suit filed in Allegany County Circuit Court, Bruce Shrout, through his attorney, William H. Geppert, seeks $2,500, from George and Lynch, Inc.

Shrout contends in his declaration that he worked for George and Lynch, Inc., as a concrete foreman on the flood control project in Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., from January, 1950, to December 1, 1950.

The plaintiff claims he was paid $1.65 per hour for his work. He argues that because he worked in both Maryland and West Virginia, he was employed in Interstate Commerce, and is entitled to time and one-half pay for overtime work. In at least two weeks, the plaintiff says, he worked as many as 90 hours and was paid a flat $1.65 per hour.

Woman Receives $1,000 Verdict

Mrs. Ethel Short, 930 Gay Street, was awarded a verdict of $1,000 by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court which deliberated about 45 minutes yesterday afternoon after hearing the evidence in her suit for $3,000.

The woman, through her attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., filed suit against the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

In her declaration, Mrs. Short contended that she bought a can of tomatoes from the A. & P. store on or about February 28, 1950. She added that she ate the tomatoes March 4, 1950, and became ill, charging that the can contained some harmful ingredient.

Attorneys for the defendant were Thomas B. Finan and John P Mackey.

U. S. MARINES LEAD ALLIED DRIVE

New Law Limits Presidential Tenure

Taft Insists Allies Guarantee Army To Defend West Europe Before U. S. Sends Any Troops

Demands American Share In Peacetime Be Subject To Congressional Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Sen. Taft demanded today that the Allies as a whole guarantee an army strong enough to defend Western Europe before the United States sends any troops.

The Ohio Republican also insisted that the American share in peacetime be subject to congressional approval.

Taft sprang his proposals as amendments to the administration's troops-for-Europe resolution which would give advance Senate approval to sending American foot soldiers to join the North Atlantic defense force.

The Senator, testifying before the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees, declared the proportion of U. S. and European divisions in the international force under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower should be settled publicly.

Administration Plan Prepared

The chairmen of the two committees, Sens. Connally (D-Tex) and Russell (D-Ga), have prepared the administration resolution which would call for a constant presidential check on the European contribution to the defense undertaking.

Taft, GOP policy leader in the Senate, gave his views after John Sherman Cooper, Republican adviser to the State Department, had declared Congress should not throw restrictions around the sending of troops. To do so, Cooper said, might kill off the confidence of European nations in their own defense and might lead to "the greatest surrender in history."

Taft declared that the force now in sight for Western Europe—37 divisions "as far as anybody can judge" is inadequate.

Includes Six U. S. Divisions

This includes six American divisions, two of them already in Europe and four more to be sent later.

Taft said that if the United States puts too much effort into supplying ground troops for Europe it will fail to build up its air and sea strength.

"We will fail to defend Alaska—in fact, apparently we are already prepared to surrender the western part of Aslaska—when we should be undertaking, in case of war, to occupy ourselves some portion of the Siberian wilds," he declared.

This was an obvious reference to a Senate committee's assertion that parts of Alaska could not be held in event of all-out war.

Wisconsin's Ban On Public Utility Strikes Invalid

Act Unconstitutional, Supreme Court Rules

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — A Wisconsin "public utility anti-strike law" — similar to laws in a number of other states — was declared unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court.

The Wisconsin law, in forbidding strikes on public utilities, required compulsory arbitration of labor-management disputes that threatened to interrupt essential public service. The 6-3 court decision throwing it out held that it encroached on federal law, notably the "national emergency strike" clauses of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Pa. Has Similar Law

The National Labor Relations Act of 1935 (Wagner Act) and the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 (Taft-Hartley) "are the supreme law of the land," the court held.

"This court must take the comprehensive and valid federal legislation as enacted and declare invalid state regulation which impinges on that legislation," it added.

Laws dealing with strikes in public utilities have been enacted by Florida, Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Cigaret Tax Law Upheld

Affirmed a decision which upheld a federal law designed to help states collect taxes on out-of-state cigaret purchases. The law requires that when a seller ships cigarets to a buyer in another state, the seller must make a monthly report to the tobacco tax authorities of that state. The idea is to enable state and local authorities to check against taxes claimed to be due.

Refused to review a decision by the U. S. Court of Appeals here that John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers may not force employes of 18 coal mines owned by steel companies to join the union. The NLRB had ruled that the attempt to require membership was an unfair labor practice.

Vlado Clementis Arrested As Spy In Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 27 (AP)—Dr. Vlado Clementis, (above), Communist former foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, was reported by a Prague newspaper early today to be under arrest on spy charges.

Clementis, ousted from the Foreign Ministry last March because he had "lost faith in Stalin," had been missing from his home since late January. He was also missing from his office at the state bank, where he headed the securities department, and there was no official disclosure of his whereabouts.

Mlada, a Prague youth newspaper, early today said Clementis' arrest had been announced last Wednesday at a meeting here of the central committee of the Czechoslovak Communist Party.

Bradley Reveals Over 250,000 Yanks In Korea

Air Force, Navy Not Included In Figure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley disclosed today that well over 250,000 Americans are fighting in Korea "for this nation and our position in world affairs."

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff used 250,000 as a round figure "for security reasons" when he testified before the House Armed Services Committee.

Later he told reporters that it did not include the Air Force fighting over Korea or the Navy fighting off the shores of the peninsula. Recently Navy sources said 90,000 officers and men were engaged in Korean waters. The Air Force has not disclosed its figures, but its strength is known to be considerable.

The committee is working on a universal military training bill, and has tentatively approved induction of youths at 18½ with the understanding that they will not be sent overseas until they are 19 years old.

Bradley was unable to give the committee any assurance that the need for military manpower would decline in the foreseeable future.

"Despite the peace talk going around, we're in just as much of an emergency as we were six months ago," he said. "We musn't be lulled into false security."

The General urged 27 months of active service for inductees. (The committee is thinking in terms of 26 months). He told the committee that of the 21 months now required about eight are taken up with basic training, leave, travel and service processes like induction. Any extension of the 13 months left for training with a unit, he said, would aid materially.

One principal aim now, the General said, was a method of troop rotation to relieve battle-weary fighters in Korea. He added a scheme would be put into effect as soon as manpower requirements are met.

Later in the hearing Gen. Bradley said he was "sorry this question of individual replacements has come up." "Our people in Korea will hear of it and get impatient," he said. "But we hope to start on a replacement plan on a very small scale in the near future."

Shell Explodes, 22 Soldiers Hurt

CAMP ROBERTS, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP) — Twenty-two Camp Roberts soldiers were injured here today when a 60-mm mortar shell was discharged accidentally in the training area.

Nineteen of those injured required hospitalization.

First Lt. Edward F. Stewart, commanding Company "C" of the 1401st Engineer Combat Battalion, said seven soldiers were hurt seriously. Five of these were reported on the critical list.

Stewart described the accident:

"The company was marching in an extended platoon formation through a training area in the East Garrison section of the camp, when one of the men picked up what appeared to be a dud.

"He was warned to put it down and one way or another threw or dropped it on the ground.

"As he did so the shell exploded."

Nevada 36th State To Okay Amendment

Does Not Apply To President Truman

By TOM WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The 22nd amendment, barring future presidents from serving more than two elective terms or more than 10 years in the White House, became the law of the land last night.

Utah and Nevada—the 35th and 36th states to approve the amendment—voted for ratification last night, Nevada completing action at 7:30 p. m. (EST).

A three-fourths majority, 36 states, was needed to make the amendment effective.

It will not apply to President Truman, who was specifically exempted when Congress submitted the proposed amendment to the states in 1947.

The last amendment to the Constitution—the 21st—repealed prohibition. It became effective Dec. 5, 1933. Utah was the 36th state to ratify that one.

Nevada's lawmakers stood by to grab for their state the distinction of making the 2nd amendment a part of the Constitution.

The Nevada Senate voted 16 to 1 for ratification minutes after learning that Utah had voted to approve.

The proposal to ratify cleared the Nevada Assembly, 29 to 12, early in the afternoon.

The vote in the Utah Senate was 14 to 8. The House already had passed the measure.

The proposed amendment has been kicking around in state legislatures since March, 1947, but only 24 states had voted to ratify until late last month.

Ratification was completed with a rush.

Other states voting to ratify in the last few weeks have been Indiana, Montana, Idaho, New Mexico, Wyoming, Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee, Texas, and North Carolina.

Congress specified the amendment must be ratified by March, 1954, to become effective.

Nevada's quick action nosed out Minnesota, which had hoped to be the 36th state to ratify.

Acting under a suspension of the rules, the Minnesota Legislature had placed a joint resolution to ratify ahead of other bills and scheduled a vote for 4 p. m. (EST) today.

Outside the legal phraseology, here's what the amendment provides:

That a president may serve only two elected terms. A man who served up to two years of another president's unexpired term could still serve an additional eight years.

But a vice persident succeeding to the presidency and serving more than two years before the term expired would be eligible for election only once.

Steelman Enters Railroad Dispute

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The White House took a hand in the deadlocked wage dispute of a million non-operating railroad workers today as another rail union chief accused Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman of trying to "Chisel in" on their settlement.

Steelman invited the negotiators for carriers and 15 non-operating unions to the White House for a series of separate conferences. Press Secretary Joseph H. Short said the move was suggested by the National Mediation Board. It has been trying for three weeks to break the stalemate over wages between the carriers and the non-operating groups, which consists of maintenance men, clerks, etc.

A last-minute request by the carriers that the non-operating unions agree to a moratorium on demanding any changes in rules governing working conditions threw the negotiations into a tailspin Saturday night.

Steelman, who got out of a sickbed, argued vainly with the carriers at their hotel suite last night in an effort to reach a compromise, but he had to resume with both sides at the White House today.

GI Insurance Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — A bill to provide cost-free $10,000 life insurance policies for all individuals on duty with the armed forces since June 27 got Senate approval today.

Passage was by voice vote.

Possible Discovery Of New "Minor Planet" Announced

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Possible discovery of a new and speedy "minor planet" with unusual characteristics was announced today by a naval astronomer.

Disclosing photographic evidence of a previously-unobserved celestial "object," Dr. William Markowitz said it is tentatively presumed to be an asteroid, or minor planet.

He declared it may be somewhere between 50 and 100 miles in diameter and may have an orbit that would eventually bring it within 245,000 miles of the earth.

He emphasized, however, that at least one more observation of the object—scheduled for tonight—would be necessary to compute the orbit, or pathway.

If it turned out that the orbit would come within 245,000 miles of the earth in its swing around the sun, it would be the first asteroid of appreciable size to come that close, Markowitz said. The previous record is about one million miles.

RFC Probers May Question Democratic Chairman Boyle

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of a committee investigating alleged political influence in the granting of RFC loans, intimated tonight that Willam B. Boyle, Jr., head of the Democratic National Committee, may be called for questioning.

Fulbright told reporters he "wouldn't be surprised" if his Senate Banking Subcommittee decided to ask Boyle to testify. The name of the Democratic National Chairman has been mentioned repeatedly in the inquiry.

Last week Fulbright suggested to E. Merl Young, a central figure in the probe, that Young invite Boyle to make an appearance before the senators.

Young Changes Mind

Young indicated that he might do so, but today, on the advice of his counsel, he told the committee he had dropped the idea. It was then that Fulbright indicated the investigators might call Boyle themselves.

Most of today's session was devoted to testimony about a political feud in the Dallas office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which until this year was headed by L. B. Glidden.

Glidden testified that John B. Skiles, his personnel director in Dallas, "on the basis of his friendship with Donald Dawson and his political powers" caused almost a year of turmoil and intrigue in Dallas and defied Glidden to fire him.

Skiles Testifies

Dawson is one of President Truman's White House aides. With Young he has been accused by the subcommittee of exerting influence on the RFC in connection with loans.

Skiles testified today nobody volunteered to fix a $10,1000,000 RFC loan for the Texmass Corp. He was supporting Young, who has been accused of soliciting an $85,000 fee to help Texmass, a former Texas and Massachusetts oil development company, get the loan.

Ten Women, Two Men On Collazo Jury

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A jury finally was chosen today to decide the life-or-death fate of Oscar Collazo, charged with killing a White House guard during an attempt to assassinate President Truman.

It took almost the whole day—and 180 prospective jurors—to choose the 10 women and two men who will judge the small, 37-year-old Puerto Rican.

Collazo, a member of the Nationalist Party which hates the U. S., sat seemingly unconcerned throughout the proceedings. In a neat brown suit and rimless glasses, he was one of the most inconspicuous persons in the court room.

There was but one dramatic moment.

Collazo was asked to stand, so the prospective jurors could see him.

Then the question was put: Do any of you know this man?

Here Mrs. Collazo, in a blue skirt and a lacy blouse with a sweater over her shoulders, got up. A marshal hurriedly approached, motioning that it was the prospective jurors who were being asked the question.

Mrs. Collazo sat down.

Nobody else indicated they knew the man who, the government contends, joined with Griselio Torresola on Nov. 1 in trying to shoot their way into the Blair House.

Mr. Truman lives at the Blair House while the White House is being repaired. He was home, taking a nap, when the attack was made.

Torresola and a guard, Pvt. Leslie Coffelt, died in the blazing gunfire. Collazo and two other guards were injured.

The two guards who were wounded, Donald Birdzell and Joseph Downs, were in court today—and sat directly behind Mrs. Collazo.

The prospective jurors were weeded out by mass questioning. The largest group, 90, was excused because they work for the government. Prosecuting and defense attorneys agreed that government employes should not serve on the jury.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — After 18 consecutive weeks of price rises, wholesale market prices leveled off during the week ended Feb. 20, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

40,000 Civilian Products Will Be Affected By Cut

Johnston's Formula For Wages Awaited

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The National Production Authority today notified rubber manufacturers that natural rubber will be reduced or banned entirely in 40,000 civilian products on March 1.

The order, due shortly, will limit small-size passenger car tires to 15 per cent natural rubber, larger tires to 22 per cent, baseball centers to 10 per cent and sponge rubber "falsies" to no natural rubber at all.

The purpose is to force upon industry greater usage of synthetic rubber and conserve the natural product for the defense stockpile, military uses and expanding industrial production.

Wage Formula Expected

NPA's announcement stole the show on the mobilization front from Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston. He is expected to issue shortly the "catch-up" formula, breaking the wage freeze and permitting some pay check-fattening for perhaps 40,000,000 workers.

Johnston's aides told reporters he would not take any action tonight. There was talk that he probably would announce his decision tomorrow.

Some officials predicted privately that Johnston might simply sign the 10 per cent pay increase formula voted Feb. 15 by the Wage Stabilization Board.

That decision split the board, 6 to 3, and caused its three dissenting labor members to send resignations to the White House. President Truman has not yet accepted them, but unless the rift is healed, the board may be left virtually powerless.

Reports persisted, therefore, that Johnston might write into the formula, or recommend that the board consider, some modifications to make it more acceptable to labor.

May OK "Escalator" Clauses

One such proposal, it was reported, would be to legalize those wage "escalator" clauses which were written into union contracts before the date of the wage-price freeze on Jan. 26.

NPA's rubber announcement was accompanied by a 32-page listing of specifications covering all manner of rubber goods. The agency said, however, that there will be little effect on quality and little or no change in "appearance, performance or safety." Golf balls and baseballs should travel as far as they do now, officials said.

Hen Lays Giant Egg, Then Dies

WINDHAM, N. H., Feb. 26. (AP)—The chicken that reputedly laid the nation's biggest egg — an eight and one-half ouncer — is dead.

Farm Superintendent Carl McGowan said the bird expired after delivering the giant egg today at the poultry farm of Dr. Henry F. Dearborn of Lawrence, Mass.

The egg measured 10 inches around the long way and eight and one half inches around the middle. It was delivered by a New Hampshire red.

Quadruple Amputee Thinks U. S. Course In Korea Right

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. &—Pfc. Robert L. Smith, who lost both arms and both legs in Korea, told reporters today:

"I'd sooner fight the battle over there than over here."

That was his reply to a question as to whether the 20-year-old Middleburg, Pa., youngster thought the United States had done the right thing by getting into the fight in Korea.

It was the first news conference for the quadruple amputee since he was brought to the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital for surgery and treatment.

The quiet - mannered, slender, dark-haired youth appeared happy as he chatted with newsmen and photographers. He confidently held a cigaret in one of the artificial hands he has been using almost since he arrived at the hospital in late December.

Right now he's looking forward to a visit home.

"I'll probably get a pass in about a month, so I can spend a day or two at home," he said.

As for plans for his future, he seems optimistic.

"I don't know what I'll do exactly, but I'd like to start my own business," he said. "I think for one thing, I'd like to build my own home. My brother has offered to help in whatever I want to do."

Whatever he decided to do he has some money to help him along. Smith said he has received "something over $13,000" in donations since his plight became known.

Leathernecks Capture Hills Near Road Hub

Reds Massing For Probable Offensive

TOKYO, Tuesday, Feb. 27 (AP)—Leathernecks of the U. S. First Marine Division today seized hills south of war-wrecked Hoengsong and turned that Central Korean road hub into a no-man's land.

This veteran division, which fought the magnificent withdrawal action last December from Changjin reservoir in Northeast Korea, has been spearheading the present Allied central front push. But until today its' identity was not revealed.

Seven American divisions now have been identified along more than 80 miles of the western and Central fronts extending eastward from Seoul.

The U. S. 25th and Third Divisions were in the western sector between Seoul and Yangpyong. This front follows roughly the south bank of the Han River.

Red Troops Massing

From Yangpyong, 27 miles east of Seoul, the front moves irregularly for about 55 miles to Pangnim. American divisions along that front are: the 24 Infantry, First Cavalry, First Marine, 2nd and 7th Infantry.

Other Allied elements in the drive include the 27th British Brigade, South Koreans, Greek, Turks, French and Canadians.

Chinese Communists buildups behind a maze of trenches and strongpoints 20 to 30 miles south of the 38th parallel gave fresh indications today of preparations for a new do-or-die Red offensive in South Korea.

The Reds fought three, stubborn, rear-guard actions elsewhere on the central front and offered stiffening resistance north and west of an important road junction at Pangnim, 25 miles east of Hoengsong.

Today's Eighth Army communique said air observers estimated an enemy division was dug in three miles northeast of Hoengsong. Planes attacked from 3,000 to 5,000 Reds near Yongdu about 15 miles northwest of Hoengsong.

Gen. MarArthur's 24-hour summary covering operations up to 6 a. m. today reported "determined enemy resistance" west of Hoengsong.

Reds Burn Trestle

Field dispatches said a Korean Communist column with camouflaged tanks was advancing toward an American combat team west of Pangnim.

Twelve miles north, a sizable Red buildup was in progress. The Reds set fire to wooden trestles of a bridge five miles north of the town and piled stones on the roadway to halt American armored columns.

An air strike was called on the Red concentration, estimated at 700 men and undetermined number of tanks.

Another hazard developed when winds of hurricane strength were forecast on the east-central front. Troops along the line were ordered to "buckle down" for rain and winds of 60 miles an hour or more.

In the west, U. S. 25th Division patrols crossed the Han River and probed within two miles southeast of Seoul but were forced back to the south bank by intense artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire.

South Korean troops in rubber boats were unable to cross the Han three miles east of Seoul when they encountered intense fire.

Prince, Reported Missing, Located

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (AP) — Price David Mdivani came home today.

Reported missing since Friday, the last of the fabulous "Marrying Mdivani" brothers drove up to his home after telephoning his wife.

Police, who had broadcast an all-points bulletin for the missing Prince, said the matter is now out of their hands.

Mdivani indicated he had been away on a short trip.

"I guess I should have told my wife I was not coming home over the wekend," he said. "It is most unfortunate."

Earlier the manager of the La Quinta Hotel at Palm Springs told police Mdivani was seen there Saturday and Sunday. Asked about this, Mdivani smiled and replied: "Well, perhaps."

Youth Held On $500 Bond For Manslaughter

Tasker Reported Still Unconscious

Thomas Whitacre, Jr., 21-year-old Vindex youth, is being held in Garrett County jail on $500 bond following a hearing yesterday before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch in Oakland on a manslaughter charge.

The charge was filed as a result of the death of William Franklin Stewart, 32-year-old Vindex coal miner, who was killed Saturday night in an automobile crash near Swanton on Maryland Route No. 135. Whitacre was the driver of the vehicle.

Sheriff Paul Fisher reported last night Whitacre is being held on bond for trial at a later date pending the outcome of injuries to Mrs. Wanda Harvey Stewart, widow of the fatally injured man, and Leo Tasker, 15-year-old Vindex boy who is reported in "very poor" condition at Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown, W. Va., where he and Mrs. Stewart were taken following the mishap.

Attending physicians said Tasker lost considerable blood from a huge gash in his leg and was given blood plasma.

busy and with the help of several fellow workers and Harry Morgan, Frostburg gunsmith, necessary parts to recondition the weapon were obtained.

Powder, shot and caps were acquired from business members of the National Muzzleloading Rifle Association, an organization with headquarters in Portsmouth, Ohio, which encourages and promotes the sport of firing flint and caplock guns throughout the United States.

When all accessories were available, Evans and White went to the Fort Hill Rifle Range, located on the O'Neal Farm, near Naves Crossroad.

Three and one-quarter drams of black powder were poured down the 38-inch throat of the 12-gauge followed by several paper wads which were tamped tight with the ramrod. One and one-quarter ounces of No. 6 shot was measured into the bore and an overshot wad run down into place. The hammer was raised, a percussion cap fitted over the firing nipple and the scattergun was prepared for action.

Evans aimed at a quart can on a bush 30 yards away, fired and after the blue smoke and thunder disappeared he saw that the can had been filled with holes and was off the bush.

Muzzle Dated 1845

Evans would like to learn a little more about the history of the gun. The muzzle bears the date 1845, which apparently refers to the year in which it was made. It is believed that the gun, which has been in the Evans family for at least three generations, was made by a Western Pennsylvania gunsmith, probably one in Pittsburgh or Bedford. The letters LF on the muzzle apparently were the initials of the gunsmith, but they are not much of a clue for the gun's owner.

Mahlon Evans, Paul's father, used to fire the gun as a boy. The elder Evans recalls that one day he ran out of shot while hunting rabbits. He put a toy marble in the gun and fired and the force of the marble when it hit the rabbit killed the animal.

Although it might add to the adventure aspects of the story to say that Evans' ancestors used the gun to hunt Indians, this is not considered likely. An expert contends that the gun was too heavy to have been used effectively in any sort of combat. It probably was used exclusively for hunting game.

Now that Evans has one old gun in working condition, he would like to add to the collection. His difficulty is finding guns at prices he can pay.

Letters To The Editor

Communications to The Cumberland News must contain name and address of the sender. We will withhold both on request.

Reply And Invitation

Less than a week ago, Robert S. Webster, president of the St. Johnsbury, Vt., Chamber of Commerce, wrote to The Cumberland News taking issue with statements of Herman E. Basehore, co-chairman of the Somerset County, Pa., Maple Festival, about the merits of Somerset County maple syrup. Today Mr. Basehore replies with a letter to Mr. Webster.

February 26, 1951

Sir:

I just finished reading your letter to the editor of The Cumberland News in Cumberland, Md., in which you made an attempt to confuse Pennsylvanians and Marylanders by telling them that Vermont processors purchase Pennsylvania 100 percent pure maple syrup to use commercially only in tobacco and similar products.

You, of course, are no different than a lot of other red-blooded Americans, and without a doubt all of us must have some Texas spirit in us. Without a question Vermont produces good maple syrup, but if it's the best in the world why contaminate it with 85 percent cane syrup?

As for taking a back seat, Somerset County's 100 percent pure maple producers would not think of riding anywhere but on the front seat.

Personally, I'd very much enjoy a trip to Vermont, but unfortunately as co-chairman for the annual Somerset County Maple Festival here in Meyersdale, I feel my services can be put to better use right here in Somerset County. And, inasmuch as you admit that our festivals may be staged in a much grander manner, I'd like to take this opportunity of personally inviting you to come here and be our guest on April 13 and 14.

I'm positive it will be an experience you'll never forget.

Yours truly,
HERMAN E. BASEHORE

Votes For Minors

(The following letter submitted to The News is a copy of a letter sent to Congressman J. Glenn Beall.)

Sir:

If the Administration is to urge upon the Congress enactment of a law requiring our 18-year-old sons to enter the armed forces—and I do not say that the service of boys of such tender years is unnecessary—I think the Republicans in Congress can secure a degree of equity in the law as it may be enacted.

It is trite to recall that a major cause of the Revolutionary War was the attempt of the British to impose taxes upon the Colonies without representation.

Under the anticipated draft law, the Nation will call upon our minor sons to contribute far more than tax money, that is, to donate the most important years of their lives, and maybe their lives per se, to the needs of their country. It is only fitting and proper, therefore, that all minors in the armed forces of the United States shall be endowed with suffrage.

If the minor draftees are to provide our best soldiers, as General Marshall has reportedly stated to the committee of the Congress, then who can fairly say they should not have a voice in their government?

I believe that every such boy in the armed forces, endowed with the right to participate in the selection of his commander-in-chief in 1952, will feel that he is indeed serving a Democratic Government, and may well support the party that secures the franchise for him.

Yours truly,
Cumberland, Maryland

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The Korean campaign has revived stories of fantastic poker games in rest areas, with GIs risking a whole month's salary on a single hand. Typical is the tale of the Missouri farm hand who professed to know nothing of the game. His buddies saw a chance for some easy pickings and enthusiastically urged him to participate.

He lost moderately and unspectacularly for some time, and then came the big hand of the evening. One after another the players raised the limit. The Missourian stayed each time. Finally came the showdown. Player number one had an ace-high straight. Number two had a heart flush. Number three triumphantly produced a king-high full house, and was about to rake in the pot when the boy from Missouri asked quietly, "One minute, mister. I ain't quite sure, but I think I got you beat with these two pair of sevens."

Local Milk Supply On National Honor Roll

Cumberland is one of 160 cities and counties in the United States placed on the honor roll of the U. S. Public Health Service for safe milk, according to Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele, of the USPH.

At the same time, Dr. Scheele announced a tightening of the eligibility requirements for special listing.

"The 'honor roll' communities have been marked for special attention because the total market milk supply sold within their corporate limits rates 90 per cent or more, according to a rating method based on the Grade A sanitary requirements of the USPH's recommended milk ordinance," Dr. Scheele explained.

Sickness in U. S. costs a billion and a half a year, says a doctor. But just think how many people get pleasure out of talking about it.

The RFC Scandal

The Senate subcommittee, headed by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, which has come up with startling charges of how the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been operated, cannot let the investigation drop, now that President Truman has executed a sudden about-face and given in to some of the demands of the committee for changes it deemed necessary in the RFC setup.

The charges the committee made—that persons close to the President were the people to see to get a loan from the RFC—are too serious to be dropped. And it is obvious that the committee has only scratched the surface. Not once, in news stories of the committee's finding, did the name of the man who heads companies which have received nearly one-half of all RFC loans outstanding appear.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, created in 1931 to bolster sagging business, is authorized to lend money to concerns which, for one reason or another, cannot borrow from private institutions. It is run by a five-man board, has 30 regional offices, 4,622 employes and a pool of $1,500,000,000 public funds from which to make loans. In the fiscal year 1950 it granted 5,506 loans totaling $302,000,000.

RFC has been under attack several yeaps for its lending policies. Two years ago the Senate authorized the investigation by the subcommittee headed by Senator Fulbright. Major charges made by the committee are that certain pebple were unduly influential with officials of the RFC.

Donald S. Dawson, President Truman's personal adviser, was cited as one alleged to have persuaded officials to make loans to friend of the Democratic National Committee. Another was E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, who made $60,000 a year as "expediter" of RFC loans. The committee charged that RFC directors have approved loans "in disregard of established operating policies" of the corporation. It said only drastic action can restore the integrity of the RFC.

President Truman described the committee's findings as "asinine," and said he would call the members to the White House to explain what in the world they were driving at. He defiantly sent the names of all five RFC directors to the Senate, requesting that they be reconfirmed for new terms.

Less than a week later he came out in favor of a one-man management of RFC and approved other concessions obviously intended to mollify the Senate investigators.

Why?

It is now revealed it may be necessary to take r e ships out of mouthballs. The same may be true of statesmen.

The Trapper Trapped

For the first time a Chinese Communist trap in Korea has trapped the trapper. Mass infiltration by night and surprise attack, which almost won the war last November, have not worked this time. The latest Communist counter-offensive has proved a costly failure.

The enemy's desperate effort to stop the losses inflicted upon him daily since the Eighth Army began its "limited offensive" a month ago has come to grief. The attempt has only increased his casualties—to an estimated 100,000. And currently U. S. forces are making good on General Ridgway's boast that "we shall strike back and destroy the bulk of the enemy's forces which we do not capture."

So the news from Korea is heartening, all the more because it has followed a different pattern this time. On other occasions the campaign has plunged so swiftly from triumph to black defeat that most persons feared to hope for the outcome that now seems assured.

General Ridgway's plan of operation has accomplished many things. It has caused the enemy such heavy losses that he was forced to try a counter-stroke. It has made that counter-stroke cost the enemy still more losses. And it has demonstrated that the Chinese Reds no longer have a sure formula for winning battles.

A barrage of occurrences is battering the world, some of them historical, others merely hysterical.

Creditor's Usual Fate

Although the United States is willing to settle Russia's $10,800,000,000 lend - lease account for $800,000,000 — or less than 10 cents on the dollar — the Soviet press continues to insist that Washington is not interested in reaching an agreement and is utilizing the long - drawn - out negotiations "for a further sharpening of the relations" between this country and Russia.

That's the kind of nonsense Moscow has been releasing since the inception of the bolshevik government. It is not difficult to understand why four Presidents—Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover—refused to recognize the Moscow regime.

The goods, military and otherwise — which the Roosevelt Administration sent to the Soviet during World War II and the Truman Administration sent after the shooting stopped were supposed to be paid for some time.

What Washington now proposes to clear the books, is to write the account off by regarding it as close to a gift. All the thanks it gets in return is to have its sincerity questioned by the debtor and to be accused of seeking a deadlock in the negotiations for propaganda purposes.

Tito Makes An Offer

Yugoslavia's dictator, Tito, is a Communist and heads a typical Communist state—except that it doesn't take orders from Moscow. He seems determined to maintain that position. But he once said he was neutral as between the East and West. Later he said Yugoslavia would go to war if directly attacked but not in the "interests of other powers." Now he has gone further.

He has said in a public statement that Yugoslavia will not only defend herself against assault but will resist any aggression in Europe, provided that the aggression elsewhere threatens Yugoslav independence. Of course, Tito can interpret his reservation as he pleases. But his statement seems to mean that any attempt to upset the present balance in Europe, to the detriment of Yugoslavia, will bring him into the struggle.

How far can Tito be trusted to keep his word? That's a question hard to answer because his attitude has grown out of Russian enmity toward him and not out of enthusiasm for the West on his part.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Temper Tantrums

INFANCY and early childhood are not as carefree periods as we first sometimes are led to believe. The first time junior gets his dander up he is angry—a reaction to his helplessness and the inability to cope with the existing circumstances. Episodes of anger reach their height between 1 and 2 years of age and seldom are as severe before or after that age. From this time on the dells become less violent and explosive. This has its drawbacks, however, because feelings of resentment and retaliation are retained for a longer period of time.

Up to the age of 8 years, the average outburst lasts less than five minutes whereas the adult is likely to brood and sulk for hours and days when aroused in a similar fashion. It is little wonder that high blood pressure is so common. In this respect the temper tantrum has some merit. It is a healthy outlet for rage and by crying, screaming, kicking, throwing the arms about, shouting, and calling names, the youngster releases the energy that has been created through indignation. Parents would like their offspring to "work it off" some other way but it is a fact that most boys and girls are as sweet as lambs when the incident is over.

Most incidents of this type occur before lunch and dinner, suggesting that hunger and fatigue play a role. The parents want to eat too and may be just as tired. This produces a tense situation and it is difficult to say who starts the first spark that set off the explosion. Many other factors enter the picture. The more adults in the home, the more different points of view there are to contend with. Children are more touchy when they are constipated or have a slight cold. Even the presence of guests may prove upsetting.

Although the temper tantrum serves its purpose, it is not the ideal solution. Tots who have been subjected to unreasonable demands and discipline are more inclined to such paroxysms; if parents make amendments along this line the child often improves. Furthermore, the lad should be taught to solve his own problems. Anger is not a crime but the energy produced by the sensation should be used to overcome the offending agent in a peaceful and logical manner. This is more easily said than done but children who can be taught to face problems intelligently and to cooperate are well on their way to becoming leaders. Imitation helps, inasmuch as adults who never fly off the handle usually have self-controlled youngsters. Running an orderly household, with confusion kept to a minimum, is conducive to calmness and serenity.

• — • — •

Babies become enraged at simple things such as being bathed, dressed, and fed. As they grow older they may object to going to bed or to the toilet or having the face and hands washed. They resent having their routine disturbed as well as interference when they want to do something by themselves. There also are disagreements over play and sharing toys. Although these circumstances represent a normal part of childhood, some degree of guidance often helps; but the parents should strike a happy medium when the children begin to squabble. Too much assistance discourages the youngster from fighting his own battles and makes him overly dependent on mother and father.

PORK-WORM DISEASE

B. H. writes: How can trichinosis be detected?

REPLY

When symptoms occur (they often are absent), the individual who has eaten trichinous pork may develop nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and colic as in other types of food poisoning. Later manifestations include muscular aching, puffiness of the skin, and blood changes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on trichinosis which describes the preventive measures so necessary because we have no treatment for this disease.

Yes, especially after a cold or an alcoholic binge. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on pyelitis (kidney infection).

Big Four Will Meet In Washington In April; Defense Mobilizer To Crack Down On Five Percenters; John Steelman May Defy Subpoena

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic circles are now convinced the long-anticipated Big Four foreign ministers meeting will not only be held this April but will be held in Washington.

The meeting between Secretary of State Acheson, French Foreign Minister Schuman, British Foreign Minister Bevin and Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky is generally looked upon by the diplomatic corps as the world's last opportunity to reach a peaceful settlement between the East and West.

In the delicate touch-and-go atmosphere of high-level diplomacy, Washington analysts have detected what they interpret as "secret" signals from Moscow indicating that the Kremlin is willing to talk out, rather than shoot out the differences between democracy and communism.

The most important clues are contained in dispatches to U. S. papers from Moscow—dispatches that have to get by tough Moscow censors. These stories have reported that the Kremlin was "delighted" to receive "encouraging response" to its recent diplomatic notes. Washington experts reason that these stories would be killed by politburo censors unless the Kremlin intended to convey a message to the U. S. through them.

NOTE 1—The U. S. wants the meeting held in Washington for world prestige and domestic political reasons.

• Threatening jail for five percenters, Mobilization Boss Charlie Wilson promised congressional watchdogs the other day that he would establish a small business office to circumvent influence peddlers and help small firms get government contracts.

He made the offer behind closed doors of the Joint Congressional Committee on Defense Production, at the suggestion of Chairman Burnet Maybank of South Carolina.

"I hate to see five or ten percenters around," snorted Maybank. "You should do something so that a man can come to Washington to find out what is what without paying some fellow $2,000 or $3,000.

"If I find that, the two of them will go to jail," warned Wilson.

He agreed to organize a small-business office "that will be complete to give all help and information that we know how to give to aid small business."

This was a relief to Senator Capehart, Indiana Republican, who complained that "small-business men are worrying every congressman and senator to death with telephone calls and letters, asking how do we get business."

"Senator, I have thousands of letters," sympathized the mobilization boss. "The first week I was down here, I had 20,000 letters. I think the problem is very pressing."

Here are other important highlights of Wilson's closed-door session with the congressional watchdogs:

1. Wilson warned against overexpansion of industry. "We have got to strike a balance on the program for non-essential facilities, particularly in such things as steel and aluminum," he declared. "Because if we just go willy-nilly and permit expansion beyond a certain point, we will handicap ourselves in the production program for military items."

Advocates Trailers

2. Wilson advocated trailers instead of temporary housing to house workers in defense areas. "I would hate to see the taxpayers' money wasted in building shoebox houses, because it would be a complete waste," he warned.

3. Wilson was not worried about the copper shortage. "I do not think the copper shortage is quite as serious as it has been made out to be. But we could use more copper," he said. "In my judgment, you can get more copper if you will take the two-cent duty off copper that comes from Chile and other places."

4. Wilson agreed to organize a committee on science and development to develop new production methods, such as manufacturing aluminum from clay.

"In the next three years—and this is the fundamental philosophy in my office—we must really make America mighty from a military standpoint and at the same time keep a sound economy in the country," declared the defense mobilizer. Then he added firmly: "I believe it can be done."

Washington Pipeline

Presidential Assistant John Steelman may try to defy a Senate subpoena. He spurned an invitation from Ray Murdock, chief counsel for the Senate Labor-Management Subcommittee, to testify at the railroad hearing. When Murdock warned that a subpoena might be used, Steelman replied loftily: "When I act, it is the same as the President." . . . Committee members are at odds over prolonging the Senate hearing into "influence and favoritism" in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Subcommittee Chairman Fulbright of Arkansas is satisfied with President Truman's plan to reorganize the RFC and is willing to wind up the hearings. However the Republicans, led by Senator Capehart of Indiana, hope to drag out the hearings another three months . . . Meanwhile, Fulbright has rounded out the President again on appointing Marriner Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board as the new RFC boss. Truman is sour on Eccles, but already turned down one Fulbright feeler. However, Fulbright has tried, again, pointing out this would be a good way for the President to remove Eccles from the Federal Reserve Board . . . Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson will not return to General Electric after the war. He has told senators that he is through with industry . . . The Army has secretly tested a new, 58-ton supertank, which will beat anything the Russians have. Can't go into details, but we've just okayed a $10,000,000 order . . . There's been a contest in Washington for the best song about the nation's capital. One entry is titled: "Deep in the Heart of Taxes."

The nation faces a critical shortage of public-school teachers next fall, because of increased student enrollments and the fact that many low-paid teachers will seek jobs in defense plants, where they can double their salaries . . . School superintendents report they are having difficulty getting teachers to renew one-year contracts expiring in June. Something Congress should start thinking about.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

WASHINGTON

THERE is a simple test of real importance of the crushing victory of General Ridgway's United Nations forces, which has been received with remarkable indifference in this country. The bloody failure of the Communist offensive in Korea markedly reduces the likelihood of an attack on Indo-China by the Chinese Communist "liberation army," organized for this purpose in South China.

This is not to say that the possibility of such an attack is now ruled out. French General De Lattre de Tassigny, commanding the French and loyal Indo-Chinese forces, has informed his government that he still rates the chances of a Chinese invasion at about even, and he is making his preparations accordingly.

Yet day by day, the Chinese Communists are being weakened in Korea. Day by day, the French and the Nationalist Indo Chinese forces are being strengthened in Indo-China. With every day that passes, the season of the low clouds called the "crachin," which conceals troop movements from air attack, is drawing to its close. In short, for Mao Tse-Tung and his Chinese Communist armies, time is running out.

There can be no serious doubt that an invasion of Indo-China was planned by the Chinese and their Russian senior partners up until very recently, whether or not these plans have now been abandoned. The evidence on this point is overwhelming: the organization of the 250,000-man "liberation Army" on the Indo-Chinese border, under a Sino-Soviet joint staff; the switch in the propaganda line of Indo-Chinese Communist chief Ho Chi Minh, stressing the glories of being "liberated" by the Chinese; the strategy agreed upon at the Peking meeting of Asiatic Communist leaders more than a year ago, calling for the "liberation by armed struggle" first of South Korea, then of Indo-China, then of all Southeast Asia.

While the United Nations forces were reeling back in Korea, this schedule must have seemed wholly practical. Indeed, the Communist delegate, General Wu, virtually announced in the United Nations that Indo-China was next on the list. Yet the schedule cannot seem so practical now, which is undoubtedly the mean reason for Mao Tse-Tung's reported mission to Moscow.

Internal Situation Changed

For one thing, De Lattre de Tassigny has transformed the internal situation. Far more politically astute than his colonial-minded predecessor, General Carpentier, De Lattre has repeated continuously that the French are now in Indo-China as allies rather than masters of the Indo-Chinese; and that French forces will depart as soon as the security of the new state is achieved. As a result, the Nationalist, anti-Communist forces, long dormant, are beginning to quicken into real life. The arming of a Nationalist Indo-Chinese Army is proceeding ahead of schedule.

Moreover, American supplies, including modern tanks and aircraft, are at last beginning to reach Indo-China in important quantities. Partly for this reason, De Lattre's forces have decisively defeated Ho Chi Minh's attempt to capture Hanoi and all north Indo-China. De Lattre now has a firm base in the Red River delta. Ho can continue to harrass the French and Nationalist forces, but he cannot now win decisively. He has almost certainly had his last chance.

Thus the local risk involved in a Chinese invasion of Indo-China is growing daily. So is the global risk. In the demoralized atmosphere pro-

Churchill Missed Point In Navy Command Blast

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Winston Churchill, usually well-informed, simply didn't have the facts when he stirred up in the House of Commons a flag-waving debate bemoaning the appointment of an American admiral to a post which the former British Prime Minister believed was to be a command over all the 12 navies of the North Atlantic Treaty countries.

Actually there is not to be any over-all naval commander at all, either now or in the future. The setup doesn't call for it. The official plan, carefully worked out by committees from the 12 governments during the last several weeks, calls for a supreme allied commander in Europe and that's General Eisenhower. His principal deputy or second in command is British General Montgomery. Whatever naval forces are utilized by General Eisenhower will be under his command along with all air forces and ground forces in Europe.

Will Be Under Eisenhower

There will be subordinate naval commanders in the European area working with General Eisenhower and doubtless a British admiral will command the ships of the British home fleet and any other allied units working in that particular vicinity.

There is as yet to be appointed a naval commander for the Mediterranean and matter for the North Sea area. Perhaps two British admirals will command two of these three divisions. But both will be under General Eisenhower, anyway.

The command given to Admiral William M. Fechteler of the United States Navy, which was the subject of the Churchill blast, is to coordinate all naval operations in the Atlantic—that is, between this country and the waters immediately surrounding Europe. The area of this command ranges from our own Atlantic coast northward along the Canadian coast to Iceland and across to the Azores and other Portuguese islands. It does not include British home waters.

Admiral Fechteler will not report to or be a part of General Eisenhower's command. His headquarters will be at Norfolk, Va., some point from any place in Europe from which to watch Atlantic ocean operations apart from the immediate approaches to Europe. The Fechteler command will have primary responsibility for any anti-submarine campaign and the transport of troops to Europe.

As for the Mediterranean, it is unlikely that the American carrier task forces which are essential to that area's operations would be placed under the command of any British admiral. Unfortunately, Great Britain has no unit to her carrier aviation and her commanders do not have the benefit of experience which American naval commanders got in carrier-based aviation during the last war.

Incidentally the professional gentlemen of the 12 countries who have been mapping out the details of the various naval commands are working harmoniously together and until the Churchill outburst, no evidence of national pride had arisen to impair the practicability of the decisions made.

When Mr. Churchill asks "where is the British admiral?" he might have been asked in turn, "and where are the British ships?" For it is a fact that since 1945 the British have not been entrusted by the joint government and it is now looking for a basis for military attack that might have been of more pertinent interest to the world than the proud shout an over-all command appointment that hasn't been and never will be made. Undoubtedly, speaking of traditions, Mr. Churchill is a devoted friend of America but in the event pointing to the "traditions" of the British Navy, he overlooked the fact that the American Navy isn't so lacking in "traditions" either, even going so far back as John Paul Jones, Commodore Perry, James Lawrence and Stephen Decatur.

Surely the British Government which is now serving as the friend-liest force to police the seas, is not aware, though maybe Mr. Churchill knows it, that there isn't a power there about to usurp naval responsibility. American sea power which today is basically unchanged from its wartime appearance, one to secure those communications of united nations, and all navies that operate in accordance to plans Mr. Churchill was privy to when Minister.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Grouping Of Nations

AWAR, such as the general war of 1939-45, does not readily subside. Those who expected peace to come like a rainbow after a storm have only had disappointment for their naive optimism.

The elimination of Japan as the prime power of Asia alone was sufficient to unsettle that continent and to keep it in chaos for a prolonged period. The competition between Soviet China and India for the succession to Japan's position will increase the confusion on that continent beyond anything that is clearly visible at this moment.

The organization of the United Nations in 1945 solved no major problem. The first score in relation to the United Nations was its formation prior to a peace treaty. This alone could be responsible for the failure to write a peace treaty. Also the United Nations charter contains inherent weaknesses, such as the veto, the separation of authorities of substance and procedure; between the General Assembly and the Security Council. But the most telling score of all is the fact that all nations are not automatically members of the United Nations.

If UN is to be a parliament of nations, upon what just grounds could any nation be omitted?

The absurdity becomes more apparent when we note that Ireland is not a member, but the Ukraine, which is only a province, is a member. If the Ukraine is a member, why not the Turkmen Soviet Socialist Republic? And if the Ukraine, why not Spain?

The fact is that Mr. Roosevelt, who, at Yalta, assisted by Harry Hopkins and Alger Hiss, established the basis for the United Nations conference, never understood the nature of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics or its alien broadcloth form, the Third International, alias communism, alias communism, alias the Federation of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Therefore, within the United Nations, but even more effectively outside it, are a group of countries that belong to a world union at the head of which stands Soviet Russia and whose central authority is in the Kremlin. These nations include, Soviet Russia, Rumania, Poland, Bulgaria, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Eastern Germany, Mongolia, China (excluding Manchuria), North Korea, Viet Minh, Tibet. This union of states expects to make conquests in Burma this summer.

This is one of the most powerful groupings of states in history, embracing at least 800,000,000 human beings. It is policed by a vast Soviet army which is not only well-equipped but is extraordinarily mobile. It is also policed by an espionage service which includes national Communist parties in every country on earth, but all reporting to the Kremlin.

The Commonwealth of Nations is what remains of the British Empire. This is an amazing institution because it is strictly voluntary, unpoliced, uncovered. No country ever remains in membership in the commonwealth unless it wants to.

In April, 1949, the prime ministers of the Commonwealth countries—United Kingdom, Canada (minister external affairs), Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon—made it possible for India to remain with the Commonwealth and yet be republican, the Indian government signaling the fact by "the control of the free association of its independent member nations, and as such the head of the Commonwealth." In a word, India is part of the Commonwealth, but there is no longer an emperor.

This voluntary union of independent countries does hold together in a surprising fashion. Within the United Nations the Commonwealth countries have shown a surprising cohesion—the more astounding as no one of these countries is bound to the decisions of any other. It is an experiment in voluntary association which may restore the responsibility of the British Empire without the employment of authority.

Another grouping of nations is the Arab League. This is a loose association of Moslem states which has no authority and actually no international existence and yet possesses a moral importance wherever there are Moslems — from the North Coast of Africa, across

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotional

WITH A SINFUL WOMAN

John 8:11 (R. V.).
Read verses 1-11.

"Grant to the understanding of broken lives and how to heal them." Thus runs a petition of a prayer. There are broken lives and most of us are too clumsy in our efforts to mend them together.

I once had occasion to consult a Salvation Army colonel in regard to the disposition of an illegitimate child. She knew every seamy side of life, the gross sins and the sins of respectability. She said, "I have seen sins far more heinous than the sins of this child's mother. I advised the young mother to take the child with her and face the world." There was withering scorn, yet not without humor, she called my attention to the twenty-third chapter of Matthew's Gospel. Those who "love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues . . ." "Ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith." Would that the Church and her ministry might learn where Jesus let his judgment fall, and that truth alone is the judge.

Let Us Pray: Forgive us, Lord, for our unkindness, our unholy judgments, and our self - righteousness. Grant us the understanding of broken lives and how to heal them. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Md. House Votes Two-Term Limit For Presidents

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 26 (AP)—The House of Delegates voted tonight to ratify a constitutional amendment limiting the president to two elective terms in the White House.

However, the question had become academic less than two hours before, when Nevada became the 36th state to ratify the 22nd amendment, making it a part of the Constitution.

The Maryland House approved the amendment by an 84-27 roll call. It now goes to the State Senate.

During a short debate preceding the vote, Delegate Sklar (D-Balto 4th) in urging defeat of the resolution, declared:

"This third term question should be left to the people to decide by vote, if and when it arises again.

"There may come a time when the country should not be deprived of the services of a man the people might need."

And in arguing for passage, Delegate Pumphrey (D-Prince George's), asserted:

"If and when the United States becomes dependent on the services of one man, you will no longer have a democracy."

It was Pumphrey who broke the news to the delegates that the amendment had already received the approval of three-fourth of the states.

Meanwhile, the Senate was approving a bill to grant 29 state scholarships to the University of Maryland medical school. State senators, with the exception of those in Baltimore and Montgomery Counties, would select the students to receive them. The other two counties would leave it up in the college board of admissions to choose the scholarship students from their subdivisions.

Each student would get free tuition, books and laboratory expenses, plus $500 a year for living expenses.

The bill now goes to the House

With exception of the presidential tenure resolution, the delegates sidestepped all but one other controversial issue on its agenda for the night.

After a short flurry of debate, the delegates killed a bill which would have required the managers of parimutuel departments at the various race tracks to be residents of Maryland.

The vote was 88-25 to uphold the unfavorable report on the bill by the Ways and Means Committee.

If was taken after Delegate Buffington (D-Balto 3rd) announced he will introduce substitute legislation within the next few days.

Committee Approves Rent Law Extension

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A three-month, stopgap extension of the federal rent control law, under which rents on some 7,000,000 homes are controlled, was approved today by the Senate Banking Committee.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), committee chairman, said hearings would be held meanwhile on the question of what longer term-controls would be needed in view of the defense program.

Existing law provides that federal controls shall expire March 31, except in communities which decide to continue them. Communities so deciding may remain under federal ceilings until June 30.

Louis, Charles Fight Slated For Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 26— (INS) —Joe Louis tonight was reported slated for a second chance to regain the heavyweight championship April 11 at the Chicago Stadium in a 15-round match with Champion Ezzard Charles.

The Chicago Herald-American said that only a few minor details remained to be completed. Louis, Marshall Miles, his manager, and Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club were said to have reached the agreement in a conference today.

Largest Of Quadruplets Taken From Incubator

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26 (AP) — Richard, the largest of the Pappas quadruplets, was taken out of his incubator and given over to his 28-year-old mother for feeding today.

The other three still are being kept in incubators, but the oxygen has been shut off. Dr. Gibson J. Wells of the hospital staff said the incubators are merely being used as cribs "more for convenience than anything else."

All four lost from two to three onces at the daily weigh-in today, but Dr. Wells assuringly said that is perfectly natural, since new babies are never fed for 24 hours after birth.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP) —Mrs. Lawrence Kology is taking down the Christmas tree she had kept on her sun porch since December 25.

She had hoped her thrice wounded son, Pvt. Robert Kology, 18, would get home from Korea to see it and his presents underneath it.

Today she received word from the Army Robert had died of his wounds.

A unit of the Atlantic Fleet, the carrier was temporarily assigned to Task Force 77. She will enter the naval shipyard at Norfolk for repairs in the near future.

Attlee Supports Adm. Fechteler

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee firmly supported today the appointment of U. S. Adm. William N. Fechteler as supreme naval commander for the North Atlantic.

He told the House of Commons a Briton will exercise operational control in the Eastern Atlantic area—the waters of greatest importance to this island nation.

Stung by the questions of Conservatives, the Laborite Prime Minister suggested the outcry raised in Britain over Fechteler's forthcoming appointment was not helping solve the involved command problems of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill made it plain Attlee had not heard the last of this question. Conservative dissatisfaction was not put at rest by Attlee's declaration that the present setup was designed to get quick deployment of naval forces to danger spots in time of war. The speaker ended questioning under a House rule before complete elaboration of the question was made.

Crisis Rocks German Communist Party

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—The worst crisis since the end of the war burst upon the West German Communist Party today.

Three of 11 state party chairmen have been fired. A good sized purification of party ranks is in the offing following a Munich conference of "Bolshevik criticism and self criticism" this week. More heads will roll in the wake of the conferences, Allied intelligence officers said.

The West Germany party's woes are symptomatic of a growing Europe-wide Communist ailment which is causing an apparently continuous purge.

Chubby Women To Reduce For Benefit Of British TV

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A former burlesque girl grown chubby and a housewife with a similar plight will start melting away for the benefit of their waistlines and British television viewers tomorrow.

They'll go on a special diet, 1,000 calories a day, and every two weeks will appear on television to show what progress is being made. The viewers will be able to judge for themselves as the pair stand before photographic cutouts made at the previous showing.

In three months, the former burlesque girl, Averil Ames, hopes to trim down from her present 196 pounds to 136. The housewife, Mrs. Charlotte Black, 49, wants to weigh in at 140 instead of her present 186.

The non-commercial British Broadcasting Corporation thinks the three-month stunt should attract about a million new women viewers from Britain's women with similar desires to reduce. The BBC also expects a few masculine eyes to tune in as the experiment progresses and the subjects acquire more sightly waistlines.

The diet involves no exercise. It just limits dieters to 1,000 calories a day from a special list of foods.

The doctor who selected Miss Ames and Mrs. Black from a list of 200 candidates says the diet simply amounts to "taking in less energy than you use."

Miss Ames, now a musical comedy actress, blames her present figure on Italian food. In an eight-month tour of Italy, she said, she gained 56 pounds.

Mrs. Black, a housewife and mother of four, offered no reason for the shape she's in.

Super-Carrier Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Legislation to authorize the building of the world's largest known aircraft carrier cleared Congress and was sent to the White House today.

The proposed 60,000-ton behemoth would be capable of launching long-range planes carrying atomic bombs.

By a voice vote the Senate concluded Congressional action on a $2,358,000,000 Navy construction bill, which includes the carrier. The bill cleared the House in the same form.

Under terms of the bill, the Navy will build 140 new major vessels and modernize 292 existing ships with the latest type of weapons.

Freak Hen Lays Two Eggs A Day

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 26 (AP) — The state "Chicken of Tomorrow" committee—which aims at better chickens by ordinary means—heard of a hen today who has the same idea.

A Rhode Island red, owned by Mrs. Minnie Wells of West Liberty, has been laying two eggs a day for more than a month. The hen has two egg-laying outlets.

"We're licked," said Committee Member B. P. Sandles.

Election Inquiry Resumes Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee resumes hearings Tuesday on the Maryland senatorial campaign with a Baltimore printer as the first witness.

The printer, William Fedder, is expected to testify concerning charges made by former Sen. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, the Fedder was threatened by supporters of Sen. Butler (R-Md).

Tydings, in outlining charges that "lies" and a "faked" photograph were used by Butler campaign workers last year, said Fedder was taken on a midnight ride.

Threats were made, Tydings said, in an effort to recover a letter "in which Butler guaranteed personally the payment of approximately $12,000 of printing bills owed to Fedder."

"It was evident," Tydings said, "that this letter, verifying a breach of the law, was to be recaptured at all hazards."

Tydings charged that both federal and Maryland laws were violated by the Butler forces failing to account for some of the campaign expenses.

Butler, who defeated the veteran Tydings in the November election, has disclaimed responsibility for the circulation of the protested literature and picture.

Counsel for the group announced today after a closed session that full day sessions are planned Tuesday through Thursday for the first batch of witnesses.

One of these witnesses, Miss Jean Kerr, legislative aide to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), has advised the committee she will be unable to appear at this time because of a fractured hip, counsel said.

High Court Upholds State Railroad Tax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld a Maryland tax on money earned in that state by railroads in transporting exported and imported goods.

The Western Maryland Railway Company and the Canton Railroad Company contested the levy. Canton operates a marine terminal and connecting rail lines in Baltimore.

Justice Douglas delivered the 7-0 ruling. Chief Justice Vipson took no part. Justice Jackson reserved his decision, saying he fears the majority ruling may be found to be "untenable."

Altar Boy Fatally Injured By Stone

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26 (AP)—Roland Satterfield, 11-year-old altar boy struck by a stone on his way home from church, died today of an intercranial hemmorhage.

Police said he was an innocent victim of a neighborhood pitched battle involving several other boys. Roland suffered a head injury while passing a northeast Baltimore public square where the fight was in progress last night, they said.

"GIVE ME THIS '51 DODGE for long life...dependability"

"I've driven Dodge cars for years...know from experience that you just can't beat a Dodge for DEPENDABILITY"

—Says Dan E. Alford, Chicago, Ill.

Here's why Dodge delivers more miles per dollar

EVERYTHING about this great new '51 Dodge—the way it looks, feels, rides and handles—tells you that here's a car that's built to last.

It's a car that's stunning to look at, with plenty of head, leg and shoulder room—a car that's engineered from bumper to bumper to last longer, go farther and deliver more miles per dollar over the years to come.

Spend 5 Minutes With Us

Five short minutes behind the wheel will tell you why this is the car for you—for the years ahead.

You'll find that the new Oriflow Shock Absorbers not only give you a truly new kind of ride—but the resulting smoothness and freedom from wheel "hop" and "bounce" mean less car wear, prolong car life.

Famous Dodge Fluid Drive, with its smoother starts and stops, "cushions" all moving parts from engine to the rear wheels—adds to the life of your Dodge, helps give better tire mileage, lowers maintenance costs.

Come In Today

See how you could pay $1,000 more for a car and still not get all the extra room, handling ease and rugged dependability of this new '51 Dodge.

NEW KIND OF RIDE! New Oriflow shock absorbers let you float down roads as bad they stop other cars. Wheels hug the ground. Never before anything like it!

NEW WATCHTOWER VISIBILITY—Wider windshield, "wrap-around" rear window, ever-level side windows make sure every mile you drive is a safer, more comfortable mile.

The 1951 Dependable DODGE

Just a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars

A long time ago a lot of folks had the idea all stocks were owned by a fistful of rich people.

Maybe that idea was right once.

Today's estimates of how many people own stocks range up to 15,000,000. All kinds of people own stocks. Office workers . . . housewives . . . mechanics . . . school teachers . . . lawyers . . . storekeepers . . . farmers. Everyday people with small incomes and large. Owning stock is owning a "piece of a business"—risking one's money to share in the profits.

You may even own stock indirectly—whether you know it or not. Most companies issuing fire and casualty insurance, as well as many pension funds, invest a part of their resources in the stocks of American industry.

What some people do not know is that the Stock Exchange does not buy or sell stocks. It doesn't put the price tag on them, either. The Exchange does provide a market place where people can buy or sell securities. The Exchange does see that prices are arrived at openly and fairly and published promptly.

The handling of investors' orders to buy or sell a few shares or hundreds is the day-to-day business of member firms of the Exchange. Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, can always be had at their offices, without obligation.

Soft Drink Tax In West Virginia Is Recommended

Senate Finance Group Favorable

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 26 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee recommended passage late today of the house-passed measure to tax soft drinks as a means of financing a four-year medical school.

This means abandonment of any plan for an increase in the consumer's sales tax or other tax devices to finance the construction and maintenance of the proposed school.

Governor Patteson has stood fast in his insistence on such a tax, which would impose a one-cent-per-bottle levy on all soft drinks, with a proportionate levy on soda fountain drinks.

Rogers Explains His Vote On Tax

KEYSER, W. Va.—John I. Rogers, Mineral County's Republican member of the West Virginia House of Delegates, voted against the bill to impose an excise tax upon the sale, use, handling or distribution of bottled soft drinks and soft drink syrup.

Rogers refused to vote for the bill because he said it was pushed as a vehicle with which to raise funds for the building of a medical school in the state.

"The Medical School," he said in his explanation of his vote in the House, "has been a foremost topic in West Virginia for better than two years. The Legislature failed to establish the school in 1949, when the money was then available in a huge waiting surplus. x x x To me it is a folly to impose a new tax on an already heavily burdened people for any purpose when the objective of that purpose has not been established.

"I know that the funds realized from the tax would be earmarked for the Medical School." But let's not forget Barboursville and Old Sweet Springs. If this session should fail to establish the Medical School, the 1953 session could then legally do as it saw fit with the funds. The chances, under this procedure are very great for selling the people of West Virginia short.

"Good faith and mutual trust would have first established the Medical School and then imposed the necessary tax."

Korean War Dead To Be Added To City Honor Roll

Names of Allegany county soldiers making the supreme sacrifice in Korea will be placed on a special section to the war memorial honor roll in City Hall, Thomas F. Conlon, chairman, said yesterday morning.

Conlon said a meeting of the committee will be called soon to arrange for the special section.

The local committee, as well as similar groups in other towns, had been faced with the question of what to do about the honor roll since this country is not, officially, at war in Korea.

It appears that only the names of those killed will be placed on the honor roll. No plans have been made to put the names of draftees, enlistees or Reservists called to duty on the roll.

Available, unofficial records here list 15 men killed in service from the county.

Conlon urged that families send names of soldiers killed in Korea to him at the Post Office. He said letters may be addressed "Postmaster, Cumberland, Md."

Sharp Drop Shown In January Building

February building expenditures took a sharp drop—especially in new construction, the city engineer's office reported yesterday.

Records for the month show only four permits granted. One for $100 to erect a billboard, was the only new construction listed. The other three were for additions and improvements totalling $45,550 or an overall $45,650 for the period.

This compares with $130,535 in February a year ago when ten permits were issued for new construction and 12 for additions and improvements. New construction a year ago was $71,850.

The February report also dropped far below that of January this year when the expenditure estimates totaled $96,760. This included six permits for new construction at estimated costs of $75,200.

Five applications for occupancy permits were filed at the office this month. Three were granted outright and two referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals. They are pending.

Three Suspended Officers Are Discharged From Force

Three probationary members of the Cumberland Police Department have been notified by mail that they have been discharged for "conduct unbecoming an officer."

The three men, Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller, were indefinitely suspended from the force January 30 as a result of an incident at the Midway Inn on McMullen Highway early the morning of Sunday, January 28.

Police Chief H. Emmett Flynn sent out the letters of discharge after granting the men time to apply to the Civil Service Commission for a hearing in the case. Upon expiration of the time limit and the failure of the men to ask for a hearing they were ordered discharged formally.

The three men were at the inn and as the result of a fracas involving William Shumaker, 222 Henderson Avenue, a warrant was sworn out against Frankfort. At a hearing in Trial Magistrates' Court, Frankfort was found guilty of assaulting Shumaker and given 30 days in the county jail. He appealed the sentence.

Shumaker, who said he was struck with a blackjack, was treated at Memorial Hospital for head lacerations. The three probationary officers were off duty at the time of the alleged blackjacking.

Frankfort joined the Police Department September 21, 1950, Browning became a probationary officer August 16, 1950, and Miller was accepted July 3, 1950.

7th Playoff For Title · Johnstown Club Folds · Bender Hits 606,715 · Barons Seek A-A Berth

By C. V. BURNS

The playoff game on Thursday night at Beall High School between Barton and Fort Hill for the W.M.I. League championship is the 7th in the circuit's 31-year history.

There was a playoff for the crown the first year the league functioned (1921) and it was a three-cornered affair with Beall High winning out over Allegany and Barton.

Allegany eliminated LaSalle in 1931, the Campers put Penn Avenue out of the running in 1934, Central of Lonaconing kayoed Allegany in 1943 and Fort Hill whipped Allegany in 1948.

AHS has won 17 W.M.I. League titles, Fort Hill has bagged four, Barton three (1923, 1925 and 1926), Beall and Penn Avenue, two each, LaSalle and Central, one each.

John Thomas, coach of Barton High School, is a son of Carson Thomas, and a nephew of Dave Thomas, one of the smartest all-around athletes developed at Barton High in the days when Benny Artigiani turned out winning soccer teams and Art Slocum mentored the championship basketball teams.

Dave, incidentally, was a forward on the last Barton team that won a W.M.I. League championship in 1926. Other members of that squad 25 years ago were Dave Smith, Ernie Schramm, Karl Schramm, Harrison Schramm, Vernon O'Neill, Charley Logdson and Bradley.

Wonder what's become of Bob Smith, who used to diagram the plays on a mirror in his barber shop for the Barton High teams of a quarter of a century ago? He was the best pepper-upper and cheer leader Barton ever had.

He'd betcha every time the old champs went to the post.

Almost unnoticed was the stellar performance of Johnny Bender on Sunday, February 18, when he spilled 606 pins in the afternoon and 715 at night in a pair of City Duckpin League matches.

The 715 is the second highest set ever recorded in the city circuit, Lou Bell's 738 of two years ago is tops.

Bender's 715 came in a match that saw Spa Bar sweep three games from the Savoy.

That was quite a coincidence Saturday when a story appeared in this paper about Elmer Daily keeping the Middle Atlantic League together — then Johnstown dropped out of the circuit the same evening.

Johnstown has been the backbone of the circuit for many years and it looks like the league's shot now.

Johnstown, Wheeling, Fairmont, Clarksburg and Cumberland were the league's five charter members in 1925. Scottdale became the 6th team in July.

Holly Mims, Washington, D. C. middleweight, who won a split decision over Marion Klingensmith, the Brownsville (Pa.) cop, in a show promoted here by Vic Ricker on April 25, 1949, is matched with Sugar Robinson in a non-title scrap in Miami, Fla., March 8.

Mims and Klingensmith appeared on the card here headed by Herbie "Biff" Jones and Al Gaultiere.

The 23-year-old capital city negro has lost only four in 48 professional matches.

Ed White, manager and coach of the Wilkes-Barre Club, formerly of the American Basketball League, would like to get into the All-American League next year and he is certain several other clubs in the anthracite coal region will follow suit.

White informs us that he is going to contact Mike Valan and talk over the matter with him.

Wilkes-Barre has a population of 76,638 and is a basketball hotbed. Erie is the largest city in the A-A now with a population of 130,125 followed by Altoona 76,844, Wheeling 58,447, Cumberland 37,632 and Beaver Falls 17,335.

The only thing that would work against the admission of Wilkes-Barre to the circuit is the mileage and the long trip involved in going to and from the home of the Coal Barons.

James J. O'Connor, former police magistrate, and co-owner of the Wheeling Baseball Club when it was first organized in the Middle Atlantic League in 1925, died last week at his home in Pittsburgh.

Mr. O'Connor was an associate of Richard "Dick" Guy in the Middle Atlantic League days at Wheeling and two of his five sons—Jimmie and Regis—played on the Wheeling team with such well known stars as Art and Dan Rooney (now Father Silas, director of athletics at St. Bonaventure College, New York), Pete Kilday, Jack Cummings Harold King and "Dutch" Carpenter. Dan Rooney later played with the Cumberland Colts—the 1926 team that Pat Ragan managed.

Surviving Mr. O'Connor are five sons, three daughters, two brothers and two sisters.

Walter E. Woodson, Jr., better known in the sporting world as "Woody" Woodson, is to wed next month. The lucky bride-elect is Patricia Jean Burkett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burkett, this city.

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 26—(INS)—Former world's featherweight champion Willie Pep showed he is still one of the best in the business tonight when he knocked out Billy Hogan in one-minute and five seconds of the second round at Sarasota.

Pep was scheduled to meet Marvin Ford of Charlotte, N. C., in the 10-round main event at Legion Coliseum but Ford could not make the weight. Hogan, who hails from New Orleans, La., was substituted in a last-minute switch.

Hogan weighed 134 pounds and Pep, 128½.

Bradley Tops Aggies

Kentucky Holds Firmly To Lead In College Poll

Illinois Jumps From Tenth To 6th Place

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Illinois, battling for the Big Ten championship, made the largest stride this week in the Associated Press basketball poll which is still dominated by mighty Kentucky.

The Illini, who took over the Big Ten lead with a 71-65 victory over Indiana last Monday, jumped from tenth place to sixth, replacing St. Louis, which fell four notches.

Kentucky, loser of only one game in 25, held firm to the No. 1 position, followed again by Oklahoma A. and M. (25-1) and Columbia (19-0), the only major unbeaten team in the country.

Then in order came Kansas State (18-3), Bradley (26-4), Illinois (17-3), Indiana (16-3), North Carolina State (25-4), St. Johns (20-3) and St. Louis (20-6).

The final poll will be conducted next week, when most of the regular season schedules are completed. Bradley was No. 1 in the final poll last year.

Get 75 First Places

Kentucky, which has clinched a spot in the NCAA tournament opening March 20 by taking the Southeastern Conference crown, drew 75 first place votes from the 165 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the latest poll.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats amassed a total of 1,221 points, which are awarded on the basis of ten for a first place vote, nine for second and so forth.

The Oklahoma Aggies, who can clinch a tie for the Missouri Valley championship with one more victory, drew 28 first place votes and total of 954 points.

Columbia is riding herd in the Ivy League and needs to beat only Pennsylvania March 3 or Princeton March 7 to gain the league title and automatic entrance to the national tournament, where its deportment will be watched with interest.

Bradley Cagers Gain

Kansas State, leader of the Big notch from last week. Bradley Seven Conference, moved up one climbed two, apparently on the strength of its 97-65 walloping of St. Louis last Tuesday.

Indiana fell from fourth to seventh. North Carolina State, top favorite in the Southern Conference tournament at Raleigh, N. C., this week-end, moved up a peg from ninth, swapping places with St. Johns.

St. Louis has clung doggedly to the top ten despite six defeats. Voters still remember that it was St. Louis which gave Kentucky its only setback—a 43-42 overtime defeat at New Orleans' Sugar Bowl pack in December.

Here are the leaders with first place votes and season's records through Sunday night games in parenthese (points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first vote, nine for second, etc.) :

Sugar Robinson To Defend Crown At Paris In May

French Cancer Society To Get $25,000 Purse

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Ray Robinson, the boxing idol of Europe, today announced he will defend his newly won crown in Paris this May with his entire purse of about $25,000 going to the Cancer Society of France.

The 30-year-old Harlem Dandy said he will receive one franc (about ¼ American cent) for meeting Kid Marcel, 34-year-old French middleweight champion, in a 15-rounder in the Palace of Sports sometime between May 14 and 20.

Manager George Gainford said Sugar Ray was asked to appear by Madame Vincent Auriol, wife of the French president. Madame Auriol is head of the French Cancer Society.

"Ray is very happy to oblige," said Gainford. "Ray will get just one franc plus one way transportation for four. But that's all. We will pay our own way back. We may take several other fights over there as long as we're there."

Asked how this would affect his contracted return bout with Jake LaMotta, who lost his middleweight crown to Robinson in Chicago Feb. 14, Gainford said "Robinson will fight LaMotta any time.

Fighting for nothing is not new with Robinson. He put his welterweight title on the line last August for $1 when he defeated Charlie Fusari in Jersey City. The champ's purse of over $25,000 was donated to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Robinson and his party will sail on April 25, said Gainford.

The clever negro, rated as one of the all-time greats in boxing, is tremendously popular in Europe. Continental and English sports writers used all of their superlatives to describe his conquests of five fighters in a month's tour last November and December.

Hyndman Retains Interstate Berth

Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hyndman, Pa., has voted to retain its franchises in the Interstate Baseball League which will function with six teams this year.

The other clubs holding franchise in the circuit headed by John J. Long are Centerville, 1950 champions, Romney, Moorefield, Cumberland Moose and Cumberland Black Sox.

NBA To Regard Fusari-Bratton Victor As Champ

Fight Set March 14 In Chicago Stadium

HAGERSTOWN, Ind., Feb. 26 (AP)—The aspirants to the vacant welterweight boxing title began to queue up today and there was some shoving by one in the rear.

The Bratton-Fusari bout at 15 rounds is set for the Chicago Stadium March 14.

Hindman said the NBA would give recognition to the winner provided that he box Kid Gavilan of Cuba within 45 days on equal financial terms and post "a substantial part of the purse" as a guarantee to defend the title against the Cuban.

The NBA also will require, Hindman said, that the winner of the bout with Gavilan guarantee to box Eddie Thomas, the European welterweight champion, within three months.

The NBA last Dec. 26 ranked the outstanding welterweights in this order: Robinson, then the champion; Gavilan, Billy Graham, Fusari and Thomas. But a month later at Indianapolis it moved Bratton into the picture.

Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said there should be a series of elimination bouts to select a new welter champion and he assured Graham he would have to be included in the elimination tourney.

Hindman, however, said Graham has been dropped in the NBA rankings because of defeats by both Gavilan and Thomas.

Yost Is Holdout

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Eddie Yost, the Washington Nats' flashy third baseman, has joined the holdout ranks with a demand for a 100 per cent salary increase.

Yost, one of the American League's most improved players last season, has informed President Clark Griffith that he wants his pay jumped to $18,000. He is reported to have received $9,000 last year.

The District Attorney said he was Nathan "Natie" Miller, 25, of Brooklyn, who was graduated from LIU in 1948.

Yildiz Defeats Royal Mustang In Miami Race

Becomes New Threat In Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Yildiz, going over a distance for the first time, won the Causeways Purse at Hialeah Park today with speed to spare, and he readily became a new threat for Saturday's renewal of the $50,000 Flamingo Stakes.

The son of Mahmoud-Ace Card, which had been beaten at seven furlongs by Alerted and Teaneck Flash a week or so ago, went over the nine panels this time as if he enjoyed route-running, finishing 4½ lengths before Sam E. Wilson, Jr's Royal Mustang.

Mrs. W. Gilroy's Timely Reward was third, a half-length away, while Irish Game and Elixir completed the small field of sophomores.

All of the starters are in the Flamingo except Elixir. That one might think of the chances of such as Royal Mustang after he again fizzled in the Causeways is conjectural. At any rate, he further lessened his Flamingo status.

Yildiz, ridden by Warren Mehrtens, paid $16.90 straight and completed the Flamingo distance on a fast track in the good time of 1.49 2-5. This was the Colt's second win in four starts here. He had taken only one of five in 1950.

Grandview Stables' consistent Razzmatazz gamely annexed the Marathon Purse, secondary feature, coming on in an inspiring rally to drub Lambent by a short length. Lambent was in front entering the stretch, then suddenly weakened Air Attack was third.

Kinsman, the short-priced choice, showing nothing in a dismal performance. Razzmatazz, ridden by Sam Boulmetis, paid $11.20. He now has won four of his starts at the meeting.

The attendance was 18,203.

WHO COULD BE FINER THAN KINER AT FIRST BASE FOR THE BUCS?

By TROY GORDON
Central Press Correspondent

PITTSBURGH—Ralph Kiner, the one man who seemed to be sure of his position with the Pittsburgh Pirates, may not be in left field after all when the 1951 season opens in April.

It isn't that the big California slugger will be riding the bench. But serious consideration is being given to the idea of moving Kiner to first base.

Both General Manager Branch Rickey and Manager Bil Meyer admit the switch—which first was received as ridiculous by most of the Pittsburgh fans—would have a lot of merit.

It would fill one of the infield posts admirably, if Kiner is able to field the position.

The shift also would enable Meyer to get a left-handed outfielder into the line-up. The Pirates are more blessed with outfielders than infielders. With Wally Westlake, Gus Bell and Tom Saffell back from last year, the Buccos added the veteran Pete Reiser from the Boston Braves and George Metkovich from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league.

On the other hand, the chief candidates for first base are Jack Phillips, who shared the job with Johnny Hopp last year, and Dick Long, a rookie up from Binghamton. Neither is likely to set the league on fire.

Kiner is willing to go along with the experiment. He said at his Alhambra, Cal., home before spring training season opened:

"I know I could play first, but the question is—could I play it according to major league standards?"

There are many angles to the proposed shift. Rickey had tremendous success at Brooklyn when Catcher Gil Hodges moved down to first base and became just about the best in the National league.

But Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals—another man who should know—doesn't think much of going from the outfield to first base. In his one full season at the latter position, Musial hit only .312, his lowest average since he came to the majors.

Musial says it's easy to understand why his batting average slipped so drastically. On first, he explains, you're constantly getting ankle twists, bruises and other slight injuries which don't make much difference individually but collectively are murder.

Should Kiner have that trouble, the wolves would howl for they love to watch the major leagues' leading home run producer lose that baseball.

Kiner has blasted 215 home runs in his five seasons with the Pirates, and at the age of 28 apparently can count on at least five more good years.

He started with 23 as a rookie, went to 51 the next year, slumped to 40 in 1948, hit his personal high of 54 the following season, and wound up with 47 last year.

Knier also has led his team in runs-batted-in all five years, and has had better than 100 RBIs in each of the last four seasons. His 127 in 1949 led the league.

The many walks given him and the defensive shift used by opponents have kept his batting average comparatively low for such a heavy hitter. But no one will argue that he isn't a perpetual threat at the plate.

And he is conscientious. Instead of resting on his laurels as a slugger, Kiner has practiced constantly to improve his play in the outfield. And he has succeeded.

Now he may have to make a difficult move to first base. If so, he will have the best available teacher.

George Sisler, one of the game's all-time first basemen, has joined the Pirates and will be trying to teach Kiner how to handle that corner.

If he can't do it, no one can.

Nothing finer than Kiner

Training Camp Notes

Hodges Is Delayed

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Gil Hodges, all-star first baseman, today notified Brooklyn club officials that he will not be able to leave New York tomorrow, as per schedule, in order to start work with the regulars March 1.

Mrs. Hodges is expecting another baby and Gil said that he probably would stick around for the big event. Last spring Hodges was 17 days late waiting for Gil Jr., to arrive and did not report until St. Patrick's Day.

The Brooklyn club also heard from Wayne Belardi, the former bonus first baseman whom they believed was headed for military service, Belardi has written that he has been re-classified and is motoring from California.

Berra "Staying Put"

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26 (AP)—Although he has missed six days of spring training, holdout Larry (Yogi) Berra said today he is "staying put" here until the New York Yankees agree to his 1951 contract demand.

The 25-year-old catcher said he has heard nothing further from club officials since he returned two contracts.

The first contract he received provided for a $3,000 boost. Berra refused to comment on the second contract he turned down. Nor would he say how much of a raise he is seeking.

Estimates of his 1950 salary run from $17,000 to $22,500.

Dodgers Have Flu

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Brooklyn manager Charley Dressen's temperature dropped to 99 today and his condition was reported as "greatly improved." The Brooklyn pilot's temperature was 101 yesterday.

Pitchers Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe, who were stricken by the same flu bug, missed practice for the third straight day. Both were much better, however, and they may be able to resume workouts tomorrow.

Bucs Sign Restelli

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates today announced signing of Dino Restelli, 26-year-old San Francisco Seals' outfielder.

Restelli, optioned by the Bucs to Indianapolis and transferred to the Seals early last season, batted .341 for the Pacific Coast League club. The agreement reached with Restelli leaves eight Pirates still unsigned.

Miceli Is Inducted

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Joe Miceli, 22-year-old welterweight contender, was sworn into the army today.

"This is one fight we can't afford to lose," said the crack New York boxer.

BOLD BEING READIED FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

BY FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla.—It may be a bit bold to talk about the Kentucky Derby at this stage of the season but remember Bold.

Before this gets confusing Bold is a pretty good racehorse and he's being readied at beautiful Hialeah for the Kentucky Derby.

Bold is a brown By Jimminy-Little Rebel colt. His connections include the elite of racing. He races in the blue and white colors of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable. (She won the 1924 Derby when her Cavalcade beat Discovery.) Brookmeade led all stables in money won in 1950.

Bold's trainer is the veteran Preston M. Burch. The colt's jockey is Joe Culmone, the 19-year-old Sicilian boy who tied for riding honors last year with 388 winners.

More important, Burch believes Bold is excellent Derby material, and Burch seldom goes out on a limb.

"We haven't raced him very much," says Burch, "because he was troubled with all the usual ailments of youngsters—bucked shins and colds. However, he showed that he could run a little bit in his three starts last fall and we're going to give him a chance to prove it."

Bold won his maiden effort at Jamaica by seven lengths and then moved to Pimlico where he finished second to Big Stretch after leading to the home lane in the mile and sixteenth fixture. In Bold's third start he finished first in the Endurance Handicap, a test of one mile and 70 yards at Bowie. However, he was disqualified and placed second to Bob Considine, the horse.

Culmone, Brookmeade's contract rider, still insists Bold didn't swerve and bother Bob Considine as the stewards ruled.

"We were in front all the way," says Culmone, "and as we were driving down the stretch Bold shied when we passed the starting gate which was standing near the sixteenth pole. Bold drifted out for about 10 strides and carried Bob Considine a little wide. But I don't think we bothered him.

"Bold looks like he's going to be a good one. I've been exercising him here at Hialeah and he's just about ready for a race. First the Flamingo and then the Derby.

The Flamingo, 3-year-old feature of winter racing here, will be run Saturday (March 3).

Handicapper John B. Campbell of the Jockey Club gives the Brookmeade-bred colt a high rating in his Experimental Free Handicap weights. The colt is down to carry 115 pounds, which ranks him 11th among the weight carriers.

Burch never has trained a Derby winner, nor has Culmone ridden one. And Mrs. Sloane has been trying for her second Derby winner ever since Cavalcade's great victory 16 years ago. She may have a bid contender in Bold.

West Virginia Tech Wins Over Generals

MONTGOMERY, W. Va., Feb. 26 (AP)—West Virginia Tech built up a 32-13 lead in the first quarter tonight and led by a wide margin the rest of the way in downing Washington and Lee 98-69.

Washington and Lee's Jay Handlan, top point-maker in the Southern Conference this season, sank 30 points to take scoring honors.

But three Tech men in the 20's more than offset Handlan's performance. They were Eddie Solomon with 28, George Sayers with 22, and George Booth with 20.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26 (INS)—What's all this about Hedy La Marr retiring? I just received word from Rome saying that Hedy is planning to star in two independent film productions: "The Marquis of Grillo" and "Little Prince" by Saint Exupery.

Heddy La Marr

Well, I can tell my friend in Rome that no one took Hedy's announcement seriously. On top of this she is dickering with Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht for their anti-Communist play "The Great Lie," which is being produced by Billy Rose. Billy has already approached the subject to La Marr.

Oh, yes, she's also already at work on "My Favorite Spy" with Bob Hope.

With money in the till Arch Oboler is going into independent production full blast. His startling movie, "Five"—and believe me it is startling—has been bought by Columbia.

His new picture will make use of some exciting African footage which Arch shot in color during his 40,000-mile trip in 1949.

Mercedes McCambridge, who made 350 radio shows with Oboler in Chicago and New York, is the gal he wants for his movie. Well, everyone wants Mercedes, so there's nothing new in that.

Many professional dancers feel that Gene Kelly's and Vera-Ellen's "Slaughter On 10th Ave" dance routine in "Words And Music" is one of the greatest ever put on the screen.

The high hopes of another such show-stopper, M-G-M is re-teaming them in "Ghost Of A Chance"—a highly dramatic musical with accent on the drama. It's about a young crook who learns to hoof from a pal in jail and becomes a star on Broadway before his prison record catches up with him.

Joe Pasternak, the producer, says this story by Karl Tunberg and Leonard Spiegelgass is a melodrama set to music.

Judy Holliday will have one of the nicest compliments paid her—or any young actress—when she wins an award from the Hollywood foreign correspondents tomorrow night.

Ethel Barrymore, queen of the screen and stage, will accept the golden globe award for Judy. Judy is in New York and it is impossible for her to be here. So Ethel, who was shown the first rough cut of "Born Yesterday," consentend to accept for her.

Ethel said, when she saw Judy on the screen, "that's a girl with real magic. She has a lovely face combined with fine acting ability."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Alan Nixon telephoned my office to get Lynn Bari's telephone number. Didn't know why until I heard they had dinner at the King's restaurant.

Pat Dorian, of the M-G-M production staff, and Sharman Douglas with Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger a foursome at the Sportsmen's Lodge. Pat's escorting Sharman around quite a lot.

Reports from Dallas tell of trouble between Gussie Moran and Bobby Riggs. It is whispered Bobby has asked for a replacement. Maybe, however, their troubles will be settled by the time this is in print.

Gloria Swanson's old house—and what a charming place—will be torn down to make way for two houses on the same lot.

Robert Newman, much beloved and close friend of the late Mayor James J. Walker, has been named general manager of Sam Goldwyn Studio after six years with Republic.

Douglas Fairbanks is having an Aylesbury duck flown from England to tour with 'Mr. Drake's Duck," his picture. The poor bird had better be careful he isn't eaten up like a trick bird was some years ago when the late Sid Grauman sent it to the train as a gag to Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Mary Pickford.

Jack Skirball and Bruce Manning have bought Irving Stone's "Desert Padre," about the Catholic priest who was instrumental in bringing water to Los Angeles through Owens Valley.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)

THIS COUNTRY is fixing to take its first "walk" in U. N. We're fed up with the way things have become snarled and warped in the Economic and Social Council, which was tossed the job of drafting what it calls a convention on freedom of information.

In our wonderful sucker way we set out a couple of years ago to try to tell the rest of the U. N. world, excepting Britain, that it needed our American type of freedom of the press. Say anything, more or less, about anybody who gets out of line with the populace's ethics, philosophy, traditions, precepts, etc. That's how we operate, and figured the others should.

Well, it has turned out to be an eye-opening experience. One that has put grayer hairs into the head of Carroll Binder, an editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune who is our chief spokesman on the 15-nation committee selected to put our press freedom ideas into what amounts to international law.

The countries on the committee who regard the newspaper and radio as tolls to whitewash the despotism of gangsters who happen to have seized control of those countries have cooked up a draft convention to which this country can never subscribe.

• — • — •

Yet in certain respects we may have to accept the restrictions which the boys—who have not the remotest concept of freedom of speech — have inserted into the draft, if it is adopted. Worse, we have only a 1/15th voice in what goes on.

With the aid of other Arab countries on the committee (imagine an Arab country's being considered an authority of freedom of speech!) Egypt has been able to thwart the original intention of the draft. Something that the U. N. boys call the "Farouk amendment" is a part of it at the present.

In effect it would empower U. N. to take steps against a reporter (or a country of which he is a national) who speaks ill of Farouk, the night clubs he owns in Cairo, or the various babes in his life.

But that's just one limb of the Frankenstein we conceived by suggesting that the peoples of the world would be happier if they express themselves, through militantly independent reporters, on the air and in the journals of their lands.

In the convention, in its present form, are such strait-jackets as (1) U. N. would be permitted to try to do something—including make war, presumably—against nations with newspapers which "injure the national feelings of peoples"; (2) those which by "false or distorted reports undermine friendly relations between peoples or states," and (3) those which point out that certain governments have been guilty of racial, national or religious discrimination.

• — • — •

The Russians, of course, are on the 15-nation committee. That is a bitter laugh in itself. Yet they have equal voice—and they are not reluctant to use it in trying to shape international freedom by speech into their own disfigured effigy of it.

They would make the reporters of the Olympian future world deputies to combat "fascism," "warmongering," and the like. Presumably, any writer or speaker who lashed out against an ideology named Communism whose excesses, if possible, transcend even those of the vile practices of Hitler, would be called up on U. N.'s mat.

We're fortunate in having a fellow like Binder in there talking tough for us. He has given the others (including India, France, the Netherlands, Cuba, Ecuador, Russia, Egypt, etc.) fair warning that we'll never stand still for the kind of document which is in the process of being rammed down the throat of U. N.

But, under U. N.'s charter, there is a fair chance that this mockery of what we started out to do will become a part of U. N.'s announced state of mind, as applicable in emergencies as, say, the section of the charter which produced 50,000 American casualties in Korea and the expenditure of nobody-knows-how-many billions.

U. S. Foreign correspondents would be bound by any such preposterous code. It is possible that this would mean the end of honestly intrepid foreign correspondence as we have come to know it, and even our proposed "walk" would be in vain.

COMMANDER of the First Marine Division Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith (above) has been named temporary commander of the U. S. 9th Corps in Korea. He replaces Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore who died shortly after his helicopter crashed in the Han River sector. (International)

How often do you pay for ease and convenience—and gain a pound you'd pay far more to lose?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

IT'S a sad fact that elevators, automobile and all manner of labor-saving devices which provide comfort and ease are also a threat to beauty. Those who use them are deprived of normal, beauty-building exercise.

The inner thigh muscles especially suffer from lack of a daily workout, and even when thigh measurements are nearly perfect, the muscle tone is apt to be deficient. That is when unattractive bulges are sure to appear under slim, spring skirts and completely ruin the legline revealed by summer's brief play clothes.

Toning Thigh Muscles

But with just a little timely foresight, you can avoid or eliminate any beauty-destroying thigh bulge. Toning the muscles of the inner thigh is as simple as this:

Stand with your right side turned to a wall and about an arm's length away from it. Rest one hand on the wall for support. Swing your left leg across your right leg as far as you can, keeping the left knee straight but not rigid. Then swing your left leg outward (away from your body) as far as it will go. Try to keep your body erect and motionless throughout so that it does not sway as your leg swings. Repeat five times and reverse your position so that you can give your right leg the same workout.

Reducing Inner Thigh

To whittle down excess flesh at the inner thigh, repeat the following routine fifty to a hundred times daily: Sit on the floor with your legs straight and your hands resting on the floor behind your hips. Bend you knee slightly, keeping your left heel on the floor. Now, straighten your left leg out a bit as you bend your right knee up as the left is bent.

Alternate this knee bending and straightening as vigorously and quickly as you can so that the inner thighs brush. Under no circumstances let your calves slap the floor unless you also wish to reduce them.

Need I add that you should walk, stretch and stoop at every opportunity?

In Memoriam

ANDERSON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Margaret, who passed away February 27, 1947.
Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of our heart, we miss you so.
Often, mother dear, our tears will flow,
Dimming your picture before our eyes.
But the depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
Her devoted children

German Exchange Students Contend U. S. No Paradise

By HENRY DECKER

FREDERICK, Md.—(AP) — "When you listen to the Voice of America broadcast, you think the United States is a paradise. It is very, very nice, but it is not a paradise."

So contend two German exchange students rounding out a year of studies at Frederick High School. Both, Willi Erl, 17, Schweinfurt, and Hans Karl Herbolsheimer, 19, Wurtzburg, are undeniably homesick for families and friends in Western Germany, and despite their less glamorous existence, want "to go home."

Willi, an idealist, according to Rev. Paul L. Althouse, local Reformed Church minister with whom he lives, sums up his opinion of the United States by saying "if you do not expect too much, you will not be disappointed."

Hans Karl, who works on a farm near Mt. Airy, is up at 4 o'clock each morning to complete chores before taking a bus to school. He returns to his chores when he arrives home after classes. He is paid $10 monthly by his employer, who will also advance him $200 for his transportatoin home next June.

Willi is given $10 "spending money" each month by the Church of the Brethren, which is sponsoring his visit to this country.

Both Willi and Hans Karl were members of the Hitler Youth Movement. As small boys, they loved "to play soldier," to wear the uniforms and the badges and to march proudly in unison.

Beyond that, the organization had little significance for the boys for it disbanded when they were still quite young.

Hans Karl and Willi are going home with some definite impressions of life in America.

Says Willi: "Your boys and girls, they have no respect for their elders. Why in Frederick High School, some of the students call their teachers by nicknames. We would not dream of doing that at home. We show deference and respect to those who have earned it.

"I think, maybe, it is because in this country, you respect the individual, whether he is a coal miner, a teacher or a banker. At home, we still have remnants of the caste system. There is too much formality at home, too little here."

Rearmament in Western Germany? Their answers are mixed with both fear and suspicion.

Suspicion that the United States will use Germany only as a tool in event of another war. Fear that the Russians will carry out their threat of taking no prisoners in the next war, but killing all Germans in the western zone.

"When you live only 30 minutes from the iron curtain as I do," said Willi, "you have to live with that fear. Rearmament would mean more jobs for the great numbers of unemployed in Germany, but still we feel rearming would only precipitate another war."

Reconstruction in Germany has proceeded rapidly and there is plenty of food and clothing if you have money to buy it. In contrast the boys marvel at the standard of living in the United States, but add that because of it the average American has relaxed, or as Americans say, "has gone soft."

"It is reflected even in your music," says Hans Karl and Willi, "which is 'hot' and has no lasting quality."

Matter Of Fact

duced by a decisive defeat of the United Nations forces in Korea, the invasion of Indo-China could have been undertaken under grave danger of general war. That is no longer the case.

When the Chinese invaded Korea Secretary of State Dean Acheson proposed a form of "limited war" on China, but he was vetoed by the British and French. If Indo-China is invaded, however, the French are wholly committed to fight. With Malaya and Hong Kong at stake, British hesitations would disappear. Limited war would almost certainly result, involving crippling air attacks on roads, railroads and canals which are all that hold China together; overt support of the anti-Communist guerrillas, and probably a Chinese Nationalist foray against the Chinese mainland.

The Chinese could invoke the Sino-Soviet treaty. If the Russians honored the treaty, general war at least in Asia would result. Open Russian support would be poor consolation for the price the Chinese Communists would have to pay at home. The Chinese may yet attack, simply because it will soon be too late. It was the knowledge that it would soon be too late that led Ho Chi Minh to launche the assault which has now failed. Moreover, the failure in Korea may even lead Mao Tse-Tung to attack in Indo-China, to restore his waning prestige in Asia.

On balance, however, the likelihood of a Chinese adventure in Indo-China is decreasing daily, thanks largely to the United Nations victory in Korea. The fact is that in Asia as everywhere, nothing succeeds like success.

Central Asia to Pakistan and the Chinese Moslems.

While Moslems fail to show any great capacity in this period either for organization or warfare, they cannot be ignored because of their huge manpower, their geographic position, the resources of their countries and their political potentials.

The significance of all this is in the groupings of nations that are bringing the world into some kind of order. And among these trends is the association of the nations of the American contingents under the leadership of the United States.

Demand For Few Favorites Props Indifferent Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Buying demand for a few favorites propped a somewhat wobbly stock market today.

Gains for the favorites ranged to more than $2 a share. Their leadership was of high quality, including American Telephone and Chrysler. Both these stocks were among the 15 most active of the day.

Total sales volume for the full session amounted to only 1,650,000 shares, just about the level maintained late last week. Last Friday's transfers were 1,540,000 shares.

Gains and losses among the leaders just about balanced, with the Associated Press 60-stock average unchanged on the day at 95.7. The utility average climbed .1 of a point to a new 1950-51 high of 49.2; rails dropped .3 of a point and industrials were unchanged.

American Telephone, benefitted by announcement of record 1950 earnings, had a fairly steady rise and closed 1¾ points higher at 157⅞, an unusual advance for this "blue chip" issue. The report showing Bell System earnings applicable to A.T. & T. stock at $12.58 a share against $9.70 in 1949 attracted especial note, since the average number of outstanding shares was some 3,500,000 higher during the latest period.

Chrysler was the second most active stock and topped the automotive list with a gain of 2½ at 79½, and Studebaker finished the day up ⅜ at 34½. Among the aircrafts, Boeing was ahead ¾ at 53¾ and Consolidated Vultee up ⅛ at 20⅞.

International Telephone, the day's most active issue, climbed a point at 17 and American Cable & Radio, which it controls, was up ⅝ at 7⅜, ranking third in volume. Among the radio-TV issues, fractional gainers were Radio Corp., Admiral, Emerson and Philco. Up a point or so elsewhere were J. I. Case, Johns-Manville and Goodyear.

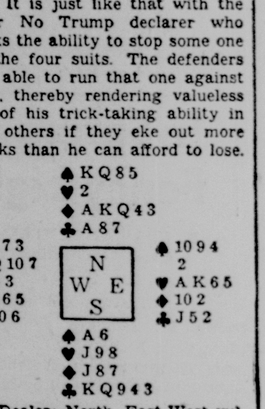
"The Authority on Authorities"

A FOUR-HORSE TEAM

PLAYING at a No Trump contract is like driving a four-horse team. Any oldster who has ever tried that will tell you that every one of the four horses must do his part. If any one of them fails to, the entire team is jammed up. It is just like that with the poor No Trump declarer who lacks the ability to stop some one of the four suits. The defenders are able to run that one against him, thereby rendering valueless all of his trick-taking ability in the others if they eke out more tricks than he can afford to lose.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

After West had led the heart 4 and his side ripped off five tricks in the suit, South unbraided North for having raised the 2-No Trumps to game while holding a singleton in the unbid hearts.

"With that situation and a rebiddable diamond suit, your hand was not adapted to No Trump play," he concluded, "so you should have rebid your diamonds. I then would have raised you and we could not have failed to reach the slam which was in the cards at your suit."

"It was you," he said to South, "who made the mistake. North had bid two of the four suits, you had bid a third one, and it should have been clear to both of you that neither should then bid No Trumps unless he had the fourth suit satisfactorily stopped. A mere three to the jack, such as you had in hearts, can not qualify as a stopper unless you could deduce from North's bidding that he probably had some heart honor as high as the queen or better. You should have bid 3-Diamonds instead of 2-No Trumps."

East then pointed out that shortage in North's hand was an advantage opposite a sound No Trump bid by South, since only by shortage somewhere could the No Trumper's partner furnish the appreviable suit-lengths which a declarer likes to run.

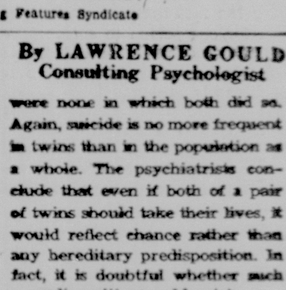
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

By what sequence of play can South assure his 4-Hearts if the club A wins the 7 lead and the 4 is returned?

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are a man's tears a sign of weakness?

Answer: A man's shedding tears may mean one of three things: That he is emotionally unstable; that he is suffering in mind or body to a degree that would break down anybody's self-control, or that he is relatively independent of conventions and so can express his feelings naturally and spontaneously. The average man's fear of display or "softness" is an outgrowth of the civilized male's secret doubt of his own masculinity. In ancient times, the most celebrated heroes wept for joy as well as sorrow and were not ashamed to be seen doing so.

Are twins prone to suicide?

Answer: No more so that anyone else, report members of the staff of the Psychiatric Institute, New York. Though investigators found twenty-seven cases in which one member of a pair of twins committed suicide, there were none in which both did so. Again, suicide is no more frequent in twins than in the population as a whole. The psychiatrists conclude that even if both of a pair of twins should take their lives, it would reflect chance rather than any hereditary predisposition. In fact, it is doubtful whether such a predisposition could exist.

Will "doing nothing" rest you?

Answer: Probably not unless you are asleep or seriously ill. Otherwise the only time when mind and body can remain inactive is when two opposing impulses conflict—when you want to do two different things and try to escape from choosing between them by doing neither of them. As long as you live, you will be driven by your natural impulses to seek pleasures or satisfactions and if your interest in one form of activity is exhausted, the thing to do is to find another. Trying to do nothing will merely create nervous tension and frustration.

Fraley Election Confirmed By State Senate

Gonder Recount Move Is Denied

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 26 (AP) — Neil C. Fraley's election as senator from Garrett County was confirmed tonight by the State Senate.

The Republican's election was contested by his Democratic opponent, former Senator Bernard I. Goner. Fraley was credited with 3,080 votes and Gonder with 3,079.

The Senate adopted by unanimous voice vote the report of its elections committee which denied Gonder's request for a recount. It also adopted the committee resolution that Fraley "is entitled" to the four-year-term.

Fraley was seated conditionally at opening of the General Assembly to await action on the contest.

"I want to express my thanks to the fair, impartial and non-partisan manner in which the committee approached this problem," Senator Fraley said.

Cite Sketchy Facts

Addressing himself to the other senators, he said "for each of you, the election was over last November. For me, it was not over until a few seconds ago."

In reporting unfavorably on Gonder's petition for a recount, the committee "was of the unanimous opinion that the facts alleged are so sketchy and ephemeral that it is bound under the law to recommend a denial . . ."

The facts presented by Gonder with the committee reactions were listed as follows:

1. That one ballot with an erasure on it was counted. However, it appeared that the witnesses did not know for whom such ballot was voted.

Reject Hearsay

2. That in two precincts it appeared that the general public was permitted to be present during counting of the ballots. There is no evidence in the depositing that persons who went in and out of the polling places were not watchers, challengers or other people legally entitled to be present.

3. That one of the officials left the polling place at Mountain Lane Park during the counting. There is some hearsay to the effect that no substitute was appointed, but the committee feels that hearsay should no be considered in a matter of this importance.

4. That in one precinct a man and a woman were observed in the ballot booth together. There is no evidence as to why they were there, as to whether or not one was an official assisting a handicapped voter to mark a ballot, or, in fact, as to whether or not either of these persons was then voting.

City Offers $50 Reward To Stop Airport Thefts

Action Taken After Vandalism Reported

The Mayor and Council last night voted to take steps to halt vandalism at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

It voted to offer a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person found guilty of wilful damage at the airport in Wiley Ford, W. Va.

Heller Reports Thefts

The action was taken after Charles Heller, maintenance superintendent, reported extensive damage to the port over the weekend.

Several wires were cut on the north end of the port, Heller said, by intruders who then drove a vehicle, probably a pickup truck, across the field to take two drums of cables which would be worth up to $100 at a junk yard.

He said the vandalism has been reported to Ridgeley, W. Va., and Cumberland authorities.

Cites Other Cases

Heller recounted a number of other cases of the constant vandalism which is taking place at the airport, citing the fact that the area is too large for one person to successfully patrol. The damage, he added, has not taken place while the port watchman is on duty.

He pointed out that trespassing on the airport is a hazard both to the planes that use the field and to any unauthorized person or vehicle which might be upon it when planes land or take off.

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz suggested the installation of an electrically charged fence around the field might stop such trespassing, saying he believed such a plan would be legal in West Virginia, where the port is located.

Has No Authority

Heller pointed out that he does not have authority to make arrests or carry arms on the airport.

Referred to the Street Commission was a complaint of C. B. Freshour, 217 Central Avenue, on a dangerous spot on the sidewalk of that street.

He said two poles had been removed from the street, that material used to cover the holes had cracked and asked that the city repair the damage.

Reporting on a request for a storm sewer on Utah and Gleason Street, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said the department has recommended the project but that no answer is forthcoming at present on the cost or date of installation.

Water consumption last week averaged 12,624,000 gallons. At Lake Gordon, water was five inches above the crest and at Lake Koon, three inches above the crest.

Shades Of 1845

Paul Evans, Hyndman, Pa., who is a clerk in the Potomac Edison Company power plant on Kelly Boulevard, is shown with his prized muzzle-loading shotgun, which was made in 1845. Evans and friends repaired the gun last fall so he now can fire it just as the original owner did more than a cenutry ago. It is believed the weapon was made by a gunsmith in Western Pennsylvania although Evans is not certain.

Hyndman Man Possesses OldMuzzle-LoadingShotgun

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

A 106-year old muzzle-loading shotgun which for many years lay idle and unused in a nearby Pennsylvania farm house is providing pleasure and the beginning of a hobby for Paul Evans, 28-year old clerk at Potomac Edison Company's power plant on Kelly Boulevard.

Evans, whose home is in Hyndman, Pa., discovered the shotgun back in 1940 when he was meandering through the second floor of an unoccupied house on the farm which his family then owned on the road to Fairhope, about a mile north of Hyndman.

That year Evans was a senior and he carried the weapon in a Daniel Boone role in a school play at Hyndman High School.

For 10 years after the high school episode the gun was allowed to deteriorate even more.

Rebuilt Weapon

Then, last fall, Evans and Norman White, 121 Springdale Street, another PE clerk, decided it would be fun to repair the gun so that it could be fired again. They got

Metal Polish Users Warned Of Poisoning

The City Health Department yesterday issued a warning to housewives and users of silver metal polish against the buying of silver cleaning preparations containing cyanide.

Several hundred jars of a cleaning compound were sold in the immediate area before the product was withdrawn from the market, health officials said.

Cyanide is not a usual ingredient in metal polish but sometimes is used to give the polish a high lustre and hold it together more compactly. Since cyanide is very poisonous the use of this type of cleaning compound on eating or cooking utensils and other household products could result in serious illness.

Persons who are doubtful about metal polish in their possession are urged to call the Health Department, Phone 717, for further information.

In Spring A Young Man's Fancy Lightly Turns . . . .

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

Deciding that the weather was ideal for an afternoon jaunt and reason for strolling around the town, little Richard Lease about 3 years old who resides on Henderson Avenue took a walk—all by himself.

Police Officer Frederick O. Daum picked up the young traveller at 12:45 yesterday afternoon on the Queen City walk near Harrison Street and put him in the patrol wagon.

Mrs. Vivian Turley, records clerk at the police station said that at first the young man was frightened and wouldn't "talk". A shiny red apple and a cold bottle of soft drink loosened his tongue. He volunteered valuable information. He had two sandwiches with him and evidently was determined to make an afternoon of it.

Described as "very cute" by the clerk, Richard was clad in a tan snowsuit and wore boots. She said he was highly inquisitive about the workings of the police department and a sociable chat was had by all.

The big policeman who took the youngster to the station in the patrol wagon and the officer who purchased Richard the bottle of tonic will surely be among the friends he made yesterday.

The lads escapade came to an end at about 2:30 p. m. when his father reported to the police station for his wandering boy.

Medical Society To Hear Talk On ACTH, Cortisone

Dr. John Crigler, instructor in pediatrics at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Nurses Home at Memorial Hospital.

He will discuss the physiological principles in the use of Acth and Cortisone in clinical medicine.

Dr. Crigler is at present engaged in studying the effect of Acth and Corthisone in the endocrine problems of children.

Pupils Of St. Mary's School Hold An "Atomic Raid" Drill

Pupils of St. Mary's Parochial School, Oldtown Road, participated in a preliminary "atomic raid" drill yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It lasted for about 15 minutes.

Sister Edmund, principal, said last night that the pupils were given instruction in the classroom in the past weeks prior to the drill. The signal, one long ring on the school sound system located near the first grade sent the pupils to the basement and those unable to fit in the basement assembled in the hallway on the first floor.

Two doors are in the hallway and a transom over each door is the only place where light can enter the building. The signal differs from the regular fire drill of three short rings twice in succession.

Information for the "atomic raid" was gathered from an issue of the New York Times of several weeks ago as well as from a pamphlet issued by the United States Government entitled "Survival Under Atomic Attacks". Six survival secrets are included.

School authorities were well pleased with the results of yesterday's drill. Similar drills were carried on during World War II. St. Mary's has an enrollment of 335 in the graded schools and 51 in high school.

City Agreeable To Referendum On Sewage Plan

Delegation Will Reconsider Bill

City officials reported last night they are agreeable to a referendum vote on the issue of sewage disposal bonds for the city.

HB218, which is being considered by the House, calls for the issuance of $1,500,000 of revenue producing bonds to finance a sewage disposal and treatment system here.

The bill, HB218, which was slated for its third reading in the House last night, was recalled to the Allegany County Delegation for further consideration.

The action was taken by Delegate Charles M. See, at the request of other members of the delegation.

Introduced by Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., yesterday was HB407—to specify that the town of Westernport shall be liable for damage suits for injury only if notice in writing is given to the Mayor and Council within 30 days after injury is suffered (Delegation).

The Mayor and Council will be among the large delegation expected to attend two hearings in Annapolis Wednesday.

Preston County Mine Pickets Hearings Open

Hearings for 28 men arrested in the Preston County mine picketing were started yesterday afternoon and continued last night. Sheriff J. H. Benson said that no new information has been obtained in the investigation of a dynamite blast which damaged a small tipple Sunday night.

State Police said the tipple located near Tunnelton, W. Va., was used by the Joe Marrara concern. It was used by a non-union mine and about $200 will be required to put it back into operation.

Sheriff Benson said last night that about 35 or 40 carloads of pickets were out yesterday morning but no violence was reported.

The Independent Producers Association, a non-union organization in Preston County notified school authorities yesterday to serve hot lunches to all needy children in schools whether they were children of miners or not.

Raymond Hartman, president of the Independent Producers said the United Mine Workers had promised to put such a program into effect several weeks ago but did not carry it through.

Cab Drivers Ask Contract Changes

Officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), will meet with heads of the Astor and Yellow Top taxicab companies soon to present contract proposals of drivers.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said the some 60 drivers, at a meeting Sunday, decided to ask the following changes:

That the qualifying rate for 45 per cent commissions be dropped from $100 to $90 and that drivers be eligible for the advanced commission after six months service instead of one year. Such a rate is already in effect during June through September, the slower months.

That the "starting rate" of 35 per cent of fares for the first eight weeks of service of new drivers be applicable only to inexperienced drivers.

At present, Stutzman said, drivers get 35 per cent of commissions for their first eight weeks, and then 40 per cent for the first year.

Young Bayard, W. Va. Mother, Rheumatic Fever Victim, Urges Support Of Local Heart Campaign

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

"My wish is that I would love to do something to help so that no other husband or father and mother would have to go through with what we have in the past couple of years."

That is the poignant expression of the mother of a hopelessly paralyzed rheumatic fever victim in Bayard, W. Va., who wrote the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association recently praising the wonderful work it is doing to help the invalid and sick from these dread cripplers.

Bedridden A Year

Mrs. Wilbur L. Cosner noted the local group was making a drive this month to raise $7,000 for its campaign to aid fever and heart victims and related the story of her 19-year-old daughter, Deloris, who has been bedridden for over a year.

The crippled girl is completely paralyzed with the exception of her head and arms and has been getting excellent care at her mother's home, Heart Association officials who visited the family reported.

Mother of a two-year-old girl, the stricken woman has been ill with rheumatic fever for several years and when complications set in, including heart disease, she became bedfast January 20, 1950.

Husband Unemployed

The girl's husband, Willard Eugene Foreman, is presently unemployed and seeking work in Washington while her parents care for her and the baby girl, Sandra.

Mrs. Betty Kirk, visiting nurse of the local Heart Association, reported Deloris was receiving the very best of care from her parents and gave the family some instructions for the comfort and additional care of the patient.

The father, an employe of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company in Bayard, is expecting to retire soon.

Albert S. Paye Appointed City's Building Engineer

Albert S. Paye, city liaison engineer for the Cumberland-Ridgeley, W. Va., Flood Control Project, was named temporary building engineer by action of the Mayor and Council last night.

His appointment will become effective today.

Paye, a former resident of Keyser, W. Va., came here several years ago as a member of the Small-Paye Engineering Company. He has been a civil engineer since 1932.

He served for some time as county engineer and later resigned that post to accept the position of liaison engineer on the flood control project after the Small-Paye firm was dissolved.

The action was taken after William L. Marean, who was named building inspector by the Mayor and Council February 12, asked that the appointment be revoked.

Marean, who is special assistant to City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, said in a letter to the Mayor and Council that on several occasions prior to the February 12 meeting, the Mayor and members of the council had been informed he would not accept the position and he had given his reasons for refusing the job offer.

"I am unwilling at this time," Marean said, "to accept the position and respectfully request that the order be revoked."

He added he had not started the performance of the duties of building engineer and has worked continuously as assistant to the City Engineer.

Following the reading of Marean's letter, Mayor Post asserted that the communication was not entirely correct since city officials were under the impression that Marean would accept the job if he were appointed.

Grayson Wilson Is Found Dead

Grayson Dade Wilson, 63, was found dead yesterday morning at 9:40 o'clock in a rocking chair in his room over the fire hall at Flintstone. Deputy Medical Examiner for Allegany County Dr. H. V. Deming attributed death to a heart attack.

Lester Kolb, a fireman, stopped at the fire hall on his way to work and noticing there was no heat in the building, went in search of Wilson. He found the elderly man sitting in a rocking chair with a magazine on his lap. Kolb telephoned the sheriff's office and Sheriff Edward R. Muir accompanied by Dr. Deming, investigated. Dr. Deming estimated time of death at about 8 p. m. Sunday.

Wilson is survived by one sister, Mrs. James G. Walters, Youngstown, Ohio. He was formerly employed by a tree trimming firm and suffered a broken leg at work about two years ago. He was unable to regain use of the leg and was awarded 75 per cent disability by the state. He became financial secretary for the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Department about two years ago and had lived at the fire hall for about 3 years.

Eugene May, pastor of Flintstone Methodist Church will officiate and burial will be in Murley's Branch Cemetery.

Drainage Ditch Repairs Sought For Mapleside

Group Asks City To Supply Pipe

A delegation of Mapleside residents requested the city to furnish pipe to repair drainage ditches at the entrance of Turner Street last night, at the Mayor and City Council meeting.

Spokesman for the group was Arthur Amtower, 3 Turner Street, who reported a large hole measuring 1½ feet by 18 feet had been caused by draining water at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Turner Street.

Driving a car across this large rupture was extremely hazardous, Amtower said, and reported damage to his automobile while attempting to enter Turner Street yesterday on his way home from work. The car was damaged to the extent of $9.12 he said when the "knee action" was broken as he crossed the ditch. Amtower told the council he was billing them for the repairs.

Offering to place the pipe himself if the city would furnish it, Amtower reported he had approached the council some 22 months ago in regard to the same situation.

City officials reported after the meeting that the city had to be notified in writing of a hazardous situation at least 24 hours prior to an accident before damages would be paid by the city.

The complaint was referred to the Street Department for recommendation and action.

Other members of the Turner Street delegation were Richard Mills, Amil Gano and George Cunningham.

"Miss Cumberland" Pageant Heads To Be Named Tonight

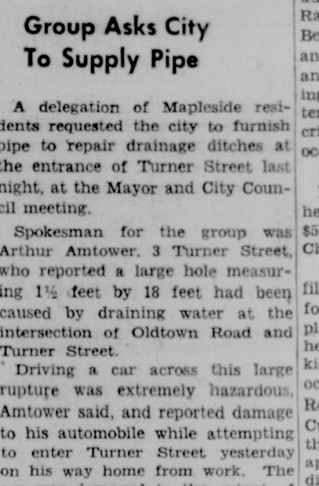
Plans for the annual "Miss Cumberland" pageant will be discussed at a meeting of the Junior Association of Commerce this evening at 8 p. m. in its office in the Liberty Trust Building.

Donald R. Coomber, director of the pageant said yesterday various committee chairmen will be appointed. He presented the plan for the 1951 affair to members of the association at a recent meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Coomber added that numerous valuable awards will be given to the city finalist.

This is the fifth year that such an affair has been conducted in Cumberland. The winner of the local pageant will go to the state finals. The state finalist will be named "Miss Maryland" and vie for national honors at Atlantic City, N. J., during the summer. Awards up to $25,000 in scholarships are offered each year to Miss America Pageant winners.

Two contestants from Cumberland have represented the state in Atlantic City. Miss Jean Dixon travelled to the finals in 1947. Mrs. Juanita Lookabaugh Bucy won the state competition in 1948. Mrs. Nadine Atkinson Gurley represented Cumberland at the state wide contest in 1949 and Miss Barbara Lee Fulton in 1950.



DONALD R. COOMBER

Coomber said the annual pageant offers many valuable awards and much incentive for the young ladies of Cumberland, and also serves as an excellent media of publicity for the city and state.

City To Urge Continuous Registration

Council Endorses Proposed Plan

Continuous registration, to be asked in connection with a city sponsored bill to change election dates to conform to the present fiscal year, will mean a considerable savings to the City of Cumberland.

The Mayor and Council recently voted, upon the recommendation of Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, to seek legislation providing for the change in election dates.

In connection with that legislation, it would have been necessary to also seek a change in the dates of registration. Instead, the city will seek to incorporate a plan for continuous registration.

Under the plan, applicants could register at any time with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Proof that savings under the plan would be considerable is that the cost of registration days in March, 1950, totaled $1,638.60.

The election bill would call for primary elections to be held the first Tuesday in June, general elections on the third Tuesday in June with successful candidates taking office in July.

$40,000 Damage Suit Is Filed In Court Here

Two Other Actions Placed On Docket

A $40,000 suit for damages, resulting from an automobile accident on McMullen Highway last May 8, was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

This suit was filed for Columbus Beeman by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, against William McComas Lee.

Beeman said in his declaration that the motor on his automobile stalled and the lights went out as he was driving out his driveway onto McMullen Highway. The plaintiff said he pushed the car while his wife guided the steering wheel.

The right side of the automobile was on the right edge of the highway, headed toward Cumberland, when Lee approached, driving the automobile of Durward Anderson, Radford, Va. The automobile struck Beeman, severely fracturing his leg and injuring other parts of his body, and then hit Beeman's car, according to the declaration. Beeman contends he has been permanently crippled and unable to pursue his occupation as a stone mason.

Woman Sues Father

In another suit filed in the court here, Mrs. Bertha I. Clopper seeks $5,000 damages from her father, Charles J. Iser.

Attorney Thomas N. Berry, who filed the suit for Mrs. Clopper, sets forth in the declaration that the plaintiff was violently assaulted by her father on or about January 29, kicked and painfully injured. This occurred on property on Christie Road, about a half mile east of Cumberland. Iser lives in a house there and Mrs. Clopper rents an apartment over a garage a short distance from the Iser residence.

Sues For Overtime

In a third suit filed in Allegany County Circuit Court, Bruce Shrout, through his attorney, William H. Geppert, seeks $2,500, from George and Lynch, Inc.

Shrout contends in his declaration that he worked for George and Lynch, Inc., as a concrete foreman on the flood control project in Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., from January, 1950, to December 1, 1950.

The plaintiff claims he was paid $1.65 per hour for his work. He argues that because he worked in both Maryland and West Virginia, he was employed in Interstate Commerce, and is entitled to time and one-half pay for overtime work. In at least two weeks, the plaintiff says, he worked as many as 90 hours and was paid a flat $1.65 per hour.

Woman Receives $1,000 Verdict

Mrs. Ethel Short, 930 Gay Street, was awarded a verdict of $1,000 by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court which deliberated about 45 minutes yesterday afternoon after hearing the evidence in her suit for $3,000.

The woman, through her attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., filed suit against the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

In her declaration, Mrs. Short contended that she bought a can of tomatoes from the A. & P. store on or about February 28, 1950. She added that she ate the tomatoes March 4, 1950, and became ill, charging that the can contained some harmful ingredient.

Attorneys for the defendant were Thomas B. Finan and John P Mackey.
